HOOVER CHIDES CONGRESS OVER EXTRAVAGANCE

Warns of Perils in Unbalanced Budget.

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Jan. 17.—[Special.]—In a special message to congress today President Hoover took the Democratic house sharply to task for its failure up to date to provide for the balancing of the federal budget.

Instead of reducing appropriations below budget recommendations, as the Democratic leaders claim, the house, according to the President, has actually voted a net increase of 35 millions in the five bills so far acted upon.

With the prospective revenue for the fiscal year 1934 diminished by defaults in payment of war debts, with expenditures undiminished, and no additional revenue provided for, the 1934 deficit, exclusive of debt retirement charges, will be somewhere between 920 millions and 1 billion 120 millions, Mr. Hoover predicted, instead of the 207 millions he estimated in his December budget message.

Economy and Sales Tax.

Economies and additional taxes, preferably a sales tax, are essential to a speedy balancing of the budget, the President reiterated.

In veiled language Mr. Hoover hinted at the dangers attending the present course of the federal government, which, if the budget continues indefinitely out of balance, can only lead to insolvency. With the treasury constantly borrowing to meet the constantly mounting deficit, the banks are carrying the government. They are virtually the only purchasers of the billions of dollars of treasury obligations.

How much longer the banks can or will continue to carry Uncle Sam was evidently the question in the mind of the President as he penned his message. He takes the position that there can be no recovery from the depression until industry can obtain long term loans from the banks at reasonable interest rates. But such loans are not available because the government as a colossal borrower in the money market is absorbing bank funds that otherwise would be loaned commercially.

McFadden Busy Again.

The message was read in the senate by the middle of the afternoon, but was delayed in the house by the renewed efforts of Representative Louis T. McFadden [Rep., Pa.] to procure the impeachment of the President, which again was almost unanimously voted down.

The content of the message, which was palpably aimed at the Democrats, and the comments of Democratic leaders thereon served to join the issue between the outgoing Republican and the incoming Democratic administrations on the balancing of the budget.

The President would balance the budget partly by economies which do not substantially reduce the present normal cost of the federal government and partly by the imposition of new taxes, notably a sales tax.

Mr. Byrns Comments.

At the close of the reading of the message in the house, Representative Joseph W. Byrns [Dem., Tenn.], chairman of the appropriations committee, made a reply.

"Was there anything more amazing," said Mr. Byrns, "than that the President, who has been urging economies since the Democrats came into control, should complain that maximum appropriations and economies have not been adhered to? Do we understand that he is put in the position of saying that congress should not attempt to reduce the estimates he has sent up here? That is what the message means; it can't be construed in any other way."

Directs Answer to President.

"You have been President nearly four years and secretary of commerce years before that," Mr. Byrns shouted in an imaginary address to the President. "But for more than three and one-half years you have sat in the White House totally oblivious to the necessity of consolidation of government agencies for the purpose of economy."

Representative Mapes [Rep., Mich.] interrupted to insist that Mr. Hoover as secretary of commerce, and "repeatedly" as President, has urged consolidation. He said Mr. Hoover had submitted "a dozen messages" along that line, but had been opposed by "leading members" of Mr. Byrns' party.

RICH PLAYBOY PACKED BODIES, RUTH JUDD SAYS

Insists He Told Her to Keep Silent.

Phoenix, Ariz., Jan. 17.—(AP)—Hurling accusations from the witness stand at John J. Halloran, wealthy lumberman, Winnie Ruth Judd, condemned "trunk murderess," today hinted at an intention to commit suicide.

She was the state's star witness at Halloran's preliminary hearing on a complaint charging him with being an accessory in connection with the slaying of Agnes Lerol, for which Mrs. Judd is under sentence to be hanged on Feb. 17.

Mrs. Lerol was one of the two women victims in the notorious "trunk murder case."

Undergoes Severe Grilling.

"I'm telling you the honest to God truth!" Mrs. Judd burst out after a grueling ordeal on the stand.

"I'm telling what I intend to write and take with me to God when I commit suicide."

The outburst came as Frank O. Smith of Halloran's counsel cross-examined her on her story that Halloran aided her after the killings and before the bodies were sent to Los Angeles in trunks.

Smith at the time of the outburst was questioning Mrs. Judd specifically about her testimony that "Jack took it," in connection with a mattress missing from the cottage where the women were slain.

Mattress Never Found.

Halloran is accused of "aiding and assisting" Mrs. Judd in disposing of Mrs. Lerol's body, and "aiding, assisting and advising her to conceal the slaying, and to escape from Arizona to California."

The mattress from one of the beds in the house, on which she asserted Halloran had lain the body of Miss Samuelson, after he had carried it from the kitchen to the bedroom, never has been found.

On direct testimony she had told how Halloran accompanied her back to the cottage, when she ran from the place after killing Mrs. Lerol and Hedvig Samuelson in what she now asserts was a fight in which she was attacked by them.

Tells a Different Story.

Mrs. Judd's story, as told today, differed from one she told investigators before her trial last February, in that she contended today that a fight with the other women, culminating in their deaths, took place before midnight of Oct. 16, 1931.

When she was arrested in Los Angeles, a week after the bodies had been found in trunks in the Los Angeles railway station, she said the encounter took place at breakfast time, after she had remained overnight with Mrs. Lerol and Miss Samuelson.

Her story was started after defense counsel had lost an effort to have her removed from the custody of Sheriff J. R. McFadden, who also is a witness, and to have McFadden excluded from the courtroom during her testimony.

"At 9 o'clock on the night of Oct. 16 I went to the house of my friends, Anne Lerol and Hedvig Samuelson," Mrs. Judd said.

"About 10:30 we had a fight.

Pajamas Torn and Stained.

"I was in pajamas—dotted pink and green and yellow. My bed was made down in the living room.

"After the fight I took off my pajamas. They were covered with blood and torn. I put on only a dress and shoes, and ran all the way home to 1130 East Brill street—about 11:30 I should say. My purpose was to get money to call my husband by long distance in Los Angeles.

"As I was coming out the door again, Mr. Halloran drove up—I had started out when Jack drove up. We went in the house, and I told Jack what had taken place.

"I expect Mr. Halloran is more able to tell about that than I am" she flashed, and then continued:

"I told him Anne was lying on the floor, Sammy was lying on the floor—that Sammy shot, and I shot.

"Jack said, 'What is the matter with you? Are you crazy?'"

"Jack Halloran then drug me, fairly drug me, out to the car," she continued, after sweeping aside a defense objection by declaring "I am not here for the purpose of clearing Jack Halloran!"

Calls It Terrible Fight.

"I told him," she said, "that Anne and Sammy and I had had one terrible fight. I told him Anne was shot. I told him Sammy was shot.

"I told him Anne said—," she hesitated. "I told him about the quarrel and Halloran fairly drug me out to the car, and we started for 2929 North Second street."

Shirley Kub Is Discharged by Secret Six

Mrs. Shirley Kub, former police stool pigeon, who for some months has been employed as an investigator by the Secret Six, amateur crime detecting agency, was fired yesterday by R. I. Randolph, head of the organization.

During the day Mayor Cermak, aroused over the intrusions of the Secret Six on the regular work of the city police department, had ordered the withdrawal of four city policemen from that agency's service.

Whether the mayor's action impelled the dismissal of Mrs. Kub was not explained by Randolph or Alexander Jamie, former prohibition agent, who is now operating director of the Secret Six. However, following the mayor's order, Randolph last night announced that Mrs. Kub had been "dropped from the rolls of the Secret Six during the morning."

Jamie Confirms Ouster.

Jamie was reached at his home this morning. He confirmed the dismissal of Mrs. Kub. He said that Randolph had instructed him yesterday to drop her from the Secret Six pay roll.

Mayor Cermak made it plain that his withdrawal of the policemen was over Mrs. Kub's activities.

"I'm getting tired of seeing Mrs. Kub intruding on police investigations," the mayor declared. "It's time that it is stopped. I never want to see a Chicago policeman talking to her, and I don't want to see her around the city hall."

The mayor's order was provoked by Mrs. Kub's actions after the bombing of the Jeffery tavern at 8301 South Chicago avenue on Monday morning. She appeared there shortly after the bombing and announced that she was conducting an inquiry for the Secret Six. Jamie later admitted he had assigned her to that job.

Gets Praise from Jamie.

"I sent her there because I believed her to be the best qualified investigator in Chicago," said Jamie. "For some reason the mayor objected to our investigation. Mrs. Kub did not interfere with the police and I am unable to understand the mayor's objection."

Mrs. Kub drew attention during the investigation of the police department by a special grand jury in 1931. She appeared as a witness and gave testimony based on her experience as an agent for Jack Zuta, now dead, in the operation of west side vice resorts.

Her testimony unfinished, Mrs. Kub disappeared and refused to give further testimony. She was cited for contempt of court and sentenced to jail. She made her peace with the authorities, however, and the sentence was withdrawn.

In November, 1932, Mrs. Kub's former husband, Ned Ragland, filed suit in the Circuit court. He charged that Mrs. Kub had gained an annulment of their marriage by fraud and threats of violence.

TYPICAL FARM WIFE BUSY, HAPPY, DESPITE LACK OF CONVENIENCES

St. Paul, Minn., Jan. 17.—(AP)—Mrs. Lacey Caldwell today told of her busy but happy life as the wife of the owner of a 400 acre farm near Wells, Minn. She was talking to the Minnesota Homemakers at the state university.

There are four children, a husband, his hired man, to be fed, 1,000 chickens to look after, clothes to wash, mend and iron, yet she does all her own work.

A breakfast to cook.
School lunches to pack.
Children taken to school.
Home to housework.
Chickens to attend to.
Milking equipment to be washed and sterilized.
Meat to prepare.
Dinner to get.
Washing, mending, ironing, sewing, canning, supper.

"My home has no modern conveniences," Mrs. Caldwell said. "We are comfortable and happy with oil lamps, an old fashioned heater and a kitchen pump. We always have one hired man, most of the time three, and sometimes more. I board and room them. I can meat in the winter and surplus fruit and vegetables in the summer and fall—about 800 quarts last year.

"In these days when so many women usurp men's jobs I am happy to fill a very necessary place in the life of the nation."

SPAIN SWEPT BY BLIZZARD; SNOW FRIGHTENS MANY

[Copyright: 1933: By the New York Times.]

MADRID, Jan. 17.—Madrid spent an excited day today as housemaids, frightened by something white flying three inches deep in the streets, refused to go out to buy food. Many had never seen snow before.

Lions in El Retiro, Madrid's chief park, roared mournfully, disturbing residents for blocks around as snow drifted heavily into cages not constructed for such weather.

Numerous injuries were reported as sunny Spain, from north to south, was whipped by frigid gales laden with snow. Two persons were killed, two are dying, and many were injured as an express train crashed into a sidetracked freight at Cetina, between Madrid and Barcelona. The engineer of the express failed to stop at Cetina, saying he had forgotten it existed.

Japanese Mob Destroys U. S. Machine Plant

YOKOHAMA, Jan. 18 [Wednesday].—(AP)—A mob of 200 Japanese attacked the Yokohama branch of the Singer Sewing Machine company today, destroying all the movable property in the establishment, including valuable records.

The police intervened after most of the damage was done. They carried off more than 100 rioters to the police station. American and other foreign employés of the pioneer American concern's branch escaped harm, but several Japanese guards were injured.

Carry Clubs and Knives.

W. L. Malone of New York City, a Singer company staff official, said the attack occurred at 12:30 p. m., when the foreign staff was out to lunch.

The attackers, he said, carried clubs and knives. The raid climaxed a half year's trouble between American and other foreign staff members and Japanese agents. It began with an agents strike which later developed virtually into a lockout. Several minor disorders previously had occurred at Osaka and Yokohama branches of the Singer company.

Mediation Plea Fails.

Malone himself was twice assaulted in Osaka. Two months ago 70 Japanese strikers visited the American embassy and asked American authorities to mediate in the labor difficulties.

This visit to the embassy was without result.

The Singer company developed from the invention and marketing of the first practical sewing machine in 1851 in Boston. Isaac Merritt Singer was the inventor.

There are nine factories in four different countries today which latest reports showed employed 27,000 persons. The Singer Manufacturing corporation was formed in New York in 1863 and ten years later became the New Jersey corporation under the same name.

No Comment to Make.

New York, Jan. 18.—(AP)—At the home of Sir Douglas Alexander Bart, president of the Singer Sewing Machine company, it was said early today that Sir Douglas had no comment on the attack on the Yokohama branch of the concern.

Bank to Close; Patrons Told to Take Deposits

This announcement by F. H. Kugler, president of the Harmon State bank, today resulted in two-thirds of the depositors calling for their money. Checks for the full amount of the uncalled for accounts were placed in the mails tonight.

"During the last several months the bank has been unable to make any money," Kugler said. "At a recent stockholders' meeting it was decided that this community doesn't need a bank. So we decided to close."

Horner Finds Lincoln Park Shy $400,000

Disclosures that the finances of the Lincoln park board are awry to the extent of about $400,000 were said last night to be contained in a preliminary statement which William H. Beckman, attorney for the commissioners, is to present to Gov. Horner at Springfield today.

The financial condition of the board was recently the subject of a preliminary examination made by Ald. Barnet Hodes of the 7th ward and County Assessor J. L. Jacobs, acting not in their official capacities, but as friends of the governor.

Park Funds Found Shifted.

Although only a brief summary of their findings was available, it was understood that the park board's bookkeeping forces had switched cash from fund to fund in such a manner that auditors will have difficulty in untangling the transactions. Specifically, it was reported that there is a deficit of about $365,000 in the operating funds and approximately $35,000 in incidental funds, a total of $400,000.

A large part of the troubles of the board, according to report, grew out of the board's determination to keep its credit in good condition. The board has been able to handle its bond interest and amortization in good shape, but the report of the investigators indicates that this was made possible only by the switching.

No Charges Contemplated.

No charges are contemplated that there was anything criminally wrong. The supposition is that when confronted with a necessity to pay out cash for some such purpose as pay rolls a dip was made into a pot reserved for some other purpose, or that funds allocated to the construction of a bridge might have been taken to pay operating costs. Emphasis was, of course, placed on the steady payment of labor and of bonds and interest, both necessities if the credit of the park as a corporation was to be kept high.

Resignations on Way.

Warren Wright, president of the park board, and Sheldon Clark, vice president, have already tendered their resignations to the governor. Mr. Beckman is reported to have the resignations of the other members in the portfolio he is carrying to Springfield. They are Oscar Reum, Edwin L. Read, George W. Blomgren, Thomas W. Gilmore, and George W. Dixon.

Mr. Read is auditor of the board; Louis Nettelhorst, secretary; H. Otto Weege, superintendent and general manager, and Frank M. Gordon, treasurer.

Wants New Board to Act.

It is known that Gov. Horner, since he learned through his friendly representatives of the manner in which finances were handled, has been anxious to get the resignations of the entire group so that a new board may be appointed at once and make a thorough investigation. His sole design in the matter, it was reliably reported last night, is to place the Lincoln park system on a basis of true financial solidity so that its usefulness to the people of Chicago will not be impaired.

ISLAND LEADERS OPPOSE POLICY SENATE PASSED

Veto of President Is Overridden.

[Copyright: 1933: By the New York Times.]

MANILA, Jan. 17.—Word that passage of the Philippine independence bill was inevitable was greeted here with the gloomiest silence on the one hand, or, on the other, predictions of a split in the majority party and an inevitable refusal on the part of the legislature to accept the measure.

In many minds the future seemed darker, with economic disaster held certain, and social chaos possible. Members of the insular legislature, apprehensively awaiting the final news that President Hoover's veto had been overridden, reiterated unflinching opposition to the measure as it stands.

With so many people looking upon the development as a tragic anti-climax to the thirty year independence campaign, the comment was widely heard that the act brands the American congress as actuated by selfish motives, despite "oily sentiments." The critics contend that economic interests, including the Cuban sugar lobby, were openly supporting the measure.

Prior to receipt of the news, an editorial in the Filipino Tribune, the Nationalist morning paper, praised President Hoover's suggestions as a sound basis for future discussion. The President, the newspaper declared, was manifestly correct in insisting that the plebiscite should be held at a later date.

VETO IS DEFEATED

(Pictures on Back Page)

Washington, D. C., Jan. 17.—[Special.]—A cycle in American history was concluded today when the United States senate, by a vote of 66 to 26, overrode the veto of President Hoover and gave final legislative approval to Philippine independence.

The American flag, raised over the islands in 1898, is to be lowered some time between 1943 and 1946. Whether, now that independence is in sight, the Filipinos will reject it remains a question.

The issue of anti-imperialism, the "paramount issue" on which William Jennings Bryan campaigned and was defeated in 1900, found its vindication today at the hands of senators, Republican as well as Democratic, who demanded and won withdrawal of American sovereignty from the orient.

Imperialism the Issue.

For it was the question of imperialism which was paramount today as the senators prepared for the vote which should reject the warning of President Hoover and pass an independence measure giving the Filipinos freedom following a preparatory period of ten years.

It was Senator J. Hamilton Lewis of Illinois who summed up the thoughts of his Democratic colleagues when he rose to recall the days when a Democrat was "pilloried throughout the nation as a little American."

"The United States occupies the place of danger today," he said. "It is the most imperiled of any nation in the world."

He reviewed the grievances held against the United States by Russia, China, and Japan. He predicted that British interests in the orient and the French possession of Indo-Chinese territory would make them cold to any plea for help should this country become involved in a trans-Pacific conflict.

Asiatic Monroe Doctrine.

He claimed to see the formation of an Asiatic Monroe Doctrine.

"They will not come to America," said the Illinois senator. "We did not go to Spain. We seized Cuba and the Philippines and told Spain to come and get them. While we hold the Philippines, these nations may seize them at any time and say to us, 'Come and get them'."

"I place my defense of this measure," the senator concluded, "squarely upon the defense of America."

Other senators—notably Senator Bronson Cutting, New Mexico radical, and Senator William E. Borah [Rad., Idaho]—raised the issue of the American promise of freedom for the islands.

And added to these issues was the desire of the American farmer to be protected against free imports of Philippine sugar, cocoanut oil, and cordage fiber, and the wish of representatives of the Pacific coast states to be protected from further Philippine immigration.

Without the votes impelled by these last two reasons, the demand that America get out of the Pacific, and the demand that America keep the pledge of independence voiced by many Presidents and congresses and formally written into the Jones act of 1916, would have gone begging.

Twenty Republicans, made up of eight regulars and a dozen radicals and irregulars, cast their votes against the President and in favor of the bill.

Only a single Democrat, Senator Royal S. Copeland of New York, who held that congress had no constitutional right to alienate a territory once acquired, voted against the bill. And only a single Democrat out of the total membership of the senate went unrecorded.

Criticizes Veto Message.

Criticizing the President's veto message and the four letters from Secretaries Stimson, Hurley, Chapin, and Hyde, on which it was based, Senator Cutting said that "an inaccurate streak" ran all through it. No bill could be passed, the senator remarked, that would not hurt some one. And foreign danger, he asserted, was lessened rather than enhanced.

"For under the limitations to which we agreed in the Washington treaty," the senator said, "we never could defend the islands. Every senator who has studied the situation knows that. I believe that we should withdraw from the islands completely, whether a neutrality treaty, as provided by the bill, is achieved or not. We never should have gone into the Philippine islands in the first place."

The senator held that the promise of independence was made on condition that the Philippines should create a stable civil government and that complete economic stability and military ability were not necessarily required.

Economic Test in Doubt.

"If economic stability be the test," said Senator Cutting, "no nation today, including our own, is entitled to independence.

"Some say American prestige would be harmed," he went on. "I say that American prestige will be advanced when the Orient realizes that the United States is one nation which believes in keeping solemn pledges. The grant of freedom to the Philippines will be one of the glories of American history."

Senator Borah spoke in similar strain. He explained that any independence bill must be a compromise, that if complete peace in the Orient were to be made a precedent, independence would forever be postponed.

Like Senator Cutting, he favored complete withdrawal without retention of any military or naval bases, as contemplated in the bill.

"How better revive faith in contracts and treaties," demanded the Idaho senator, "than for us to do what the world has never believed we would do. For us to grant freedom to the Philippines will be like an electric shock to the world. Here will stand the great republic, still adhering to the fundamental principles on which she was founded."

Under the terms of the measure, it first must be accepted by the Philippine legislature. An insular convention must be called and a constitution drawn and approved by the President of the United States. The constitution must be ratified by the Filipino people, this vote to be considered a plebiscite on freedom. Election will then be held and a provisional or commonwealth form of government set up for ten years.

JAPAN NOT SURPRISED

TOKIO, Jan. 18.—[Wednesday.]—(AP)—The overriding by the senate of the President's veto of the Philippine independence bill was anounced to the public today in newspaper extras.

Official comment was confined to calling the action not surprising, and to the statement that if the senate had not overridden the veto it would be only a question of months before the Democratic congress would act to free the islands.

With guarded expressions officials reiterated Japan's willingness to join a move looking to the neutralization of the Philippines. The Tokio newspaper Asahi editorially declared:

"Japan will gladly participate in the proposed neutralization of the Philippines, which would be a natural corollary of a four power Pacific treaty.

"Debate in the senate indicated the fear that Japan would invade the islands. We declare that Japan has no intention of invading the territory of others. Our sole desire is to aid in preserving peace in the orient.

"There is no greater mistake than to conclude from Japan's military actions in Manchuria that she harbors territorial designs."

HORNER TO MAKE JOSEPH J. RICE FINANCE CHIEF

Economy Survey First on His Program.

BY PARKE BROWN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Springfield, Ill., Jan. 17.—[Special.]—Gov. Horner's first cabinet appointment, one of the eleven department heads, is said to have been decided. It was reported today that Joseph J. Rice, a Chicago financial expert, soon will be named director of the department of finance.

JOSEPH J. RICE.

Mr. Rice, here last week, was in the governor's office again today. It is believed that as soon as he has familiarized himself with the work of the department, now under Garrett Deforrest Kinney of Peoria, Mr. Rice's appointment will be sent to the senate for confirmation. That appointment, like some others already announced, is said to be chiefly for making a survey of the department to make changes for economy and efficiency. Then a permanent head will be named.

Rice Valuation Expert.

Mr. Rice, recently an official of Lawrence Stern & Co. of Chicago, is a young man, and considered an outstanding expert in the valuation field. His appointment to the office of county assessor was strongly urged after the Kelly bill was passed last year.

Four appointments instead of only three, as predicted, were submitted by Gov. Horner to the senate this afternoon. Under a suspension of the rule, all four immediately were confirmed.

The new name was that of A. H. R. Atwood of Palatine, who was made assistant director of labor, filling the vacancy caused by the expiration of the term of W. B. McHenry. The others confirmed were:

DANIEL F. SULLIVAN, administrative auditor.

ERNST LIEBERMAN, superintendent of highways.

There was renewed talk today that Benjamin F. Lindheimer of the south park board may be offered the chairmanship of the Illinois commerce commission.

Atwood Rates as Specialist.

Mr. Atwood's appointment was considered of particular interest in two respects. He is a specialist in the field of employment. He will be instructed to carry out a policy of retrenchment in that branch of the state service. He is expected to be of material assistance in working out Gov. Horner's plans for the relief of idleness. He formerly was director of employment for the Western Electric company.

The economy program in the labor department starts at once. The post of superintendent of employment agencies will be eliminated by being left vacant. Unnecessary employés such as two "conciliators" will be dropped. And branch employment offices in connection with which the expense is out of proportion to the service they perform will be closed.

Work to Give Relief.

"The department of labor," said Gov. Horner, in discussing Mr. Atwood's appointment, "can and will be of great assistance in meeting the conditions that many leaders believe are destroying the fine courage our citizenship always has had. It will seek to rehabilitate that courage by substituting work for relief."

Gov. Horner supported the Illinois Emergency Relief commission vigorously when he was asked by one of the newspaper men present if he felt the amount of relief now being distributed should be reduced materially.

"Relief must meet the necessities," he said. "Some of our finest citizens have given their time freely for almost two years to the administration of relief, and it would be a poor reward for such self-sacrifice if we were even to intimate criticism of the work that is being done."

Would Save on Printing.

One other state activity that is to be subjected to a Horner survey with a view to important economies is the work of the division of printing. The resignation of Supt. H. L. Williamson has been accepted. It is reported that it will not be filled. Instead a retired Chicago business man, Charles Thompson, who served several years as president of the Chicago Athletic association, will be asked to step in temporarily as assistant superintendent. His assignment will be to study the division with a view to its being absorbed in the other activities of the department of purchases and construction, with fewer employés, lower salaries, and standardized printing.

Gov. Horner has signed the commission of Frank H. Bicek as judge of the Circuit court of Cook county, to succeed Otto Kerner, the new attorney general.

SALES TAX WINS FIRST SKIRMISH IN STATE SENATE

Sent to Second Reading Only After Battle.

BY PERCY WOOD.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Springfield, Ill., Jan. 17.—[Special.]—Proponents of a general sales tax won their first skirmish with downstate forces when the bill was introduced in the Illinois senate today, but a hot battle faces final passage of the measure.

The bill was introduced by Senator Francis J. Loughran [Dem., Chicago], who acted in behalf of Democratic leaders led by Gov. Horner. It went to second reading without reference to a committee by a standing vote of 39-11, but not before several downstate members, Republicans and Democrats alike, had expressed bitter opposition—both as to merits of the measure and the procedure of pushing it along so rapidly.

The real struggle will come next week when an open hearing will be held to determine if a 2 per cent tax on retail sales shall be levied for the purpose of providing funds for the idle.

Funds to Go to Chicago.

Chicago would spend most of the returns from the tax and it has been estimated that this or other legislation must produce about fifty million dollars during 1933. The tax would be turned back to the counties as they contributed it, and those which would not need it for charitable purposes would use it to reduce the school property taxes.

Senator Charles H. Thompson [Rep., Harrisburg] was the most vocal opponent of the tax today. His primary complaint was that the Democratic majority was attempting to force "every important measure" along without proper committee consideration. In addition, he said that in his judgment "Illinois is unalterably opposed to a sales tax." Both political parties, he added, declared for no increase in taxation in Illinois by their platforms.

Demand Open Hearing.

The leader on his side of the chamber, Senator Richard J. Barr of Joliet, argued that an open hearing was the best possible place for the bill to be considered. He likewise favored the tax itself.

An advocate of the procedure at issue but a stanch opponent of the tax was James O. Monroe [Dem., Collinsville], who thought an open hearing the proper forum for a debate upon its merits and demerits.

So a rising vote was taken after a few more remarks from both sides, and it was noted that downstate Republicans were in the majority among those opposed to advancement of the bill.

The senators then became embroiled in an argument over the bills providing for repeal of the state prohibition laws. Senator Thompson was again the principal actor.

He had barely gotten started when Senator Harold Ward [Dem., Chicago], who is handling repeal legislation for his party, brought him up short by an application of the rules. Ward was eventually successful and the bills remained on second reading, without amendments.

Labor bills were introduced in both branches of the assembly today by Representative R. G. Soderstrom [Rep., Streator]. One calls for a five day working week. The second was the familiar old age pension act.

Get L. V. L. Bulletin.

The seriousness of the tasks before them was impressed upon the assemblymen today in a bulletin issued by the Legislative Voters' league.

"Perhaps never before in the history of the state," it read in part, "have so many questions of vital importance confronted a new legislature, and never before has there been a more imperative need for disinterestedness in considering these numerous problems or for patriotic action to promote the best interests of the whole people regardless of selfishness or partisanship."

The league also made public a letter sent to Senator R. V. Graham, majority leader, advocating a reduction in the number of senate committees.

TENTATIVE SCHEDULE OF CHAIRMANSHIPS OF SENATE COMMITTEES

Springfield, Ill., Jan. 17.—[Special.]—Richey V. Graham, president pro tem of the Illinois senate, announced tonight the tentative schedule of chairmanships of committees of the upper house in the new assembly. As majority leader, Graham will head the committee. The other chairmanships scheduled follow:

Appropriations—B. M. Shaw, Lawrenceville.
Banks—W. E. C. Clifford, Champaign.
Civil service—Frank J. Hucklin Jr., Chicago.
Contingent expense—Frank McDermott, Chicago.
Municipalities—Francis J. Loughran, Chicago.
Drainage—Mark A. Penick, Quincy.
Education—Harry C. Stuttle, Litchfield.
Fish and game—Martin B. Lohmann, Pekin.
Industrial affairs—Carl Behrman, Peoria.
Insurance—Clifford J. Voxelsang, Taylorville.
Judiciary—Harold G. Ward, Chicago.
License—Patrick J. Carroll, Chicago.
Parks—Edward P. O'Grady, Chicago.
Health—James C. Mayor, La Harpe.
Utilities—George M. Maypole, Chicago.
Revenue—James O. Monroe, Collinsville.
Roads—W. L. Finn, Ipka.
Waterways—Peter P. Kielminski, Chicago.

Three chairmanships had not been filled by Senator Graham late tonight, pending a conference tomorrow morning. These were heads of the committee on agriculture, elections, and World's Fair. The number of committees was reduced from 37 to 29, and all remaining committees have been reduced in size. This conforms to a plan urged unsuccessfully by the Legislative Voters' league upon the Republican majority for several sessions.

GRAND JURORS RESTORE PEACE FOR ELMHURST

Find Campaign Attack on Horner a Forgery.

The village of Elmhurst settled back into its customary tranquillity last night. It no longer faced a threatened social schism, and in particular five of its aldermen were prepared to go about their personal and public business without the fears which had beset them since Nov. 1.

On that night a campaign roorback, attacking Gov. Henry Horner on racial and religious grounds, was distributed in the form of mimeographed circulars to thousands of "dear voters" in the village, and from that night on Elmhurst's civic equilibrium was upset.

Names Forged, Jury Reports.

But all this ended yesterday. Peace was restored. The roorback was exposed in a grand jury report to Judge John K. Newhall at Wheaton, declaring that the names of the five aldermen which appeared as sponsors were forged, and that, anyway, such stuff was bad business, because after all, Du Page county was a growing area and base appeals might thwart the true will of the people in future elections.

The jurors traced the alleged source of the roorback and discovered, they said, that the original of the mimeographed copies was stenciled on a typewriter owned by J. E. Stubbs. Mr. Stubbs is a former secretary of the defunct Elmhurst Chamber of Commerce, and is now circulation manager of the Du Page Economist, an Elmhurst paper. Mr. Stubbs was not called to testify. State's Attorney Chauncey W. Reed pointed out that Stubbs "would hardly be expected to sign an immunity waiver" for the privilege of testifying.

Vote for Small Urged.

The circular urged Protestants of Elmhurst to vote for Len Small for governor. Horner, it was stated, was dominated by Mayor Cermak, who, it continued, was under the thumb of John Delaney, a high Knight of Columbus. Mr. Delaney is the mayor's public relations counsel. The circular purported to bear the signatures of Aldermen Walter R. Youngberg, A. J. Battusch, George Mesiter, A. J. Breuhas and Max J. Slavik. All protested that their names were forged.

Elmhurst was angry. A majority vote was cast for Gov. Horner. And now the fraud is exposed.

Divorce Trial Witnesses Tell of Romances.

The toothpick as an instrument of espionage, the spying of detectives in a north side apartment hotel, and gossip gathered in half a dozen central Illinois towns all entered into the divorce testimony given yesterday before Superior Judge James J. Kelly. He is hearing the suit of Mrs. Florence Mosher, 32 years old, 1205 Sherwin avenue, against her husband, James, a scientific farmer. Mosher also seeks a divorce.

A succession of witnesses regaled the crowded courtroom with tales of alleged indiscretions committed by both Mosher and his wife. These included a clandestine romance carried on in the back seat of a sedan parked on a lonely country road and the story of a week-end spent at a Wisconsin hotel. The testimony also indicated that even the maid in the Mosher home was not free from molestation.

Operates Six Farms.

Mosher, who is 33 years old, is the owner of half a dozen farms in the vicinity of Prophetstown, Ill. These he inherited from his father, who practiced medicine there for fifty years before his death in 1930. Mosher manages his farms with knowledge gained at the agricultural schools of the state universities of Illinois and Wisconsin.

His wife, a comely brunette, is the daughter of the Rev. James Phelps, pastor of a De Kalb church. Throughout the hearing yesterday—the second of the trial—she listened calmly as detectives told what they saw while maintaining surveillance over her.

As the last witness of the day Mosher informed Judge Kelly that he wanted his wife to return to their home at Prophetstown, although he is convinced that she has had affairs with at least two men. He said that he wanted her to bring back his children, Janet, 14 years old, and Jimmie, 8 years old.

Asks Her to Return.

"I told her of the evidence which I collected for more than a year and I asked her if she would not come back home," he said. "She just laughed and refused to stop her suit."

Lewis Dannenberg, private detective whom Mosher hired to watch his wife in her hotel apartment, told of the "toothpick incident," which included a demonstration on the door to Judge Kelly's chambers. The detective testified that on the night of Dec. 23, 1932, he had kept watch on Mrs. Mosher's apartment after Virgil Eckert, 1201 Chase avenue, an insurance salesman, had entered.

Dannenberg explained that from another apartment he had watched Mrs. Mosher's door until 12:30 a. m. Tiring of this, he said, he tiptoed into the corridor and wedged a toothpick between the door and the doorjamb. To show exactly how he did it, Dannenberg tiptoed off the witness stand and inserted a toothpick in the door leading into the judge's chambers.

Returns Next Morning.

"At 7:30 in the morning I went back," the investigator continued. "The toothpick was still in the door and I found the morning paper on the doorsill. Five minutes later Eckert departed."

Humphrey W. Fall, another investigator, told of watching Mrs. Mosher while she lived at the Pratt Lane hotel, and later at her present address.

"I took my mother into the Pratt Lane hotel apartment I occupied," said Fall. "I got to know Mrs. Mosher and often spoke to her in the hallways." The detective told of a raid on Mrs. Mosher's present residence, and how he found Eckert there. The raid, he said, took place Jan. 11. With Mosher he watched Mrs. Mosher's rooms early in the evening while a card party was in progress. After the party Eckert "walked Mrs. Mosher's dog," he said, then returned and the lights went out.

"Mosher and I went to the apartment door and stood by the ventilator. We heard sounds of kissing and a man's cough," he continued.

Mrs. Mosher in Pajamas.

Half an hour later when Eckert walked out, the detectives said he pushed him back into the apartment and Mosher followed. Mrs. Mosher was in pajamas, Fall explained. "I read a subpoena calling Eckert as a witness in this case and then Mosher and I left," he concluded.

A third witness for Mosher was Gordon A. Swift, a furnace salesman of Foreston, Ill. He said he had known Mr. and Mrs. Mosher for years. On May 23, 1931, while he was in Sterling, Ill., he said, he drove past the railroad station and saw Mrs. Mosher in an automobile. She met a man who alighted from a train and drove off.

Explaining that he felt curious at seeing Mrs. Mosher without her husband, Swift said he followed her automobile. She drove to a secluded side road five miles out of town, parked her car and turned out the lights. Then, he said, Mrs. Mosher and the man who accompanied her got into the back seat of the machine.

"What were they doing there?" demanded Attorney Davis.

"Well they were doing something they shouldn't have done," he testified.

Tells of Night in Hotel.

Another witness was Lloyd A. Boyce, owner of a Clinton, Ia., monument works, who testified that in August, 1929, he and Mrs. Mosher spent a night together in the Pine Grove hotel at the Dells in Wisconsin. They had registered as "Capt. and Mrs. L. A. Boyce," he said. The hotel register was produced and Boyce identified it.

Mosher, called to the stand, said that he had learned of his wife's affair with Boyce shortly after she had filed suit in 1931. He said that he went to Boyce and told him he wanted "evidence" to induce his wife to drop her suit. When his wife persisted in suing him Mosher said he persuaded Boyce to appear as his witness.

"I believe that our differences are those of temperament, and perhaps of ambition," Mosher told the judge. "I never struck my wife; I always gave her everything she wanted. The last year we lived together she checked $12,000 out of our joint account for her own uses."

Denies Calling Him "Dearie."

At the morning session Mrs. Mosher was on the witness stand under cross-examination. She denied that she had called Eckert "dearie" or "Eckie." "I called him Virgie," she testified.

Mrs. Tillie Ridenhauer of Summerfield, Mo., a former domestic in the Moshers' Prophetstown home, was a witness for Mrs. Mosher. A pretty blonde, Mrs. Ridenhauer asserted that she had left the Moshers' home because Mosher attempted to make love to her. She said she stayed from April, 1929, until November of the same year.

Mosher was often intoxicated while he lived at the Dearborn Parkway apartments, 1504 Dearborn parkway, according to the testimony of Mrs. Minnie Felsenthal, the manager who was called by Mrs. Mosher. He "practically lived" in the apartment of Lila Grey, another resident of the hotel, Mrs. Felsenthal testified. She said he was often seen in the woman's room clad only in pajamas or in shorts. She said she forced the two to move after three months.

Judge Kelly, who is hearing the case without a jury, adjourned the trial until next Monday.

Horner's Lincoln Library Put in Executive Mansion

Springfield, Ill., Jan. 17.—[Special.]—Gov. Henry Horner's extensive Lincoln library was moved by van from Chicago to the executive mansion here today. The collection comprises more than 6,000 volumes and is the result of 20 years of collecting by its owner, an outstanding student of the Emancipator. It has been used by many authors of books on Lincoln. For the present, the collection will be shelved on the second floor of the mansion.

U. S. DRY SHOT BATTLING GANG IN STILL RAID

Hoodlum Is Captured After Fight.

A dry agent was shot and a hoodlum was captured in a gun fight early this morning when gunmen in two automobiles attacked three prohibition agents who had raided a still in a dwelling at 3339 West 66th place. The battle occurred outside the place.

The wounded agent is William L. Connors, 30 years old, of 4939 Jackson boulevard. He was struck in the left leg. Police took him to the Holy Cross hospital. The captured hoodlum refused to give his name. He is about 28 years old. He was caught by a rookie policeman after he had fallen from the running board of one of the hoodlum automobiles.

Find 150 Gallons of Alcohol.

Shortly after 8 o'clock last night Connors and two other agents, Jack Fayer and Al Wolf, raided the still. They found a recooking outfit having a capacity of 500 gallons of alcohol. They also came upon 150 gallons of the finished contraband. The agents called for a wrecking crew and about midnight George Corzine responded with a truck and dismantling apparatus.

Meanwhile the raiders waited inside the dwelling. Soon Mr. and Mrs. Charles Oakley, occupants of the home, returned. They were arrested.

Gunmen in Cars Open Fire.

Early this morning, with the agents still inside the house, Corzine walked to his truck carrying an armful of paraphernalia. Two automobiles drove by, one containing four men. They opened fire on him. Corzine ran back into the house and notified the prohibition agents.

Connors hurried outside. The hoodlums fired at him. Though one bullet struck him, Connors fired six shots at both cars and the gunmen sped away. One of the automobiles reappeared a few minutes later with a man standing on the running board. It grazed the agents' parked car and the man was knocked to the pavement. Meanwhile William Kolb, a rookie policeman, hearing the shots from his home at 3310 West 66th place, ran to the scene with his gun and seized the fallen hoodlum.

ALLEGED BOOKIE FREED.

Paul Schook, accused by police of operating a handbook at 120 West Illinois street, was discharged yesterday by Judge Leon Edelman in the Chicago avenue court when police admitted they had no search warrant when they seized Schook in the place.

"MA" FERGUSON BEGINS HER SECOND TERM AS GOVERNOR OF TEXAS

Austin, Tex., Jan. 17.—(AP)—Mrs. Miriam A. [Ma] Ferguson returned to the governorship of Texas today while ancient cannon boomed a 17 gun salute and a throng that overflowed the capitol cheered her second inauguration.

By her side was her husband and advisor, former Governor James E. [Pa] Ferguson.

Mrs. Ferguson, who served her first term as governor in 1925-'26, has been the officeholder of the family since Ferguson was impeached and removed from the governship in his second term in 1917 and thus barred from ever again holding a state office of "public trust."

Chief Justice C. M. Cureton of the state Supreme court administered the oath to Mrs. Ferguson, in which she affirmed, according to old constitutional provisions, that she had never "fought a duel with deadly weapons."

R. S. Sterling, the retiring governor, declined to take part in the inaugural. He was defeated for renomination by Mrs. Ferguson in a bitter Democratic primary election which brought an aftermath of fraud charges on both sides.

In her inaugural address she declared "reduction of taxes must come and come quickly or the government will fall and fall quickly."

Gov. Sterling's servants at the executive mansion refused to follow the custom of preparing a meal for the incoming executive, and Mrs. Ferguson and her family were forced to go to their old home for dinner.

Coal Heaver Is Killed by Physician's Auto

Matt Vitton, 45 years old, 641 West Grand avenue, a coal heaver, was killed at Milwaukee and California avenues yesterday when he was struck by the automobile of Dr. Florence S. Brosiloff, 3215 West North avenue. She was not held. Vitton's death increased the 1933 Cook county motor toll to 37.

OSCAR HEWITT MADE HEAD OF PUBLIC WORKS

The appointment of Oscar Hewitt, veteran Chicago writer on municipal affairs, as commissioner of public works was confirmed yesterday afternoon by the city council. The action was taken after Mayor Cermak announced that he had accepted with regret the resignation of Col. A. A. Sprague, who has held the office of commissioner for the last year and a half.

The submission of Mr. Hewitt's name was greeted with applause by the council members. After the confirmation Ald. John S. Clark [30th] said: "All of us know Mr. Hewitt, and I believe he will make a wonderful executive."

"Mr. Hewitt has lived in the 7th ward for many years," said Ald. Barnet Hodes [7th]. "He is loved by the people who know him. The people of Chicago are to be congratulated."

Former Deputy Commissioner.

Mr. Hewitt, a former member of the staff of THE TRIBUNE, served as deputy commissioner of public works from 1909 to 1911 during the régime of Mayor Fred Busse. He will take the oath of office today.

"I hope to do a good job," Mr. Hewitt said, "as good a job, as honestly and as conscientiously as Col. Sprague has done. He was a good public official and has been doing his part for years."

The press of private business and his duties as receiver for the Chicago Rapid Transit company and the Chicago, Aurora and Elgin Railroad company caused Col. Sprague to seek release from his duties as commissioner, Mayor Cermak said.

Sprague to Keep Zoning Post.

Col. Sprague will continue to serve the city as chairman of the zoning board of appeals, the mayor said, and will also be one of a committee of three members to supervise expenditures for the new central pumping station. The other members of the committee will be John T. Pirie and Ernest R. Graham, the mayor said. The city recently got a loan of $2,327,000 from the Reconstruction Finance corporation to build the pumping station.

In a letter to the council announcing the resignation of Col. Sprague as public works commissioner, Mayor Cermak said:

"Col. Sprague at a great personal sacrifice consented to accept this important post at the urging of myself as well as that of many business people of Chicago, who recognized his ability. Also, he came with the understanding that he would serve as long as his personal business permitted.

Praises Sprague's Régime.

"Under his administration the department of public works has been conducted in a highly efficient manner and according to the best standards of public service.

"Because of his ability he has been chosen to act as receiver for two important public utility companies. The duties connected with these posts as well as those of his private business compel him to feel that he cannot serve in his present position any longer as much as he would like to do so."

The record of Col. Sprague as commissioner of public works under Mayor Cermak and his activity in the same position during the régime of Mayor Dever were praised by the aldermen.

Council Votes to Discharge Wives From City Pay Roll

The city council took steps yesterday to remove from the city pay roll wives whose husbands are employed and replace them wherever possible with jobless persons whose earnings are needed to support themselves and their families.

By a unanimous vote the council adopted a resolution introduced by Ald. John Toman [23d] instructing the city civil service commission to make the replacements wherever such changes would not be detrimental to the city service.

This is the second time, according to city records, that the council has undertaken to discharge married women who are not the sole bread winners of their families. On Feb. 5, 1930, a similar investigation was started, which developed information, without any action being taken, that 64 married women were on the pay rolls of various city departments.

Vote Continuation Ordinance.

The council yesterday approved the annual continuation ordinance which authorizes department heads to expend on the basis of 1932 budget. The ordinance, however, contained an amendment, sponsored by Mayor Cermak, which abolishes approximately 78 civil service positions in the department of license. If these jobs are not reinstated in the 1933 budget, the annual saving will be $150,000, according to Ald. John S. Clark [30th], chairman of the council finance committee.

Several days prior to the council's action the mayor had announced his intention of transferring the activities of the license department to the police. Merchants will be given window stickers with their licenses, thus aiding the policemen walking beats to detect those places that have not complied with the license laws. The work will be in charge of Fred Fischman, superintendent of licenses, and his chief clerk, Henry Wilson.

Ordinances fixing the bond for retail beverage dealers at $2,000 and authorizing the suffixes "North," "South," "East" or "West" to be placed on new street signs were approved by the council.

The Warrant Mystery Again.

The city tax warrant mystery which arose last summer when four men were questioned by police in connection with reports that they had offered to sell $5,000,000 worth of 1930 corporate warrants that were locked in the vaults of City Treasurer Kearns was reopened by Ald. Thomas J. O'Grady. He inrtoduced a resolution, requesting the appointment of a committee to inquire into the mystery. This was referred to the judiciary committee.

"I have received several anonymous letters which charge that there was a 'rotten mess' behind the mystery," said Ald O'Grady, "and I believe the situation should be investigated and the facts given to the public."

At the request of four aldermen, B. A. Cronson [4th], Irving Schreiber [5th], John Healy [6th] and Barnet Hodes [7th], the council directed the city law office to file a petition before the Illinois commerce commission requesting a reduction in the rates on the Illinois Central suburban lines.

TAXPAYER GROUP IS BARRED FROM MEETING HALL

When more than 1,000 members of the Roseland Taxpayers' association arrived at the fieldhouse in Palmer park, 111th street and Indiana avenue, last night for their regular meeting, they found the doors closed to them and a meeting of another organization in progress. William Jansen, president of the association, directed them to the Knights of Pythias hall nearby at 11037 South Michigan avenue, where the meeting was held.

The members became indignant when told they could not meet at the fieldhouse, where they had assembled for the last year and a half. Mr. Jansen explained that he had received notice from the south park board that their permit had been revoked because of alleged inflamatory talks at the last meeting two weeks ago. The park board charged that speakers advised property owners not to pay their taxes.

Mr. Jansen denied this, explaining that members were advised not to pay taxes on unreasonable assessments. He said the association would go to court in an effort to compel the board to reissue a permit for meetings in the fieldhouse.

WOMAN DIES FROM INJURY.

Mrs. Jane Miller, 70 years old, 1343 East Eighty-ninth street, died in her home last night of an injury incurred June 12 when she fell as she alighted from a street car at Stony Island avenue and Eighty-ninth street.

U. S. ENGINEER O. K.'S DELAYS IN DIVERSION PLAN

Testifies for the Sanitary Board at Hearing.

Failure of the sanitary district to construct control works at the mouth of the Chicago river, one of the principal issues in a hearing before Special Master Edward F. McClennen in the federal building, was "tacitly approved" by the war department. This was the testimony yesterday of Col William C. Weeks, former United States district engineer in Chicago and now stationed at New York.

Six lake states, opposed to the diversion of water from Lake Michigan at Chicago, are seeking a receiver for the sanitary district on the ground that it has not acted with diligence in the construction of sewage treatment works so diversion may be cut to 1,500 cubic second feet on Dec. 31, 1938, as ordered by the Supreme court. Mr. McClennen was appointed by the Supreme court to take evidence on the petition.

Part of District's Program.

The control works, formerly a part of the sanitary district's construction program, on which $154,000,000 remains to be expended, would be designed to prevent reversal of the flow of the Chicago river in the event of storms after limiting diversion to 1,500 feet.

Questioned by Attorney Joseph B. Fleming for the sanitary district, Col. Weeks said he conferred with Horace Ramey and other engineers for the district on the subject of control works.

"I conveyed the impression to Mr. Ramey," said Col. Weeks, "that the war department was not interested in the subject of control works. It was my attitude that we could with propriety drop the subject for the time being. It was the opinion of the war department that control works would constitute an unreasonable obstruction to navigation."

Plans Never Approved.

Mr. Ramey testified that the war department demanded the construction of the control works when issuing the diversion permit of 1927, but that plans submitted in 1927 were never approved. A new permit obtained in 1929, and subsequently renewed, made no requirement for control works, he said.

Mr. Ramey testified that the war department is making a study of the diversion needs at Chicago, under the rivers and harbors act of 1930, whereby the government took over the Illinois waterway. He said a report is due Jan. 1, 1938. This is one year before the 1,500 feet diversion limit becomes effective, and it is the contention of the sanitary district and the state of Illinois that congress might take action, in the interests of navigation, that would affect the decree of the Supreme court.

THROWS OUT SUIT BROUGHT BY FOES OF VIVISECTION

Circuit Judge Hugo Friend yesterday pronounced the suit of the Illinois Anti-Vivisection society in behalf of stray dogs "too vague" to warrant a hearing. The society sought an injunction to restrain the city from giving unclaimed dogs from the city pound to medical schools for scientific purposes.

Judge Friend held with Attorney Carl Appell, representing the city, that the society had failed to set up fundamental allegations necessary to a suit in chancery.

Attorney Robert E. Ward, representing the society, was granted 10 days in which to amend his bill and include specific charges. The Anti-Vivisection society contended in the suit that the animals in the pound are public property and that giving them to private institutions is a gift of public property, contrary to law. The society also charged that the ordinance under which the dogs are given to medical schools is discriminatory, in that only certain organizations may obtain dogs.

FISHER TO RULE ON WRIT IN FAKE GEM HOLDUP CASE

Circuit Judge Harry M. Fisher yesterday announced that he would give his decision on Saturday on the evidence presented with a writ of coram nobis upon which Maurice A. Barnett, convicted ringleader in a fake jewelry robbery, is remaining out of jail. Barnett was found guilty two years ago and sentenced to one to five years in the penitentiary. The fake holdup was staged in order to get insurance money on the jewelry.

Recently the writ of coram nobis was presented and a hearing was held at which attorneys tried to show that one of the witnesses against Barnett changed his story to aid the state. Judge Fisher then took the case under advisement.

Barnett is the only one convicted in the conspiracy case who has escaped punishment. Mrs. Laura B. Price, former wife of a wealthy woodenware manufacturer, the owner of the jewels and the "victim" in the fake holdup, served a six months sentence, as did Max Krakow, a jeweler.

AVOID UGLY PIMPLES

Does a pimply face embarrass you? Get a package of Dr. Edwards Olive Tablets. The skin should begin to clear after you have taken the tablets a few nights, if you are like thousands of others.

Help cleanse the blood, bowels and liver with Dr. Edwards Olive Tablets, the successful substitute for calomel; there's no sickness or pain after taking them.

Dr. Edwards Olive Tablets do that which calomel does, and just as effectively, but their action is gentle and safe instead of severe and irritating.

Olive Tablets are a purely vegetable compound; known by their olive color.

Dr. Edwards spent years among patients afflicted with liver and bowel complaints, and Olive Tablets are the immensely effective result. Take nightly for a week. See how much better you feel and look. 15c, 30c, 60c.

FUTURE OF CORN BELT FARMERS ASSURED: SIBLEY

Urges Yield Adjusted to Domestic Basis.

BY PAUL POTTER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Urbana, Ill., Jan. 17.—[Special.]—Corn belt farmers were urged to maintain an attitude of confidence in the future of agriculture and particularly to readjust their production and marketing plans to a domestic basis by one of the largest farm owners in Illinois here today.

Harper Sibley, third generation owner or manager of 59,500 acres of farm lands, of which 13,000 are located in Ford county, Illinois, sounded this double edged program before 2,000 farmers at the annual farm and home week of the University of Illinois. He has spent two years in travel and announced today the corn belt of Illinois still held the greatest promise of success in farming.

Sibley is a member of the National Chamber of Commerce special committee on agriculture headed by Gen. R. E. Wood of Chicago. Into his discussion of the international factors affecting corn and hog prices he interjected the remark that while he believed in efforts to curtail surplus crop production, the farm relief bill now in senate committee was "beyond reason."

Corn and hog prices will recover if given time, Sibley declared. On his own Illinois farms, he said, 300,000 bushels of corn were harvested this season, a substantial part of which is being fed to hogs. By way of showing his confidence in the future commodity markets as well as his tenants, he has allowed each tenant who owed $5 an acre cash rent to deliver 10 bushels of corn; those owing $6 to deliver 12 bushels. The corn is being plied up in cribs at Sibley.

"We must be prepared for an intelligent adjustment of the supply of corn and hogs to the future demand as shown by our outlook reports," he said. "This must include a controlled and where necessary a restricted acreage breeding of hogs. Also it must include the contraction of corn acreage and the placing of the withdrawn acreage into soil building crops."

FATHER AND SON ARE ACCUSED OF $23,000 DIVERSION

Herman and Robert Wollenberger, father and son, executives of the defunct bond house which bore their names, were accused yesterday of illegally diverting to their concern $23,000 given them as trustees of several south side apartment houses and hotels. The money was lost when the bond house failed. The charges were made by auditors in the court of Superior Judge Robert E. Gentzel.

A year ago the Park Shore East and the Flamingo hotels and the Park Shore apartments, all in the Hyde Park residential district, were placed in the hands of a receiver by Judge Gentzel in foreclosure proceedings. A bondholders' committee charged that the $23,000 had disappeared and an investigation was ordered.

Auditors retained by Judge Gentzel said that examination of the books disclosed that only $15,000 was on hand out of $38,000 which should have been in the trustees' possession. Checks for the vanished money were found made out to the account of the Wollenbergers, who, it is alleged, mingled this money with their own. Judge Gentzel continued the hearing until today.

RUTH JUDD SAYS RICH PLAYBOY PUT BODIES IN TRUNK

Swears Halloran Advised Silence on Killings.

occurred, she said, "We went through the kitchen door. Jack preceded me.

"When he got to the door, he stopped.

"He said, 'My God!' He went over to Sammy."

She halted, and then screamed. "Yes, he did too! He's shaking his head at me! I don't want him to talk to me. He's talked too much about me. That's why I'm here now!"

Mrs. Judd was calmed by the court, who said he had not seen Halloran make any motion with his head. She continued:

"He said 'My God, Sammy!'"

"Sammy's chest wound was bleeding.

Lays Dead Girl on Bed.

"He looked at the chest wound, and felt her pulse. He picked her up in his arms and laid her on Anne's bed.

"His hands were bloody. He reached over and pulled down the blind with his left hand."

She related that he dialed the telephone several times for a doctor, but talked to no one.

"He came back and told me he was going to get a trunk. He went out past Anne's body on the kitchen floor, out into the garage, and pulled in a trunk. He told me not to tell any one."

Smith halted her with an objection.

"Your honor is familiar with the fact she has told many of these stories," he declared, "and has profited by them."

Pressed by defense counsel to tell what was said, she declared:

"I was talking all the time—he didn't do so much talking."

"It is very difficult for me to tell this," she said. "It is a horrible thing to go through anyway. I'm trying my best to tell it.

Police Patrol Outside.

"I told Jack a police patrol car was outside, between a mesquite bush and the house south of it. I would have gone out and told them.

"Jack had told me not to, and 'most of all, don't tell your husband—do you know what that means to me?'

"The only persons I would talk to were Jack Halloran and my husband, and unfortunately I talked to Jack Halloran.

"I would have gone out to this car. He told me 'For God's sake, don't!'"

"He dragged in a trunk, picked up Anne's body and put it in the trunk, and told me he was going to take it out on the desert.

"He looked around and told me for goodness sake to clean things up some.

One of Her Hands Shot Through.

"One of my hands was shot through. I had been beaten until my body was black and blue. I tried to push a mop with one hand, but was unable to do it, then Jack cleaned up some."

She said Halloran took her home later, again cautioning her not to tell any one, and informed her he would "take care of everything."

The next night (Saturday) when she returned to the house she said the beds were made.

"But the mattress was missing?" Smith asked.

"Yes, Jack took it."

"How do you know he did?"

"Well, he was the only one in the house with me. He put Sammy on that bed. He was the only one who had a car to take the mattress away."

"How many other persons were there that day?"

"I don't know. You'll have to ask Jack."

"Did he tell you he took that mattress?"

"I just know he took it."

A long argument ensued between defense and state counsel, but Mrs. Judd would not answer "yes" or "no" to the question, "Did he tell you he took it?"

Doesn't Recall Exact Words.

Finally she said, "I don't remember his exact words."

"Then how do you remember he took it?"

"I'm telling you the honest to God truth: I'm telling you what I intend to write and to take to God with me when I commit suicide!

"I wish that mattress would be brought in here. It would have cleared me at my trial. There were no bloodstains at the top of it. I would have shown no one was shot in bed. The bloodstains were in the center."

Cries Bah! at Attorney.

Mrs. Judd, who appeared calm when she took the stand, noticeably grew more tense and highly strung as the afternoon wore on. She twisted her handkerchief about her left hand incessantly, and nervously shrugged her shoulders when objections by counsel stopped her story.

"O, bah!" she said once, when defense counsel halted her with objections.

"I'm not here for the purpose of clearing Jack Halloran!" she faltered again, when the defense attorney objected to portions of her testimony regarding Halloran.

"He had an opportunity to clear me at my trial, but he didn't!".

Halloran Laughs at Witness.

Halloran, seated at the counsel table facing the witness chair, laughed.

Once she accused the lumberman of attempting to signal her answers to her.

"I don't want him to talk to me!" she cried. "He's talked to me too much already!"

"He said to me," she related later, "'For God's sake do you want to hang?' he bullied me that night, and now he is too big a coward to tell everything!

"When he came in this room I wanted to scream at him—the longer this case goes on, the bigger the coward he is!"

An admonition from Judge J. C. Niles, sitting as a committing magistrate in substitute for Justice of the Peace Nat T. McKee, who is ill, was required to quiet her.

Halloran watched her closely as her story unfolded, and smiled when she became vehement.

A missing ironing board from the "death cottage" delayed for a time Mrs. Judd's testimony.

Halloran's counsel had subpoenaed the household implement, which in a previous story Mrs. Judd had said Mrs. Leroi had used as a weapon in attacking her.

Ironing Board Not Produced.

Smith said he needed the board for reference in cross-examination, but it was not produced. Sheriff McFadden, called to the stand to explain its whereabouts, declared he had locked up the ironing board when he took it from the house soon after the slaying, but that it had disappeared.

"I can't understand it," he said. Smith delayed calling of other witnesses in an effort to locate it.

Mrs. Judd was clad entirely in dark blue and black, from shoes to tight fitting enameled straw turban, relieved only by three strings of white pearl beads about her throat, and her white handkerchief, which by the end of the day had been twisted into a string.

Cross-Examination Under Way.

Cross-examination by defense counsel was only well started when court was recessed for the night. Mrs. Judd is scheduled to return to the witness chair tomorrow.

During cross-examination Defense Attorney Smith attempted to carry Mrs. Judd through details of her early life.

After she had testified that she lived in Olney, Ill., the defense counsel attempted, without success, to bring into the record testimony regarding a charge she was purported to have made against a young man there.

"Did you know Frank Hull?" he demanded.

"Yes, I knew somebody I liked, by that name."

"Did you know Beulah?"

Tells of Olney Incident.

The state objected. The court asked Smith to explain his object.

"This witness lived in Olney, Ill., in 1922," the defense counsel stated, "and she met Frank Hull when she was about 17 years old, and was keeping company with him. He became interested in a girl named Beulah. She proceeded to say to Frank Hull, 'If you don't stop going with Beulah, I will charge you with attacking me.' He laughed at her.

"This questioning is for the purpose of showing this woman filed a false charge against Frank Hull——"

"I did not!" Mrs. Judd interjected.

"——and we have evidence to prove it." Smith continued. "It also is for the purpose of showing this witness makes false statements under oath."

Judge Halts Questioning.

Smith reviewed the Olney situation as it had been presented by depositions and testimony at Mrs. Judd's trial—that she disappeared and was found some distance from home, partly unclad.

"I was not!" Mrs. Judd snapped. "He's lying!"

Judge Niles sustained the state's objection to the questioning going further.

Under further interrogation Mrs. Judd said she had suffered from tuberculosis. Halloran's counsel asked if she suffered from any other physical disabilities.

"They say I have a gland in my brain which is growing," she said.

"Thyroid gland?"

"No, endocrine gland."

"Do you think that is true?"

"I know now it is true."

Smith attempted to question her further.

"I don't know what this is," she burst out, "a physical examination or what! I don't like to sit up here and tell everything that is wrong with me!"

The hearing was then adjourned until tomorrow.

Mr. Skidmore Skids Into a Mail Robbery Mystery

William Skidmore, for years a prominent figure in the Chicago underworld, where his ability to arrange bail bonds and put in political fixes has made him a power, refused yesterday to accept a package mailed to him from Minneapolis. He feared, he said, that it contained a bomb.

Postal inspectors, not so fearful of being blown up, opened the package and out tumbled $22,598 in bonds and $800 in currency. The bonds were identified as part of the loot taken in the robbery of a mail car in Minneapolis on Jan. 3.

Inspectors Quiz Skidmore.

Skidmore was called to the federal building for questioning. He told Chief Postal Inspector K. P. Aldrich that he had received from a friend in Milwaukee a telegram warning him not to accept a package that was being sent to him.

"So when this came to my office at the Lawndale Scrap Iron and Metal company, 2640 South Kedzie avenue, I thought that was the package I had been warned about," Skidmore said. "I didn't know anybody, so far as I could remember, in Minneapolis, so I let the postoffice keep it."

His Story Is Accepted.

The telegram from Milwaukee, Skidmore added, was signed "A Friend." His story was accepted by the inspectors and he was released.

The robbery occurred in a railroad station in Minneapolis. Several men with a machine gun entered the car and forced the crew to hand over five sacks of registered mail. The total loot, it was announced, was $24,000 in bonds and $10,000 cash.

Skidmore was formerly a west side saloonkeeper. He was active in politics twenty years ago and was tried with Chief of Police Healey in 1912 on charges of collecting graft from vice resorts. He was acquitted, however. In recent years he has been known as the head of a gambling syndicate.

BRIDE ARRESTED FOR DEATH OF HER SERENADER

Marion, Ill., Jan. 17.—(AP)—Mrs. Harry Byers, 37, of Herrin, whose wedding night was marked by tragedy when Robert Prather was killed during a charivari, was being held tonight for murder on the order of State's Attorney Charles Murray.

Prather was killed by a brick allegedly thrown by John Wilson, who also was ordered held for murder. Murray said testimony was given at the coroner's inquest that Mrs. Byers handed the brick to Wilson.

Prather was a member of a charivari party that went to the home of Mrs. Byers and her husband in Herrin last night to "serenade" the newly married couple. All members of the party and the newlyweds were brought here and spent last night in jail.

French Offer Walker Job of Wine Export "Czar"

[Copyright: 1933: By the New York Times.]

PARIS, Jan. 17.—Former Mayor James J. Walker of New York received an offer today that would permit him to become a "czar" for French wine exports to the United States. A group of French wine syndicates proposed that Mr. Walker take complete charge of French liquor exports to America if and when the American laws permit. He would become dictator of the quality and quantity of wines shipped to the United States. It is understood the salary offered is about $40,000 a year.

SUES WILLYS, AUTO MAKER, FOR MILLION

Converted Money to Own Use, Woman Says.

New York, Jan. 17.—[Special.]—A suit charging that John N. Willys, automobile manufacturer and former American ambassador to Poland, converted to his own uses $1,000,000 in cash and securities in a brokerage account over which he is alleged to have had power of attorney, was filed in Supreme court today. Charles B. Mertz, Mr. Willy's secretary, is named as co-defendant.

The suit was brought by Mrs. Violet A. Wall of San Francisco, as administratrix of the estate of Miss Carolyn Armstrong, her sister. Mrs. Wall's attorney is Charles Franklin. Mr. Franklin also filed a second suit against Mr. Willys, on behalf of Mrs. Wall, alleging that he had failed to repay $250,000 he borrowed from Miss Armstrong.

Attorneys for Mr. Willys said that the suits were based on completely false premises. A general denial of the charges will be filed within the 20 days allowed by law, they declared, and the answer will deny that Mr. Willys held a power of attorney over the brokerage account or that he borrowed $250,000 from Miss Armstrong.

Claim Money Unpaid.

The complaint in the first suit alleges that Mr. Willys and Mr. Mertz had a power of attorney from Miss Armstrong over her brokerage account with the firm of Shippee & Rawson. It adds that in April, 1930, the account contained a credit balance of not less than $1,000,000 in cash and securities. This balance, it asserts, the defendants withdrew and converted to their own use.

The complaint in the second suit says that Mr. Willys borrowed $250,000 from Miss Armstrong between Jan. 1, 1930, and July 1, 1930, promising to repay it on or before July 1, 1932. The money is still unpaid, it declares.

TEACHER WHO SLEW WIFE AS "SLOVENLY" TO DIE ON FEB. 24

Marshall, Ill., Jan. 17.—[Special.]—Hubert C. Moor, Robinson High school teacher, was sentenced to die in the electric chair at Chester, Feb. 24, for the murder of his wife, Marjorie, "because she was a slovenly housekeeper and left dirty dishes in the sink."

Judge Charles E. Shuey of Charleston, pronounced the sentence, denying motion for a new trial made by chief defense counsel, Albert Isley, on the ground that the evidence presented prooved Moor was of unsound mind at the time of the slaying. Isley indicated that an appeal to the Supreme court would be made.

BRUNKER KEEPS CHILDREN TILL THEY GET WELL

Custody of the two small children of Albert R. Brunker of Lake Forest and his former wife, Mrs. Margaret Gaylord Ruppel of Pasadena, Cal., remains with the former at least until next Monday by virtue of the report of a child specialist appointed by Judge Charles A. Williams to examine them. The physician, Dr. Robert Black, announced that Barbara, 7 years old, and Robert, 5, have not sufficiently recovered from attacks of influenza to travel. Dr. Black's report was submitted yesterday in court. Mrs. Ruppel, who came to Chicago to get her children when the period of custody provided by her divorce decree arrived, found her former husband determined not to relinquish them for the trip to California on the ground that they were ill.

AURORA'S MAYOR AND ALDERMEN SLASH OWN PAY

Mayor Conrad Bjorseth and the four commissioners making up the Aurora city council yesterday reduced their salaries nearly one-third.

Other city employés received sharp reductions and the personnel was cut 25 per cent. Twelve policemen and ten firemen were discharged in order to cut the budget to meet the anticipated revenues. The city income fell through a reduction of 20 per cent in real estate valuation, ordered by the Kane county board of review, and a collection of only 84 per cent of the taxes due last year.

Hitherto the mayor has been paid $4,000 a year and the commissioners $3,500. Under the new arrangement they will receive $2,700 and $2,400, respectively.

26 STATES PASS AMENDMENT TO END LAME DUCKS

Washington, D. C., Jan. 17.—(AP)—Twenty-six states, only ten less than the required number, have completed ratification of the "lame duck" constitutional amendment changing the terms of the President and members of congress.

As soon as thirty-six states have ratified the amendment and certifications have been deposited with the secretary of state here, it will be proclaimed part of the constitution, to become effective on Oct. 15 following such proclamation.

Legislatures now are meeting in sufficient states to complete the ratification. States which have ratified are: Virginia, New York, Mississippi, Arkansas, Kentucky, New Jersey, South Carolina, Michigan, Maine, Rhode Island, Illinois, Louisiana, West Virginia, Pennsylvania, Indiana, Texas, Alabama, North Carolina, California, Oklahoma, North Dakota, Minnesota, Montana, Arizona, Oregon, and Kansas.

Passes in Nebraska.

Lincoln, Neb., Jan. 17.—(AP)—Both houses of the Nebraska legislature have approved the Norris lame duck amendment to the constitution and the action awaits only the signature of Gov. Charles W. Bryan, who is ill.

JERSEY KILLER HIDES HIS CRIME IN WEB OF CLEWS

Victim Young Philadelphia Business Man.

Palmyra, N. J., Jan. 17.—[Special.]—A ghostlike killer, so cautious that he wore gloves to hide his fingerprints, so adroit that he almost camouflaged a murder as a suicide, was traced over a cold trail tonight. The victim was Bradway Brown, young Philadelphia business man and a member of one of the foremost families of southern New Jersey.

Twenty-four hours after the 28 year old social leader was found dead in his locked and brightly lit home, with two bullet holes in his chest and his clothing covered with mud, detectives had unearthed only these puzzling clews:

1. A crumpled and mud covered hat which did not belong to the dead man. It was found in the driveway just outside the two car detached garage in which Brown is believed to have been shot before being dragged into the house. The ground near the spot showed evidence of a struggle.

Breaks Appointment.

2. A broken appointment which Brown had made with his mother, Mrs. Charles T. Brown, who lives in nearby Moorestown. He telephoned her from his office at 5:20 that he would be delayed on business. At 6 o'clock—20 minutes after he had left the office—he phoned her that he would be unable to keep their dinner engagement.

3. The lack of fingerprints on the .32 caliber revolver with which Brown was shot. Although it was found beside his body in the house, its barrel was clogged with mud. Whoever used it, detectives believed, took the precaution to wear gloves.

4. A bloody mark on the door near which the body was found, located on a panel about five feet above the floor. It appeared to be the imprint of the heel of a hand.

5. A bullet hole through the top of a compartment in a motorboat which rested on saw horses in the garage. It could only have been made by a bullet fired from above—perhaps by some one standing on the running board of the automobile which had been parked beside it.

Empty Gin Bottles.

6. Three freshly emptied gin bottles found on the floor of the boat, which had been in storage for three months.

7. A statement attributed to Mrs. E. S. H. McCauley of Beaver, Pa., former state secretary of welfare in Pennsylvania and mother-in-law of the dead man, that his murder was caused by "nothing recent in Bradway's life. It was something much older than that."

Other baffling details piled up to becloud the death of the young Swarthmore graduate, who had been one of the chief witnesses two and a half years ago when Ruth Owdray Wilson, said to have been his former fiancée, was found slain on a bed in her banker-father's mansion beside the bullet riddled body of Horace Roberts Jr., one of Brown's classmates.

Although a coroner's inquest showed that Brown's death resulted from hemorrhage, not a drop of blood was found in the garage, on the path leading to the house, or on the living room carpet where his body lay.

Bullets Add to Puzzle.

Equally puzzling was the location of the bullets—four of which had been fired from the revolver.

One of them, according to Dr. Daniel F. Remer, chief surgeon at the four hour autopsy, entered Brown's left side between the sixth and eighth ribs and punctured his liver.

A third, fired at such close range that it burned the cloth, appeared to have gone through his overcoat near the third button, but did not enter the body.

The fourth—providing it was not the one which also pierced his coat—may have been the one which splintered the boat compartment.

Suicide Impossible.

The possibility of suicide—an early theory in the case—was brushed aside by Dr. Remer.

It would have been physically impossible, Dr. Remer said.

Brown's wife, the former Ruth McCauley, who had left home Sunday night to visit her mother in Beaver, said he had possessed a gun, although no record of a permit could be found.

Arriving in Palmyra early this morning, she went at once to her mother-in-law's home without viewing her husband's body.

"I know of no possible reason why Brad should have been murdered," she said. "As far as I know he didn't have a single enemy.

COP INDICTED AS ATTACKER OF WOMAN OF 52

Defendant Accused in Court by Victim.

CRIMINAL COURT.

Two true bills charging attempt to rape and assault to commit murder were reported to have been voted yesterday by the grand jury against Policeman Fred Cordes, 6811 Altgeld street, accused of assaulting Mrs. Olive Hanley, 52 years old, 3534 North Ottawa street, on Sunday in front of her home.

The grand jury action came within an hour after the arraignment of Cordes before Judge Donald S. McKinlay in the Felony court, who set the policeman's bond at $25,000. "This case is comparable to cold blooded murder," said the judge. The grand jury set bond of $20,000 on each of the two charges, this ball replacing the amount fixed by Judge McKinlay.

Cordes, who is 35 years old and the father of three children, was accompanied to court by his wife.

Evidence Accuses Policeman.

Mrs. Hanley, her head bandaged, told the judge she had bitten the finger of the left hand of her attacker. Cordes was asked to raise his left hand. The little finger was bruised and swollen. Police of the Irving Park station then testified that a missing piece from the handle of Cordes' revolver had been found at the scene of the attack.

Mrs. Hanley was struck twice on the back of the head by her assailant. At a showup held in the Irving Park police station after Cordes' arrest she pointed him out in a group of uniformed policemen. Cordes was seized after a policeman's cap, found near the scene of the attack, had been traced to him through the number on the shield.

Car Stolen, His Plea.

Cordes' statement to Capt. Willard Malone of the Irving Park station was that his car had been stolen and that his uniform cap was in it at the time. Capt. Malone said that Cordes had not reported the theft of the car to the police.

Judge McKinlay denied a defense motion for a continuance. Cordes has been suspended from the police force.

HELD AS PANDERS

Anthony Theris, alias Dolan, alias Farmakie, and his wife, Bernadine, were arrested last night on warrants charging them with pandering, and were held for further identification by Grace Gagliano, 22 years old, of 9526 Avenue M, who obtained the complaints in behalf of her sister, Antoinette, 18. The arrest was made by Sergt. Thomas Harrison, on clews worked up by Sergts. Fred Sacks and John McCarthy, of Hudson avenue.

It is alleged that Theris inserted a want ad in THE TRIBUNE a month ago, seeking a domestic. Antoinette got the job. According to her sister, Antoinette was forced to associate with men in the Theris apartment, then at 334 West North avenue. Her experiences have resulted in Antoinette's confinement at Dunning.

COOPER RESIGNS U. S. STOCK MARKET QUIZ JOB; BLAMES NORBECK

New York, Jan. 17.—[Special.]—Irving Ben Cooper announced tonight that he had resigned as counsel to the United States senate's subcommittee on banking currency, investigating stock market practices, because Senator Peter G. Norbeck of North Dakota, chairman of the committee, had refused to give him the "free hand" he had been promised when he accepted the appointment last Wednesday.

Mr. Cooper, who was one of Samuel Seabury's most trusted assistants in the New York City graft investigation, spoke bitterly of Senator Norbeck's attitude.

Mr. Cooper, who had already organized a staff of seven assistants and had established headquarters for the stock market investigation, declared that Senator Norbeck had desired to station a representative of his own, who was not even a member of the bar, in the office to direct the inquiry.

Asserting that this man, whose name he withheld, was to have been empowered to "determine not only as to the matters which I was to present to the committee but those which I was to refrain from investigating," Mr. Cooper declared in his letter of resignation that in the circumstances he did not believe the investigation would be "calculated to elicit the facts which should be disclosed."

The resignation was presented to Senator Norbeck in Washington tonight by Mr. Cooper's law clerk, J. Victor Nerwitz.

Irvin Rooks Is Elected Iroquois Club President

Irvin Rooks was chosen president of the Iroquois club yesterday at the organization's annual election, held in the Morrison hotel. The club, formed by Chicago Democrats, has had a continuous existence of more than 50 years. James F. Bishop, Irwin M. Howe, and Edward J. Walsh were elected vice presidents; Joseph Burke, secretary; and Arthur J. J. Welsh, treasurer.

BOOK FOR CHURCH ANSWERS YOUTH'S MORAL QUESTIONS

A new "youth problem" handbook for use in Congregational church schools was recommended yesterday by Dr. Herbert W. Gates of Boston, general secretary for religious education of the Congregational-Christian churches. He spoke before the annual national executive conference of the united denomination in Evanston.

The handbook tells how questions of boys and girls may be answered. Among the questions asked by youths which the new handbook answers are:

"How should men carry on with women?"

"Why is it that the prettiest girls are always the kind who expect to be petted?"

"Why is it that a boy likes to go places and do things that his folks would not approve if they knew it?"

Girls' questions and suggested answers also are quoted in the handbook.

"What is the best way to entertain a boy when you are alone with him?"

"What can a girl do when she is out with a boy in a car and he stops along the road and turns off the lights."

The handbook, which was prepared by the Rev. Dr. Benjamin S. Winchester, was highly praised by Dr. Gates, who said that parents and teachers are likely to be ignorant of the problems puzzling young people.

Both cases before Judge H. P. O'Connell. Reinhold Wilsner, Homer Cline and Andrew Vincent, held to the grand jury for auto larceny. All before Judge John Gutknecht.

MORE WITNESSES TELL OF CURES BY 'AETHERONICS'

No matter how distant the patient, how acute the pain, or what the diagnosis of other doctors showed, Dr. Dorr E. Wood and his science of "aetheronics" were equal to the test, a steady stream of witnesses asserted yesterday, the second day of his defense before the medical committee of the state department of registration and education in the London Guarantee building. The committee is hearing evidence on a charge that Dr. Wood is practicing medicine under false pretenses.

Rheumatism or a nervous breakdown, arthritis or infected teeth, a fractured skull or glandular diseases were cured with equal dispatch by the healing waves sent out from Dr. Wood's machine, the witnesses testified. All he had to do, they said, was to write the name of a patient on a piece of paper, roll it up, and pop it into the "transmitter," whereupon an improvement was noted, sometimes promptly, sometimes within a couple of days.

Dentist Investigates It.

None of the patients who followed each other on the witness stand professed to understand what the nature of these treatments was.

One witness, however, Dr. John D. Leach, a dentist, said he had made some study of the subject and had even used it in place of an anaesthetic when he extracted seven teeth from one woman patient. In this instance, he testified, all he did was to telephone Dr. Wood the name of the patient and the hour of the operation.

"What did the patient have to say when it was over?" Dr. Leach was asked.

"All I could get from her was that 'it didn't hurt,'" he said.

He first became interested in the strange equipment used by Dr. Wood, Leach testified, at a convention three years ago in the Morrison hotel, where it was exhibited. A physician assured him it was "a lot of hooey," he related, but he retorted, "O, yeah? I'm going to look into this." He did, later appealing to Wood for relief from headaches, which he gained by the "aetheronics" process, he said.

"Ailment in Back Relieved."

The Rev. Cyril Kita of St. Bronislav church, 8708 Colfax avenue, told of being greatly helped by treatments sent out on the air from Wood's machine, which most of the witnesses vaguely compared with a radio broadcasting set. He said he had a stiffness in his back and got relief.

Mrs. Francis N. Brown, 1703 West 80th street, asserted that the man in whose home she lives had telephoned Dr. Wood to treat his mother in Missouri. A letter within a few days from the mother, Mrs. Brown testified informed her son that she had noticed a tremendous improvement at the same hour the treatment supposedly was given. Mrs. Brown credited Dr. Wood with having cured her of a nervous breakdown.

Mrs. Ethel Van Buskirk, 4571 Lake Park avenue, told of having Dr. Wood give his treatment to her infant nephew in Tawas City, Mich., two years ago by remote control. A complete cure was effected, she declared. The baby's ailment had been diagnosed as a glandular trouble and colitis, she said.

The hearing was continued to Jan. 27.

Gives Lake Geneva Estate to University of Chicago

Mrs. Frances Kinsley Hutchinson has given her 73 acre estate, Wychwood, at Lake Geneva, Wis., to the University of Chicago for the university's botanical work, it was announced yesterday. She has also given her home and a substantial endowment fund. Mrs. Hutchinson is the widow of Charles L. Hutchinson, banker and former president of the Chicago Art institute, who died in 1924.

MRS. FRANCES HUTCHINSON.

Wychwood is considered to be one of the most beautiful of the natural scenic spots in the southern Wisconsin lake region. It has been maintained since 1901, when it was created, with the least possible disturbance to natural conditions, as a plant and bird sanctuary. It is said to appear much the same as it was a century ago.

Aid to Experiments.

University officials predicted that the estate would be immeasurably helpful in botanical experiments. It will make an excellent field laboratory, supplementing the university's own facilities, said Dr. Ezra Kraus, secretary of the botany department.

Dr. Kraus pointed out that Mr. and Mrs. Hutchinson in founding Wychwood, sought to preserve the natural beauty of an isolated wilderness of native flowers and plants. In this they succeeded, he said. It became a spot famed among scientists, botanists, nature lovers, and horticultural experimenters, he said.

Suited to Many Plants.

"Wychwood is ideally adapted for ecological studies," declared Dr. Kraus. "It affords wide variation in topography and soil type. The lake shore and low lying land bordering it provide chance for studying other problems, and the fertile gardens and green houses are well suited for growing a great variety of plants. As in the past, species now rapidly disappearing from the wild in southeastern Wisconsin will be brought in and preserved."

Mrs. Hutchinson will remain as director of Wychwood, and George F. Morse will be associate director. The fellows appointed under the endowment fund will be free to devote their entire time to study of the estate. Mrs. Hutchinson is now in Paris. Her Chicago home is at 2450 Lakeview avenue.

"CUSTOMER" ROBS BUTCHER.

After ordering a ham yesterday in the butcher shop of Daniel Robin at 4176 Archer avenue, a "customer" said, "Never mind, I guess I'll take home the bacon instead." He then drew a revolver and looted the shop safe of $310.

DAKOTA AIRS BILL TO HAVE 39 STATES SECEDE

Bismarck, N. D., Jan. 17.—(AP)—Whether a resolution recommending 39 states secede from the Union, introduced in the North Dakota senate by Senator W. E. Martin, should be published in the Journal precipitated a debate late today.

The motion to publish the resolution carried 28 to 20. Numerous senators declared they were merely voting for publication of the proposal and not on its merits.

The resolution, introduced Monday, "recommends" 39 states secede, leaving the group of eastern states to form a separate country. The resolution says the 39 states would "carry with us the star spangled banner and leaving them (the eastern states) the stripes which they so richly deserve."

In the debate Senator James P. Cain said he could not believe "that members of this legislative body want to say to the patriotic citizens of this state and nation that they want to publish a resolution that borders on treason and sedition."

Home of Rudy Valentino's Widow Is Burglarized

PALMA, Mallorca, Jan. 17.—(AP)—Thieves today entered and ransacked the home of Natacha Rambova, former wife of the late Rudolph Valentino. They stole a revolver but did not touch some jewels. Authorities investigated on the theory that the thieves sought some papers. Miss Rambova would not comment.

PRICE and VALUE are two different things. The price tag doesn't always designate a bargain or indicate what the ultimate cost is going to be.

This is particularly true with coal. The price of coal is based upon the weight, the value is determined by the amount of heat the fuel contains—in other words, the quality. It is a waste of money to buy cheap coal. Actual tests show that there is a variation of from seventy-five cents to a dollar per ton between high and low quality coal from the same field.

Thousands of satisfied users will tell you that Consumers Coal is uniformly good coal. It comes from the best mines in each field, is bought by careful laboratory analyses, and sold to you with an absolute guarantee of high quality, honest weight and customer satisfaction.

SENATORS SEEK TO CLOSE AIR TO HUEY LONG'S ACT

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Jan. 17.—[Special.]—Senator Carter Glass, diminutive and sarcastic author of the Glass banking bill, today again trained his oratorical guns on Senator Huey P. Long, the Louisiana radical and self-styled "Kingfish."

Taking exception to remarks by the "Kingfish" implicating that the Glass measure had been railroaded onto the senate floor, the Virginia senator asserted the implication was "as false as any ever uttered by any human lips." A second later he followed this with asserting that Long's attack on the bill during the Louisianian's current filibuster was made up of "oratorical rubbish and misrepresentations."

An Anonymous Letter.

Then the Virginian capped his outburst by attacking the label "falsehood" to a charge carried in an anonymous letter inserted in the Record by Senator Long to the effect that the Glass bill would permit the use of worthless foreign securities as a basis for note issues. He also implied that the "Kingfish," whose antics during the last week have tied the Glass bill into knots, was hardly "respectable."

"There is not a respectable senator here," he said, "who does not know that that is a falsehood, said to have been initiated by an alleged Virginian in a letter to a member of this body. Well, Virginia was never partial to wanton falsifiers, and if his name had not been withheld it might be that we might more readily discover whether he had any other semblance of character.

"Everybody who heard the only address I made in the political campaign over the radio knows that that statement is a wanton falsehood. O, there may be casuists so skilled in refinement as that they may be able to discover the difference in culpability of a man who originates a lie and that of the person who disseminates it, but it is a definition that gentlemen scorn and that never appeals to an upright or honorable man. The whole purpose of it was to pass either opprobium upon me or upon this banking measure.

Not a Personal Question.

"Well, I am content. Whenever I cease to have at least the respect, if not the esteem and affection of my associates in this body, I shall want to retire and I am not much concerned about suggestion of that description from that source.

"This is not a personal question; this is not a party question; this is a grave problem concerning all Americans, involving the credit of every man whether it be established on his character alone or the security that he may be able to give. I have been amazed and distressed at suggestions here that would plot anarchy, that would approve violence in contractural relationships that would destroy the credit of every man and woman in this country if the policy prevails."

Petition for Cloture.

In an effort to silence Senator Long's filibuster against the Glass banking bill, the Democratic leaders took the extreme step of filing a petition for cloture. It was signed by 22 Democratic senators. If the cloture move is successful the filibuster would be broken up and debate would be limited to one hour per senator upon the bill or an amendment to the bill.

The aroused attitude of the senate against the tactics displayed by the Louisiana senator in tying up senate business, also was demonstrated through the filing of three amendments to change the senate rules. These revisions would be designed to put down any further stampede by Senator Long, should he continue his lengthy debate on other measures. The changes envisage amendment of the rules so that cloture may be imposed by the majority instead of requiring a two thirds vote as at present.

HOOVER MESSAGE PROTESTING EXTRAVAGANCE

Washington, D. C., Jan. 17.—[Special.]—Here is the text of President Hoover's special message to congress again calling for action toward effecting economies and balancing the budget.

"In my budget message of Dec. 5 I laid before the congress the financial situation of the government together with proposals for the next fiscal year.

"It was pointed out that due to decreasing revenues and despite the efforts of the congress and the administration we were again faced with a deficit during the next fiscal year. I urged upon the congress the necessity for further drastic reduction in expenditures and increase in revenues.

"I now approach the congress again upon this subject, knowing that the members are fully possessed of the complete necessity of a balanced budget as the foundation of economic recovery and to urge that action should be taken during the present session to bring this about.

Must Restore Confidence.

"The great problem before the world today is a restoration and maintenance of confidence. I need scarcely repeat that the maintenance of confidence in the financial stability of the United States government is the first contribution to all financial stability within our borders, and in fact in the world as a whole. Upon that confidence rests the credit of the states, the municipalities, all our financial institutions and industry—it is the oasis of recovered employment and agriculture.

"The increases in revenues enacted at the last session have not had the results hoped for because of continued economic stagnation. The income of the government for the next fiscal year nominally estimated at $2,950,000,000 is likely to fall short under present world conditions by anywhere from $100,000,000 to $300,000,000.

"Expenditures [and I speak in terms of expenditures rather than appropriations] because of the confusion caused by carryover of appropriations for the present fiscal year, including postoffice deficit but excluding debt redemption, are estimated at about $3,771,000,000. If expenditures are continued during the next fiscal year at the present rate there would thus be a deficit of from $920,000,000 to $1,120,000,000 in the next fiscal year exclusive of sinking fund charges.

Reduce Expenditures First.

"Obviously the first necessity of a nation with decreasing income is reduction in expenditures. My message of Dec. 5, as supplemented, recommended very large specific reductions of appropriations and economies for the next fiscal year. These proposals [including the effect of previous appropriations and obligations] would reflect an expenditure next year excluding debt redemption but including postoffice deficit of about $3,233,000,000, a decrease as compared to the current year of about $538,000,000.

"Assuming that these economies and reductions of appropriations will be adopted, on this basis of calculation there would still be a deficit, exclusive of debt redemption, of about $400,000,000 to $600,000,000. Certainly with the general economic outlook in respect to income and the legislative outlook in respect to recommended economies the latter figure is the most likely of realization.

"The first essential is that the maximum appropriations and economies set out in the budget message as supplemented should be adhered to. The second is that there should be no new authorizations or appropriations brought forward. The third is that even the appropriations recommended should be reduced at every point the congress is able to find an avenue therefor.

"So far as appropriation bills as dealt with by the house of representatives or the committees thereof the results have been disappointing. Maximum appropriations for the different departments which were recommended in the executive budget have not been adhered to.

"My executive orders to consolidate some 58 government functions into a few divisions with resulting economies appear likely of refusal by the congress with resultant continuing waste. I regret to say that the same forces are at work which thwarted the savings of several hundred millions we sought to effect at the last session of congress. We are during the current year and even in the next fiscal year suffering from that failure.

"In the five departmental bills dealt with by the house or by the committees thereof at this session a total of appropriations were recommended by the executive which would result in an expenditure [exclusive of debt redemptions] of $2,263,000,000, being a decrease of expenditures in these departments of $264,400,000 under the present fiscal year.

"Some items in these bills have been genuinely decreased by action of the committees or the votes of the house. Others have been increased. Still others have been given the appearance of reduction, but in reality must be restored during the next fiscal year by deficiency bills.

Analysis of Items.

"The items in which there have been genuine decreases in these appropriations aggregate about $23,500,000. [But of this $10,000,000 is reduction in the public buildings for which commitments have been authorized.]

"Items have been decreased which will in all probability be required through deficiency bills amounting to approximately $41,400,000.

"Items have been increased amounting to approximately $58,200,000.

"There is thus produced an appearance of slightly greater saving than recommended in the executive budget, but in reality an actual increase by over $35,000,000. If the congress would accept the cuts recommended in the executive budget and also the genuine cuts made by the house committee on appropriations or as passed by the house it would represent a real decrease in government expenses over those in the budget in respect to these bills of some $23,500,000.

"There are yet remaining to be reported appropriation bills in which reductions have been recommended by the executive which would secure reductions on those agencies of $249,000,000 less than those of the current year.

Realizes Pressure on Congress.

"In consideration of reductions I realize the pressures upon the congress. I also recognize many organizations advocating economy do not fully understand the limitations under which the congress works in reduction of expenditures. In order to clarify this I may classify the government expenditures proposed for the next fiscal year into six groups [excluding debt redemption, but including postoffice deficit].

"1. Interest on the public debt, which cannot be reduced, $725,000,000.

"2. Trust funds, tax refunds, District of Columbia budget, contributions to civil service pensions, postoffice subsidies to air and foreign mail which are represented by fixed obligations and other similar items on which there is no opportunity to reduce, $310,900,000.

"3. Public works and their maintenance [excluding military, naval and veterans' bureau construction, which are in the following items] has been reduced practically to commitments and contracts outstanding, $305,000,000.

"4. Expenditures on military establishments, $612,700,000.

"5. Expenditures on veterans have been reduced in the executive proposals by $121,000,000, $318,400,000.

"6. All other expenditures of the government, including the legislative, the judiciary, law enforcement, prisons, foreign affairs, fiscal and tax service, public health, education, forests, fisheries, aids to agriculture, labor, commerce, safety of life at sea, inspection of food products and a multitude of vital services, including the postoffice as represented by the remaining deficiency, and all other independent establishments except the veterans' bureau, $461,000,000.

"Total, $3,233,000,000.

Says More Revenues Needed.

"It will be seen that about 86 per cent of the whole expenditure of the government lies in the first 5 items.

"No matter how rigid economies may be, it is obvious that the budget cannot be balanced without a most substantial increase in revenues. But the progress of appropriation bills, however, would indicate that the executive recommendations on which all these calculations are based will not be realized by $100,000,000 or more and therefore it is more likely that the deficit will mount to from $500,000,000 to $700,000,000.

"In canvassing the three major fields of possible income, that is, income taxes, customs and excise taxes, I believe that inquiry by the congress will develop that income taxes under the act of 1932 have been developed to the point of maximum productivity unless we are prepared to abandon our American system of fairly high exemption and reasonably low rates applicable to the smaller incomes, and in any event by keeping by these principles no further burdens in this direction would substantially increase revenues and solve the questions.

"One of the first economic effects of the increases already made is the retreat of capital into tax exempt securities and the denudation of industry and commerce of that much available capital.

Again Urges Sales Tax.

"The customs revenues and other miscellaneous revenues are not likely to be increased except through recovery in trade. In my view, therefore, the field for substantial increase in federal government revenues resolves itself to the exploration of the possibilities of so-called excise or sales taxes. In the estimated revenues for the next fiscal year nearly $700,000,000 is comprised of so-called excise taxes which are levied on a few score different manufactured commodities. These taxes are in fact manufacturers' sales taxes. Any attempted distinction between 'excise' taxes on manufactured commodities, or 'sales' taxes on manufactured commodities is mere juggling with words.

"On the taxes now levied nearly $200,000,000 are upon essentials as distinguished from so-called nonessentials. The congress has thus already established a 'sales tax' as the basis for one-quarter of the whole public revenues, and has already adopted 'sales' taxes upon essentials as distinguished from nonessentials.

Staple Basis of Income.

"To extend this form of taxation is neither new nor revolutionary. Instead of spreading it over a few scores of commodities and services at irregular rates, which cause discrimination and hardship between industries, it would seem the essence of good statesmanship to apply such a tax generally at a low rate upon all manufacturers except upon food and cheaper grades of clothing, and thereby give to the federal government a stable basis of income during the period of depression.

"The balancing of the budget is one of the essential steps in strengthening the foundations for recovery. Capital expenditures are a very important item in our economic life. There can be no doubt that there is an enormous accumulated demand for capital funds that would be expended for equipment and replacements of all kinds if long time funds could be obtained cheaply and if confidence were restored.

"For some time now long time funds have not been available for the public at reasonable rates. The retirement of the federal treasury from the market as a constant borrower, the balancing of the federal budget and the refunding operations necessary to bring the government debt into better balance would have a stimulating effect, would vitalize our entire credit structure and produce one of the conditions essential to continued recovery

Must Refund Liberty Bonds.

"It is essential that the government undertake at an early moment the refunding of outstanding high interest bearing Liberty bonds into bonds bearing a lower rate of interest. It is essential, too, that a portion of our short term borrowing should be converted into longer term issues. A balanced budget would greatly facilitate such an operation.

"Every principle of sound governmental management and wise economic policy call for the prompt balancing of the federal budget. This all important objective, within reach, and more determined effort will bring us to the goal we have been striving to reach in the face of unparalleled difficulties.

"One of the most helpful contributions which the congress and this administration could give to the next administration would be to enable them to start with the federal budget in balance and the federal finances in order."

ASK $13,035 FOR DAMAGE CAUSED IN PLANE CRASH

A recommendation to congress that R. D. Lacques and Rudolph J. Gasser of 124 East 75th street be paid $13,035 for damages and injuries received last April 30 when an army reserve airplane crashed into their home was made yesterday by the war department.

LEGION WILL GO TO BOTTOM OF NEWBERRY RITES

Deny Slain Gangster Was Member of Post.

Commander Paul Harper of the Yarmo-De Vere post of the American Legion appeared at the Legion's state headquarters yesterday to explain the post's endeavor to confer honors upon the slain gangster, Ted Newberry, by giving him a military funeral.

Harper made his report to Judge Advocate Joseph Wright. The question of revoking the post's charter was referred to the executive committee of the district council of which Yarmo-De Vere is a member, and this committee is to report next Tuesday to the Cook County Council of Legion Posts.

Full Military Honor.

The Newberry obsequies were without benefit of clergy but were carried out with the solemnity of flag and post colors, military escort, firing squad, and taps. He had been shot to death, not on the field of battle, but on a gangland ride, and his bullet pierced body thrown beside an Indiana road.

A report reached Legion headquarters that these rites for one whose name appeared on every public enemy list had been commercialized. Newberry was not a member of the Legion, Commander Harper stated yesterday. It was said the gangster had been in the navy during the war but there was some doubt about it.

What took place in Commander Harper's interview with Judge Advocate Wright was not revealed but it was understood Harper disclaimed responsibility for the action of the post. A former commander of the post, Joseph Dorfman, at one time a deputy coroner, is to be asked to tell about the arrangements for the Newberry funeral, Legion officials stated.

Promises Prompt Action.

Joseph Delacour, head of the Cook County Legion council, said he would require a full report showing by what authority the post furnished the men and soldierly equipment to lend respectability to the burial of a man who had none of it. The proper procedure would be followed, Delacour said, and if the post was found guilty of foisting a dead outlaw on the public as a fallen hero, fitting action would be taken.

State Commander James P. Ringley was out of the city. In his absence one of his aids said a rifle salute over Newberry's grave might have been symbolic but not proper unless fired by gangsters—certainly not when fired by ex-service men.

ROB BUTCHER OF $576.

YOU CAN HEAT...

FOR THE PRICE OF HEATING

3 rooms with oil

2 rooms with gas

$110 spent on coal keeps this six-room house warm from November to June.

Spent on oil, that $110 would barely heat three rooms during the winter months.

Spent on gas, $110 would keep only two rooms constantly heated during the winter.

IF you want to keep comfortably warm all winter without spending one unnecessary cent, there is only one fuel to burn, coal or its derivative, coke.

Careful estimates based on tests, government figures, and typical instances have proved that the increased cost which comes when oil is substituted for coal averages practically 100%... when gas is substituted, 200%.

Many women know this secret of saving on home baking

THEY are the women whose cakes and hot breads are real triumphs of home baking. They have learned by experience to judge the value of a baking powder by what it does in baking. They know that saving a few cents on the purchase price of a can of powder is one thing, and that saving money on actual baking is something else.

These women know that the secret of both success and economy in home baking is in the two-to-one leavening action of Rumford Baking Powder.

You too, will find in Rumford your money's worth of just the kind of leavening action you want—leavening that makes cakes and hot breads exceptionally light and tasty—leavening you can get only with a pure, all-phosphate powder.

52 laboratory tests in manufacture make Rumford's famous leavening action an every-time certainty.

Then too, the 100% phosphate content of Rumford adds vital food value to everything you make with it. It supplies in substantial quantity the Calcium and Phosphates necessary to build sound teeth, strong bones, and steady nerves.

Get Rumford today from your grocer and give it a thorough trial. The cakes and hot breads you make with this pure all-phosphate powder will be the most convincing evidence that Rumford is the best buy in baking powder, regardless of the price paid.

ROOSEVELT WILL ADOPT STIMSON FAR EAST POLICY

Statement Indicates He Approves Stand.

BY JOHN BOETTIGER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Jan. 17.—[Special.]—After announcing a policy interpreted as a promise to continue the position taken by the United States in the international efforts to halt the aggressions of Japan, President Elect Roosevelt today entered into new discussions of America's foreign relations.

The President elect had a long visit with Col. Edward M. House, who was the closest advisor of President Wilson and bids fair to hold a somewhat similar relationship with the new President, at which the discussion centered about the latest developments in the Roosevelt program for dealing with foreign lands.

Later Mr. Roosevelt saw Frank L. Polk, who was under secretary of state in the Wilson administration, and the reports went out that Mr. Polk may be added to a group who may be given diplomatic authority by Secretary of State Stimson to conduct pre-inaugural investigations of war debts and tariffs for President Elect Roosevelt.

Mr. Roosevelt's Statement.

Mr. Roosevelt's statement on his foreign policy is as follows:

"Any statement relating to any particular foreign situation must, of course, come from the secretary of the state of the United States.

"I am, however, wholly willing to make it clear that American foreign policy must uphold the sanctity of international treaties. That is a corner stone on which all relations between nations must rest."

The statement, written by Mr. Roosevelt himself in longhand after reporters had pressed him for his views on the Japanese crisis, supported dispatches from Washington holding that the President elect had given Secretary Stimson his assurance that the policies of the present state department on the Manchurian situation would be continued in the next administration.

It is known here that Mr. Roosevelt told Mr. Stimson at their conference in Hyde Park last week that he specifically approved the policy of the United States in refusing to recognize Japan's aggressive land seizures in Manchuria.

Plans Hideaway Cruise.

The President elect said today, in discussing his plans for his hideaway cruise in southern waters, on Vincent Astor's yacht, the Nourmahal, that he planned to shove off from Jacksonville, Fla., on Feb. 4, 5 or 6.

He reiterated his intention not to see any visitors at any time during his cruise, and said his only contact with the outer world would be via the craft's radio. He promised to send a daily bulletin ashore for the newspapers.

"If any inquiries for statements on any questions are sent to me by wireless," Mr. Roosevelt warned, "I shall send a very polite reply to this effect: 'Thank you very much.'"

SON IS BORN TO AGA KHAN, RICH PRINCE OF INDIA

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, Jan. 17.—Aga Khan III., head of the Ismaili Mohammedans, became a father at the age of 57 today. His 34 year old French wife, daughter of a bourgeois family, bore him a son at the American hospital.

The wealthy Indian potentate has another son, Prince Ali, by a previous marriage. Prince Ali, who is 26 years old, is at present living in England.

Aga Khan, the owner of an extensive racing stable, was at Cannes on the Riviera today. He married his present wife, a native of Chambrey, three years ago. She has never visited India and has not yet become a Mohammedan. She was born a Catholic.

HURLEY URGES ALL TO SUPPORT NEXT PRESIDENT

Drop Politics and Back Roosevelt, He Says.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Jan. 17.—[Special.]—A plea for all Americans to forget politics and stand squarely back of the Roosevelt administration when it comes into power March 4 was sounded tonight by Secretary of War Patrick J. Hurley in an address before the annual banquet of delegates attending the rivers and harbors congress.

"When President Elect Franklin D. Roosevelt becomes President he will be my President and I will stand back of him," Hurley declared. "Every delegate to this congress and every American should give their most loyal support to the incoming administration. In these trying times a President needs united support if he is to start the nation firmly on the road to prosperity."

Hull Assails Seaway Treaty.

The Hurley address, which dealt mainly with the progress of national waterways development, was one of a score or so made during the day and evening as the rivers and harbors congress got under way. Earlier, Representative William E. Hull of Illinois and Mayor T. S. Walmsley of New Orleans denounced the St. Lawrence seaway treaty and called for its defeat by the senate.

Representative Hull predicted defeat for any United States senator who voted for ratification of the pact. He declared that Canada got the best of the bargain in the treaty making, quoting editorials from several Canadian newspapers to clinch his point.

Many Vote to Oppose It.

Indications were that the congress would go on record against the St. Lawrence treaty prior to adjournment.

One of the features of today's session was the disclosure that Louisiana not only had one of the largest delegations present, but controlled the largest bloc of votes. Under one of the by-laws of the congress, states are permitted one vote for each $5 contributed to the organization's treasury. Louisiana evidently has made a contribution of around $2,500 as she cast 500 votes during balloting today on congress matters.

227th Anniversary

In observance of the 227th anniversary of the birth of Benjamin Franklin yesterday twenty Chicagoans whose given names are Benjamin Franklin met for a luncheon at 208 South La Salle street, and afterward went to Lincoln park to place a wreath on the Franklin statue.

Benjamin Franklin Affleck presided at the luncheon. The Rev. Benjamin Franklin Root, pastor of St. Simon's Episcopal church, 1151 Leland avenue, recalled incidents in the life of Franklin.

At the statue the Benjamin Franklins were joined by members of the Old Timers Printers' association, who also placed a wreath on the monument.

An address, "Benjamin Franklin and Technocracy," was given over station W-G-N yesterday afternoon by Benjamin Franklin Bellis.

WANTS DIVORCED WIFE TO HELP HIM SUPPORT FAMILY

Stephen Boor, 2119 South Halsted street, appeared yesterday in the Superior court of Judge Joseph Sabath to explain why he is $200 in arrears in alimony and support payments to his former wife and their five children. Mrs. Anna Boor, 42 years old, was granted a divorce and $18 a week on Dec. 17, 1932. Boor also had been ordered to pay $13 weekly to his wife in temporary alimony for the six months prior to the decree.

Testimony showed that Boor, employed as a truck driver for Swift & Co., earns $37 a week, while his wife earns $90 a month as a ticket agent for the Chicago and North Western railroad. Two of the children are boys 18 and 21 years of age and able to support themselves, Boor said.

"At the time of our separation six months ago," Boor said, "my wife took my life savings of $700 which we had in a joint bank account. I won't be able to do the heavy work I am doing all my life. I would like a chance to build up a savings account for my old age."

He asked that his payments be cut to $10 a week and that his wife be ordered to pay $8 for the support of the children. Judge Sabath took the matter under advisement.

JAPANESE HOPE ROOSEVELT WILL END 'IRRITATIONS'

Tokio Calm on Statement of Foreign Policy.

TOKIO, Jan. 18.—[Wednesday.]—(AP)—Commenting on President Elect Roosevelt's foreign policy declaration, a foreign office spokesman today said:

"Even prior to Mr. Roosevelt's rather noncommittal statement, we had evidence that Secretary of State Stimson was confident his policies would be continued under his successor.

"Japan was not surprised. It never believed a change in administrations would fundamentally alter the American policy in the orient, remembering that it was the last Democratic administration which produced two of the sharpest notes received in Tokio.

"We are hopeful, however, that, while the substance of the American policy will be unchanged, the manner of its presentation will be altered under Mr. Roosevelt and that irritations growing out of Washington's 'spur of the moment' judgments will be removed. That will count for a great deal."

The two notes he referred to, the spokesman explained, were those of the Wilson administration in 1915 concerning the 21 demands to China, and in 1918 concerning Japanese military moves in Siberia.

Britain Pleased by Statement.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Jan. 17.—British political circles tonight expressed pleasure at the statement of President Elect Roosevelt that "American foreign policies must uphold the sanctity of international treaties."

The principle of sanctity of treaties, government officials declared, is fundamental in any structure of international relationships, and they expressed pleasure that the incoming administration in the United States will follow this principle.

French Express Pleasure.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, Jan. 17.—French officials today heard with satisfaction the statement of President Elect Roosevelt that he upholds the principle of sanctity of international treaties.

It was reiterated in government circles here that France stands by the covenant of the league of nations and will strive for a solution of all problems which will be acceptable to all concerned.

League Showdown Today.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

GENEVA, Jan. 17. — While the league of nations assembly committee of 19 prepared tonight for a final effort at conciliation of the Chinese-Japanese dispute tomorrow, indications were that this effort would end in failure, as have the league's efforts on this question for the last sixteen months.

It was freely predicted by league officials that the Tokio government would defy any attempt to interfere in what it terms a "local difference between China and Japan," and that should the league adopt drastic measures, Japan would withdraw from Geneva.

May Stiffen Attitude.

It was authoritatively forecast tonight that, unless unexpected developments facilitate an amicable settlement, the committee of 19 will advance to paragraph 4 of article 15 of the league covenant and make a report on the dispute, ignoring Japan's protestations.

Some circles attribute the stiffening attitude of the league to pressure from the United States. Geneva newspapers today displayed stories to the effect that American diplomats in the European capitals had informed the governments of the powers that the administration at Washington would look with pleasure upon firm action by the league.

Japan Reveals Russian Plot to Foment Red Revolution

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

TOKIO, Jan. 17.—The principal reason why there is no love lost between Russia and Japan and why Japan is extremely reluctant to enter into a nonaggression pact with the bolsheviks was brought to light today with the lifting of the press publication ban on communist activities.

It was revealed that 7,000 communists were arrested last year, and the hand of the Third Internationale at Moscow is plainly evident as the motive force behind the Japanese radical movement.

Bare Danger from Russia.

The lifting of the ban today is regarded as likely to bring public realization of the danger from Russia, especially since the Chinese-Russian rapprochement, and many Japanese feel that the soviets must be stopped at any cost from spreading their tentacles further over Japan. It is felt that communism already is endangering the social fabric.

The police disclosures show that the wholesale arrests throughout the country last year involved a large number of scholars, physicians, lawyers and university professors. The evidence seized reveals a direct connection with the Third Internationale and the fact that Red leaders have hurried preparations for a revolution, believing a second world war would shortly break out as a result of Japan's adamant stand on Manchuria or as a result of relations with the United States.

Wealthy Men Join Movement.

Consequently, the plotters centered their activities at naval bases and aviation schools in an effort to tear down the bulwarks of Japan's national defenses. Tremendous inroads were also made at breaking down the social system.

Three daughters of millionaires and scores of sons of the wealthy joined in the movement last year, not as "parlor bolsheviks" but determined to give up their lives for "the cause."

Observers feel that the disclosures may be taken as an indication that Russia again is directing attention to trying to "bolshevize" the orient in view of its failures at home.

REACH BASIS FOR FOREIGN POLICY PASSING MARCH 4

Washington, D. C., Jan. 17.—[Special.]—A basis of cooperation between President Hoover and President Elect Franklin D. Roosevelt on the handling of the far eastern problems caused by Japanese invasions of Manchuria and China proper, was effected at the Stimson-Roosevelt conference in New York a week ago.

This became known today when administration officials disclosed that the state department had not only restated its far eastern policy last week through its diplomatic representation abroad, but has advised the foreign governments that they can assume the American policy in support of the open door in China and against recognition of territory seized in violation of the Kellogg pact will be continued after March 4.

In this connection it was known that American foreign diplomats on orders from Secretary of State Henry L. Stimson had made it clear to foreign governments that the incoming Roosevelt administration can be expected to back up not only the Hoover nonrecognition policy, but also all the basic policies formulated for the far east by the Hoover administration.

This was taken to mean that President Elect Roosevelt subscribed to Mr. Stimson's letter of last year to Senator William E. Borah [Rad. Rep., Idaho] in which the secretary said that the validity of the Washington arms treaties was threatened by Japanese activities in Manchuria and China.

Administration officials gave out the impression today that no new diplomatic notes will go to Japan proper for the present.

Through the influence of the kind Intourist interpreter, who had rescued us from railroad red tape, we were given a second category room in the Novo-Moskovski hotel. All the third class rooms were already occupied. The interpreter also supplied us with meal tickets and made arrangements to put our car in a garage.

What a pleasure it was to have a decent room and a bath in Russia!

We remained in the capital for two weeks. We really enjoyed that period of our Russian visit. True the street cars were overcrowded and stuffy, the sidewalks inadequate, the odors revolting, and the dirt and dust terrible. The shop windows, displaying articles of soviet workmanship, seemed pathetic. But there is a fierce air of being thoroughly alive about this ancient renovated city. Perhaps the rest of Russia seems devitalized, moribund, because it is being stripped to give life to Moscow.

Elegance Is Missing.

There are half a dozen bright cafés where the proletarian aristocracy drinks in style. Otherwise the customary elegance of world capitals is missing.

In Moscow we found helpful friends. George Andreychen of Amtorg (the government trading corporation) used his tremendous influence to have the $600 deposit we made at the border—in express company checks—restored. We met Editor Borodin of the Moscow Daily News, who gave us 500 rubles in advance for ten articles to be written on our travels.

This business completed we were anxious to set out again for the south. We planned carefully, but before we left we ran up against many more yards of red tape. Intourist said we would have to take one of their interpreters with us. Amtorg had chosen a G. P. U. man for the job. Avtodor [Automobile club] had chosen another G. P. U. agent. Mary L. and I stood pat. We said we wouldn't take any interpreter of their choice. We wanted to choose one ourselves.

Pick Canadian Woman.

Our wishes were at last granted. We picked Rhea Clyman, a Canadian woman and a newspaper correspondent who had been in Russia for four years. As it turned out, we made an unwise choice.

Before we left on Aug. 30 we had a dozen fights with Intourist. They tried to make us pay $2 a day for the garage. They demanded $5.50 for 15 gallons of gasoline and similar exorbitant charges for auto repairs which we had not even ordered. When we were all ready to set out the baggage man at the hotel refused to let us have two spare tires without a note from the Intourist office.

We created a scene and got what we wanted without the note. Our intention was to drive through to Tiflis. It was to be an uncomfortable journey, with a passenger added.

Visit Tolstoy's Estate.

The first night out we came to Jasny Poliano, the home of Tolstoy. There an old woman, a cousin of the novelist, was caretaker. She was glad to show us over the estate. Talking freely, she told us that she was happy, because the farm produced food enough for her and she was not dependent on the soviets. She had one great regret. The soviets had taken the last bar of soap which Tolstoy had used, and which she had kept as a souvenir.

The second night we slept in the car, which was parked in an ancient churchyard. An old man, the caretaker of the church, talked to us nearly all night. Because he was connected with the church he had no food book. Besides he was required to pay in taxes 80 poods of grain a year.

"I was better off under the czar," he said. "Then if you worked hard you could buy what you wanted. Now we work harder and are nearer starvation."

It was the first, but not the last, of such complaints reaching our ears. In the morning the old man was so angry when we gave him only one loaf of bread, some sugar, tea and candy, that he spit on the church. We decided that hunger must have deranged his mind.

Refuse to Pose at Work.

The third day out we stopped at a Kolhoz, or community farm, to take pictures of the women at work. It was difficult to get good pictures, as the women all wished to pose at ease. One woman told us that they did not want American women "to see us doing such hard labor."

When we asked about working conditions they talked freely. They toiled, they said, from dawn to dusk—and summer days are long in Russia—getting 30 kopecks a day and 500 grams of black bread. They hated the day, they said, when they joined the community farm.

Voluble enough with us alone, the workers became clamlike when the red director of the farm appeared. They scattered at his approach. He held no whip, but the fear of what he represented was on the faces of all.

That night we spent in a Sovhoz, near Belgorod. A room belonging to some so-called "responsible workers" had been given to us, the regular residents being sent to sleep in the quarters of more menial toilers. When the "responsibles" learned what had been done they raised a clamor and the beds of the menials were put out on a porch. Class distinctions seemed to exist, in Russia after all.

Attacked by Bedbugs.

We went to bed, but we couldn't sleep. Bedbugs attacked us. We had met a few in the Intourist hotel in Moscow. These were big fellows and they came in legions. We wondered why they didn't walk away with the beds. So, early in the morning we were out. We cooked our breakfast by the roadside. While we were eating two lads of about 15 years of age came up to us and asked for cigarets. We gave them some to get them to talk. The parents of one boy lived on a community farm; the parents of the other were still independent. The second said his father was too smart to join.

"My mother and father wish they were out," said the first one. "We don't get enough to eat. We work all day long. For nine months of labor they promise us thirty poods of flour, some corn and some potatoes. But we'll never get them."

Want to Flee, but Can't.

This was just one of a hundred similar complaints. The creatures of the Kolhoz would like to escape, but can't. They dare not try to run away.

The following night we reached Kharkov. We were again terribly tired. The roads were consistently bad, just passable in a car. Also, the surroundings distressed us. Here we were in the richest wheat producing section of the soviet realm, the Ukraine, and here were people all underfed and many of them on the verge of starvation. Every peasant we questioned had a tale of woe.

In Kharkov we had the usual difficulty in getting accommodations, but prevailed on the management to give us space in the Intourist hotel. We paid our bill in rubles. We had resolved not to give up any of our precious American dollars, the valuta of the Russians.

Try to Trick Girls.

We had 500 rubles that Editor Borodin had paid us in advance. Intourist, we remembered, had been in the "Slippery Jim" business of trying to make two unsuspecting girls from Georgia pay dollars where dimes were enough. For none of the influence we gathered in Moscow had enabled us to trade a dollar for more than two rubles, while in Poland the rate was 60 rubles to the dollar. We were not going to be outsmarted. Why, we asked ourselves, should we make the soviets rich enough to squander vast sums on the army they were preparing for a war on all capitalism?

Quite soon we realized that we were not going to be able to furnish Borodin with the sort of articles he wanted. His paper was printed in English, but it was required that everything appearing in it must be decidedly procommunistic. We were not quite hypocritical enough to do the job, and do it well.

Still, we had taken his money and we had to produce. I fear those articles were rather colorless. It is difficult to write goody-goody stuff about how Pollyana everything is when the plain evidence of eyes and ears and nose shows that everything is wrong; that people are unhappy, hunger and want are everywhere.

AMERICAN GIRLS TOUR RUSSIA

RUSSIA TO DRIVE PRIESTS, NUNS FROM BIG CITIES

Kulaks Also Must Go Under Passport Law.

BY DONALD DAY.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

RIGA, Latvia, Jan. 17.—Dictator Josef Stalin's determination to convert Moscow, Leningrad, Kharkov, and other large cities into 100 per cent proletarian centers has resulted in the issuance of supplementary decrees augmenting the recent order reëstablishing the passport system. Under this system, which was abolished by the revolution, all "nonworkers" will be compelled to leave the cities.

Nuns and Monks Affected.

According to the Moscow Pravda, priests and other religious leaders not attached to functioning churches must leave these cities before April 15. This order also affects nuns and monks who have been existing on charity since their expulsion from convents and monasteries which were either closed or adapted to other uses by the bolsheviks.

Pravda announces that local G. P. U. [secret police] units are preparing lists of suspected and undesirable elements who also have been ordered to leave these centers.

The passport system first will be enforced in a 60 mile zone around Moscow and Leningrad and a 30 mile zone around Kharkov.

The lists of "undesirables" facing expulsion include thousands of kulak [rich farmers] families which have managed somehow to exist in the cities since their possessions have been confiscated and taken over by the government. These groups will be denied the possibility of receiving passports and are also deprived of all possibilities of obtaining work or food. They must seek shelter elsewhere.

All Must Register.

Before summer it is expected that all inhabitants of Russia will be registered at each police station. The government is organizing a special department to enable the authorities to control the movements of the inhabitants.

Pravda states that many formalities will be required before a passport is issued. Each applicant must submit a statement from the administration of the house in which he lives. The place and date of birth must be set forth and successful applicants must exhibit a document from their places of employment and a certificate proving they have served in the Red army

SCOTLAND YARD SIFTS MYSTERIOUS SUICIDE IN A POLICE STATION

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Jan. 17.—Scotland Yard today prepared to launch a searching inquiry into the poison death in a London police station today of Samuel Furnace, London builder charged with the murder of Walter Spatchett. Furnace was found unconscious in the lavatory of the station yesterday. He died early this morning. Death was attributed to spirits of salts.

Scotland Yard is concerned with learning how Furnace managed to obtain the spirits of salts. A preliminary investigation revealed that the prisoner was periodically inspected throughout Sunday night by a policeman stationed outside his cell. Early yesterday morning he asked to be taken to the lavatory. The door was left half shut. Within ten seconds the guard, hearing Furnace groaning, entered and found him writhing on the floor and clutching a vial.

Concentrated spirits of salts are kept at the station canteen. They are issued in diluted form as a disinfectant. Officials are seeking to learn whether the poison was carelessly left around the small cellroom or whether Furnace, having been searched thoroughly three times, still contrived to conceal the bottle in his clothing.

GERMANS OPPOSE BERLIN EXHIBIT OF BELGIAN ART

BERLIN, Jan. 17.—(AP)—Former citizens of Eupen and Malmedy now living in Germany have protested against a Belgian art exhibition which was scheduled to be held in Berlin under the auspices of the Prussian academy and the foreign office. The protest may result in postponement or abandonment of the exhibition.

[Eupen and Malmedy are districts ceded to Belgium by Germany through a plebiscite after the war.]

A letter from the protestants said former residents of the section had been thrown out of their homeland by the Belgians and that those remaining had been terrorized by the Belgian government.

In view of the protest, Baron Konstantin von Neurath, minister of foreign affairs, who was scheduled to open the exhibition, has canceled his plans.

ITALY ADMITS HOLDING FRENCH SAVANT AS SPY

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

ROME, Jan. 17.—Replying to press dispatches abroad concerning the arrest by Italian police of Prof. Charles Eydoux, director of studies of the Polytechnic Institute of Paris, and of Miss Bonnefond, his secretary, an official communique tonight said that the two were arrested in the Italian Alps last September on a charge of spying.

Prof. Eydoux was found carrying important documents and drawings, fully confessed his guilt, and admitted that Miss Bonnefond was his accomplice, the communique declared.

According to the Italian espionage law, the two will be tried by a special tribunal for the defense of the state.

[Copyright: 1933: By the New York Times.]

NAIROBI, Kenya Colony, Africa, Jan. 17.—Joan Page and Audrey Sale Barker, British society girls, whose plane was wrecked Saturday in an attempted flight from Moshi, Tanganyika, to Nairobi, were brought here today by a rescue plane. Both are in a hospital, Miss Page with a fractured leg and Miss Sale-Barker with concussion of the brain and a severe cut on her forehead.

The account of their three days in the jungle after their narrow escape from death in a crack-up reveals the pluck of the two girls.

Carried Off Course.

After leaving Moshi they said they picked up a railway line, which they followed until they saw the lights of Nairobi. Then they ran into a dense cloud bank and a strong wind carried them off their course.

Flying low to look for a suitable landing place, they saw what appeared to be a flat plain dotted with patches of mist. The plane, traveling at high speed, hit a 50 foot ridge covered with boulders and trees. The plane was wrecked.

Miss Sale-Barker struck her head against a rock. When she regained consciousness she extracted her companion from the wreckage, using a strut as a lever. Then she bandaged Miss Page's broken leg, making her as comfortable as possible under a shelter improvised from a wing of the demolished plane.

Their small supply of food and water soon became exhausted. The cries of wild animals echoed through the jungle around them at night, but no creature approached their shelter except hyenas.

Native Threatens Girl.

Not until 10 a. m. yesterday did they see another human being. Then Miss Sale-Barker, searching for water, met a Masao herdsman. He was frightened and threatened her with his bow and arrow, but with the great deal of persuasion and the gift of her flying coat she induced the native to take a message to Nairobi, fifty miles away. She used her lipstick to write the note.

Yesterday the pilot of a searching plane sighted the demolished craft, with Miss Sale-Barker near by, waving her scarf to catch his eye. The rescue followed today.

Ocean Flyer Avoids Accident.

RIO DE JANEIRO, Jan. 17.—(AP)—Jean Mermoz, who flew across the south Atlantic from Africa yesterday, brought his plane here today from Natal, Brazil, and landed in a quagmire. By skillful handling of the ship he avoided an accident.

A rain squall hit the airport at the moment of his arrival and he was unable to strike the field squarely. He said he thought his plane was not damaged, and he proceeded to assist workers attempting to free it. If the ship is not damaged, he will proceed to Buenos Aires tomorrow morning.

Mermoz and his six trans-Atlantic companions were escorted to the airport by military planes. The French ambassador, Brazilian officials and several thousand people welcomed the flyers.

To Search Sahara for Aviatrix.

ALGIERS, Algeria, Jan. 17.—(AP)—Nothing has been heard here concerning Lady Mary Bailey, who left Oran, Algeria, Sunday afternoon on another leg of a projected England-South Africa flight, and authorities here expressed anxiety today concerning her fate. Lady Bailey was attempting to beat the record of four days, six hours, fifty-five minutes set last November by Amy Johnson Mollison. Gao, on the upper Niger, reported this afternoon that she had not arrived, and preparations were made for a search of the Sahara from the air.

Rob Missing Flyer's Home.

LONDON, Jan. 17.—While friends were preparing to fly over the Alps to search for Squadron Leader Bert Hinkler, who has been missing since Jan 7 on a speed flight to Australia, burglars today ransacked his Southampton home, robbing it of many aviation trophies. Hinkler was expected to make a first stop on the 13,000 mile journey at Brindisi, Italy, but it was feared he never got across the Alps.

POWDER LADEN FREIGHTER SINKS; 24 ARE RESCUED

NAPLES, Italy, Jan. 17.—(AP)—The motor ship, Neptunia, arriving today from Buenos Aires, brought news of the rescue of 24 officers and men of the powder laden Italian freighter, Koefia, which sank in the Mediterranean near Oran, Algeria, yesterday.

The cause of the sinking was not learned. The captain of the Neptunia received an S. O. S. message from the Koefia saying it was sinking and that the captain and all members of the crew were taking to lifeboats.

The Italian steamer, Kavi, sent a wireless message to the Koefia from a nearby point saying it was rushing to the aid of the distressed ship, but later the Kavi was advised that every one on the Koefia had been saved and would be landed at Casa Blanca, Morocco.

Aviatrix Robbed

MISS MURIEL CONNOLLY.
[Liebling Photo.]

Miss Muriel Connelly, 1258 North State parkway, an aviatrix, reported to the Grand Crossing police last night that she had been robbed of her purse containing $6, her hat and her shoes. She explained to the desk sergeant that she was driving to a meeting when her car was crowded to the curb by another automobile in Cottage Grove avenue near 70th street.

"There were two men in the car," she said. "One of them leaped out and, after threatening me with a revolver, robbed me."

She said that she then drove to the home of a friend where she borrowed a pair of shoes and a hat. Miss Connelly is a well known pilot and last year announced her intention of flying over the Atlantic ocean alone.

FRENCH BUDGET AGAIN IGNORES U. S. WAR DEBT

$421,640,000 Deficit Is Estimated.

PARIS, Jan. 17.—(AP)—In the budget submitted to the chamber of deputies today Finance Minister Cheron did not mention the "political debts" which France owes the United States and Great Britain. It is understood that these debts were omitted because they are dependent upon international developments.

("Political debts" is France's new name for war debts. France repudiated the $19,263,000 installment due the United States last Dec. 15.)

It was stated in political circles this does not necessarily mean the French government is ignoring them, as experts say it is always possible to introduce special enabling legislation to handle the situation on the basis of later developments.

Debts figured in the 1932 budget, but later were disjointed at the request of the finance committee.

Budget Totals Two Billions.

The budget totals 52,038,000,000 francs [$2,081,520,000]. Its presentation emphasized the precarious position of the government resulting from hostility toward new taxes and sharp economies included in the finance minister's proposals.

The estimated deficit is 10,541,000,000 francs [$421,640,000], and the government demands 5,300,000,000 francs in economies, including temporary salary cuts in the civil service list and 5,488,000,000 francs in new taxes.

The Socialists introduced a counter-project asking the government to regulate the war debts, repress tax frauds, negotiate restoration of international credits and reduce armaments. They oppose new taxes.

Refuses to Put Through Loan.

The finance minister flatly declined to put through a loan to meet the deficit, saying it was essential to balance the budget without recourse to any such method. The bill now goes before the finance committee, where it is likely to have rocky traveling.

Civil service groups have threatened to slow down or go on strike in protest against salary cuts.

Mad Jackal Invades City; 15 Persons Are Bitten

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BASRAH, Iraq, Jan. 17.—Ownerless dogs were being shot on sight here today, following invasion of the city by a mad jackal which attacked and bit 15 persons. The victims were rushed to Bagdad for the Pasteur treatment.

'HANDS ACROSS SEA' PLEA 'BUNK,' BRITISH ARE TOLD

Ex-Gov. La Follette Hits Sentimental Slogan.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Jan. 17.—Former Gov. Philip La Follette of Wisconsin today debunked the slogan of "hands across the sea" before the English speaking union. Mr. La Follette, who was a guest of honor, told his audience of distinguished Britons that such a sentimental appeal in Anglo-American relations is not effective.

Speaking for the middle west, which he said was the United States between the Alleghenies and the Rockies, Mr. La Follette declared that in any European attempt to secure the coöperation of America emphasis should be placed upon common interest and not sentiment alone.

"Less Sentiment, More Facts."

"Let us have less sentiment and more facts," he said. "What we want in the middle west are facts showing the community of economic interests. If you can give us those, you will be able to obtain our coöperation."

Lord Burnham, who presided at the luncheon, stressed the fact that too much attention is paid by Europe to the opinion of the east, and Wickham Steed, former editor of the London Times, who followed La Follette, humorously advocated federal legislation forbidding any European visitor to land in America, either on the Atlantic or Pacific seaboards.

"Let them come by the Canadian Pacific railway to Chicago and from there work east or west," he said. "By the time they reach either coast, they may have some idea of America. I never feel in my visits to America that I have arrived in the country until I have reached the Mississippi.

Says East Hardly Counts.

"In forming American opinion, the Atlantic seaboard hardly counts. It is really a part of Europe. I have found the middle westerners more clear sighted, more upstanding and readier to respond to the facts when properly presented than the people of either seaboard."

Steed then attacked Britain's lack of response to the American policy both at Geneva on disarmament questions and in dealing with the far east.

"We ought to have responded to Secretary of State Stimson's lead," he said. "We did not!"

La Follette, accompanied by his wife, is studying social and economic conditions in England. Yesterday he addressed the school of economics of London university.

DAUGHTER BORN TO WOMAN WHO ESCAPED CHAIR

Columbia, S. C., Jan. 17.—(AP)—A baby daughter, born today to Mrs. Beatrice Ferguson Snipes, Columbia woman whose sentence of death for the murder of an officer was commuted to life imprisonment a few days ago, created a problem for South Carolina officials.

Dr. C. Fred Williams, head of the state hospital where the baby was born, said:

"We'll keep Mrs. Snipes here a few weeks, and then send her back to the penitentiary. What to do with the baby is their problem, not ours."

The woman, a 29 year old former cotton mill worker who was reared in an orphanage, was sentenced to die for the slaying of Elliott Harris, York county policeman. Her sentence was commuted by Gov. Ibra C. Blackwood after he had received numerous pleas that clemency be shown.

AIRPLANE CRASH KILLS OFFICER OF THE NAVY FLYERS

New York, Jan. 17.—[Special.]—Lieut. E. F. Conway, commandant at Floyd Bennett field, was killed this afternoon. His plane crashed on the sands of Long Beach, a mile west of Point Lookout. He had taken off from the flying field only a short time before. His mechanic, Howard F. Klein, was taken to Long Beach hospital.

Field headquarters was unable to explain the accident. The plane, a Loening amphibian, was sighted flying south toward the ocean a few moments before the crash. It was zigzagging, with Lieut. Conway apparently striving to make a landing on the beach. By inches it cleared the telegraph wires on the boulevard, rose slightly, and then plunged.

REDS AND NAZIS RIOT; BREAK UP OPENING OF DIET

Battle Royal Held in Prussian House.

BERLIN, Jan. 17.—(AP)—The first session today of the Prussian landtag, lower house of the diet, broke up in a row between the communists and Adolf Hitler's National Socialists.

One of the communists was speaking on a bill reported out by the farm economics committee. The Nazis began to hoot and whistle. The communist and some of his colleagues returned insult for insult, a blow was struck, and in a moment there was a battle royal.

It was half an hour before the chair could restore order, then he adjourned the session.

Prince August Wilhelm, son of the former kaiser, defied his family by taking his seat when the session opened. His father ordered him last week to resign from the National Socialist party.

Hitler Outwits Aid.

WEIMAR, Germany, Jan. 17.—(AP)—The aspirations of Gregor Strasser, the former National Socialist organizer, to a vice chancellorship was considered in Nazi circles today to have received a death blow by a simple maneuver of Adolf Hitler, leader of the party.

[German newspapers Saturday anticipated that Chancellor Kurt von Schleicher would name Strasser, who split with Nazi leaders in December, to such a post, thereby forcing Hitler to decide to support the cabinet or risk new elections. The newspapers said that the government expected the Nazis would tolerate the cabinet because Strasser was still ostensibly a party member.]

When lieutenants from every part of Germany, telegraphically summoned to Weimar after the election in the state of Lippe last Sunday, gathered about him Hitler unexpectedly pulled a list of some thirty members of the reichstag out of his pocket.

"Comrades," he said, deliberately, "according to information I have received Strasser told Von Schleicher he could deliver at least thirty Nazi members of the reichstag to support the government in case he was made vice chancellor. Here is Strasser's list."

Pledge Fealty Anew.

As the names were read each person named indignantly asserted that Strasser had acted without the slightest authorization. A dramatic scene ensued in which all the lieutenants pledged anew unswerving allegiance to their chief.

Hitler motored this afternoon to Berlin, where he has a conference with Dr. Alfred Hugenberg, leader of the Nationalists.

SEEKS $260,000 FROM CONVICTED H. O. STONE CHIEF

J. Fred McGuire, 565 Sheridan road, Winnetka, a La Salle street real estate broker, yesterday filed suit in the Supreme court to recover $260,169 from Henry F. Norcott, former head of H. O. Stone & Co., who was sentenced to 20 years in a federal penitentiary after his recent conviction for using the mails to defraud investors. The suit is a creditors' bill, brought because McGuire has been unable to collect the money which he won on a judgment in the Circuit court on Dec. 6, 1930. The bill charged that Norcott conveyed his home at 1418 Forest avenue, Evanston, to his wife, and concealed other properties and investments in a similar manner in order to avoid paying the judgment. The suit asked that Norcott and the parties to whom he gave his assets be restrained from disposing of them pending hearing of the suit.

NEW TREATMENT FOR EXPECTANT AND NURSING MOTHERS

When a baby is expected, laxatives must not be used. Mother must not take them as long as she is carrying or nursing the little one.

Doctors will tell you that laxative drugs taken by the mother are a danger to baby. It is a crime to risk your baby's health. That is why they so often advise Cream of Nujol.

This new form of Nujol is specially suitable for expectant and nursing mothers because it does not upset the stomach or cause cramps and does not pass into the milk.

If you are expecting a baby, take the new harmless Cream of Nujol treatment night and morning. It is kind to the delicate bowel membranes, and being free of drugs, it is safe for you and your child. Moreover, it is delicious and easy to take. At a cost of only a few cents a day it will make you as "regular as clockwork," and protect the health of your child. Buy it at any drug counter.

DE VALERA HOPES HIT AS BRITAIN FAVORS CANADA

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

DUBLIN, Irish Free States, Jan. 17.—Former President William T. Cosgrave's chances to win the Irish elections next Tuesday received an impetus today when it became known that Canadian cattle will be allowed free entry in British ports, in accordance with the agreements reached at the Ottawa conference last year. Free State farmers were staggered by the news which is expected to switch many votes from the Fianna Fail candidates of President Eamon de Valera to Cosgrave's Cumann na nGaedheal [League of Gaels].

For 30 years Irish cattle breeders have feared the competition of their Canadian rivals. For a long time Irish members of the British parliament were able to maintain an embargo against Canadian cattle imports chiefly on the ground of the prevalence of the hoof and mouth disease in Canada.

With the British tariff of 40 per cent, Free State exporters of cattle maintain they will be unable to compete. Hope, therefore, is being centered upon Cosgrave's return to power and fulfillment of his promise to make a new trade agreement with Britain which will permit Free State cattle to enter the British market duty free. Cattle traders here today assailed De Valera's delegates to Ottawa for failing to enter in trade agreements. Prices of cattle at Irish fairs have shown a rising tendency recently, presumably on the strength of Cosgrave's return to power.

CATHOLICS ADD ONE SCHOOL TO SYSTEM IN '31-'32

Expand Their Operations Despite Hard Times.

BY THE REV. JOHN EVANS.

The Catholic parochial school system in the Chicago archdiocese operated during the school year of 1931-32 without closing a school, despite the depression. One new elementary school was opened during that ye r, bringing the total of Catholic educational institutions to 461. These facts were made public yesterday by the archdiocesan superintendent of schools, the Rev. Daniel F. Cunningham, in his annual report to Cardinal Mundelein.

The report states that the stress of the times has been felt in the school world as elsewhere, "and priests, brothers, and sisters have had a heavy burden to carry. Our schools are not free schools. They are tuition schools. They have been built under the inspiration of our bishops and priests, through the contributions of our people, in order that the children of Catholic people "might continue in Catholic schools."

Small Decline in Attendance.

However, despite the fact that tuition is expected for the admission of pupils, the report states that when straightened circumstances of parents prevented payment, the school authorities, wherever possible, accepted the pupils on a free basis.

While the report of the superintendent cited a small decline in the attendance at elementary schools, the membership in Catholic h schools increased from 19,223 to 19,429. Father Cunningham said the greatest decline in elementary schools was in the first grade. In June, 1932, 17,001 pupils were graduated from the eighth grade. Of that number less than 3,000 failed to continue in high schools. The balance of the eighth grade graduates were about evenly divided between parochial and public high schools. A larger pro, ortion of girl aduates continue in Catholic high schools than boys, the report shows.

Two new courses of study were added to the curriculum. These are geography and art. The ne art courses were drawn up by a committee of experts to cover the fields of drawing and applied art.

Rules Are Modified.

Father Cunningham reported that during the year the rules for promotion of pupils were modified. Heretofore only those pupils who attain a satisfactory average in the nine prescribed subjects had been permitted to advance. Under the new rule pupils may be advanced on trial when their work in one or two of the required subjects falls below required standards. If at the end of the trial period the pupil's work is not satisfactory he is to be returned to the lower grade.

The schools of the archdiocese are manned by 6,222 teachers. The enrollment last year was 210,211.

INCOME TAX LAW AND DEMANDS ON YOU EXPLAINED

Below is the seventh of a series of ten concise articles on the income tax prepared for THE TRIBUNE. The articles explain provisions of the new income tax law, known as the revenue act of 1932, under which income tax returns are to be filed in March.

BY WILLIS NANCE.

Limitation on Stock and Bond Losses.

The revenue act of 1932 contains a very significant and important change dealing with losses on sales and exchanges of stocks and bonds. Such losses are not allowed without limitation as heretofore.

If stocks and bonds have been held more than two years they are capital assets and losses arising from their sale or exchange are allowed as capital losses as in prior years, subject to the same 12½ per cent limitation.

However, if stocks and bonds which have been held for less than two years and, therefore, are not capital assets are sold or exchanged and a loss sustained, such loss is deductible in the return of the year in which the loss was sustained only to the extent that there are gains in such year from the sale or exchange of stocks and bonds held for less than two years.

If a taxpayer has no gain in 1932 from the sale or exchange of stocks and bonds held for less than two years he is not entitled to deduct any losses sustained in 1932 from the sale or exchange of stocks and bonds held for less than two years.

Every taxpayer is subject to this new limitation on stock and bond losses except dealers in securities and incorporated banks and trust companies.

The balance of such losses not allowed as a deduction in 1932 because of the lack of sufficient gains may with certain qualifications, be carried forward to 1933 and taken as a deduction in that year to the extent of gains in 1933 from the sale or exchange of stocks and bonds held for less than two years.

It should be noted that this new limitation on stock and bond losses applies only to losses sustained on the "sale or exchange" of such securities. The limitation does not apply to losses sustained, for example, through worthless stocks or bonds. Such losses are still deductible without limitation in the year the securities become worthless.

Also the limitation applies only to losses sustained upon the sale or exchange of "stocks and bonds" as those terms are defined in the act. The limitation does not apply to grain losses or losses sustained upon the sale of real estate, etc. Neither, by express provision in the act, does the limitation apply to losses from the sale or exchange of governmental, state or municipal securities.

Gains or losses from short sales of stocks and bonds or attributable to privileges or options to buy or sell such stocks and bonds or from sales or exchanges of such paivileges or options, are considered as gains or losses on stocks or bonds which are not capital assets, and such losses are subject to the limitation.

No loss is allowed in any sale or other disposition of stock or securities where the taxpayer has acquired substantially identical stock or securities within thirty days before or after the date of such sale, unless the taxpayer is a dealer in securities.

BILLY, 5, DOES HIS SHARE FOR HUNGRY PUPILS

Children Loyal Helpers of Lunch Fund.

In Billy Bibb's Christmas stocking was a real typewriter. Yesterday he wrote a business letter, just like the men downtown.

"Dear Editor," wrote Billy, "I am a little boy five years old. I am enclosing fifty cents for the Hungry School Children's fund. Yours truly, Billy Bibb." Then down in the left corner: "I live at 327 Sheridan place, Lake Bluff."

Billy's gift will provide lunches for ten needy school children some day this week. Children, the contributions reveal daily, are the most consistent supporters of the Hungry School Children's fund. They send their gifts with the wish that the money will make some other children happy. Among these contributors yesterday was a group of girls from the Oakton school, Evanston, who raised $1 by giving an entertainment. The day's gifts in full:

$25—John F. Clark & Co.

CHARITY GROUPS INCUR A DEFICIT OF $1,296,934

Frank D. Loomis, secretary for the Emergency Welfare fund, revealed yesterday that the deficit of 76 private welfare agencies for October and November was $1,296,934.

"Against this deficit we had available from the welfare fund a monthly sum of $500,000 or $1,000,000 for the two months," Mr. Loomis explained. "From these figures it is not difficult to picture the problems that will confront the private relief groups over the remainder of the year if the welfare fund campaign does not obtain the full quota of its drive, $7,500,000."

The grand total yesterday stood at $4,546,000, following the receipt of the recently announced pledge of $40,121 from the Catholic archdiocese of Chicago. Subscriptions to the women's division amounted to $75,000 when the group reported 25 new pledges ranging from $5 to $2,162.

CONTROL BY CONGRESS OF TAX REFUNDS IS PUT UP TO PRESIDENT

Washington, D. C., Jan. 17.—[Special.]—Congress today wrested control over major tax refunding operations from the bureau of internal revenue and vested it in a joint committee of the house and senate.

Following the lead of the senate, the house by a vote of 224 to 123 adopted an amendment to the first deficiency bill providing that the joint committee of internal revenue taxation shall have almost arbitrary power to approve or disapprove tax refunds above $20,000.

The senate previously had adopted an amendment to the bill giving the congressional body control of refunds in excess of $5,000. The difference between the two houses was speedily resolved when the senate concurred in the house amendment and sent the bill to the White House.

Much criticism against certain large refunds has been heard in recent years. In the background of today's action, however, was the refund of $5,000,000 to the estate of the father of Ogden L. Mills, secretary of the treasury. Opposing adoption of the amendment, Rep. Allan T. Treadway [Rep., Mass.] declared that if the house would examine senate debate to give a congressional committee control of the refunds it would "be perfectly apparent that it is aimed at a refund granted to the estate of one individual —the father of one of our present public officials." The Mills refund has been shown to consist mainly of the 80 per cent reduction in federal inheritance tax because of the amount of state tax collected. That is according to law.

Dr A F. Schuettler Freed of Confidence Game Charge

Dr. Arthur F. Schuettler, 4730 North Sacramento avenue, son of the late Herman F. Schuettler, at one time chief of police of Chicago, was freed yesterday by Judge Donald S. McKinlay in the Felony court, where Schuettler appeared on a confidence game charge. The complainant, Herman J. Bargehr, 5524 Drexel avenue, said he had given Schuettler $250 for an interest in a medicine business and had never heard from the physician again. Judge McKinlay ruled the case was not one for his jurisdiction.

Seize Three Boy Fugitives as They Try to Steal Auto

Three Chicago youths who escaped from the State School for Boys at St Charles on Monday night were captured yesterday in Aurora as they tried to steal an automobile. They are Harold Tenney, 16 years old, James Hecker, 17 years old, and Ted Muir, 16 years old. Benny De Prova 1 years old, who escaped with the three, is sought by police. Tenney told police that he had appeared 30 times in the Cook county Juvenile court and said that he escaped from every juvenile home in Chicago.

A CLEAR-HEADED TALK ABOUT HEAD-COLDS

TESTS PROVE SUPERIORITY OF VAPEX

Unbiased tests by a prominent medical research laboratory prove that the vapor of a single drop of Vapex kills dense colonies of germs present in head-colds. In exactly similar tests, other inhalants (often offered as substitutes for Vapex) were shown to be greatly inferior in germ-killing power.

Many cheaper imitations of Vapex are said to be "just as good." But Science proves they are not. Vapex has a remarkable germ-killing power. This is the extra value that Vapex brings you at very little extra cost.

A HEAD-COLD is really an inflammation of the breathing passages. And the natural and quickest way to relieve it is by breathing Vapex. It is difficult to reach these hidden passages with sprays, drops, salves, or gargles, but Vapex gets to the seat of a head-cold with the first breath.

That is why millions of people breathe Vapex. Just a few drops on your handkerchief and at the ends of your pillow give you twenty-four-hour relief. Pleasant and easy relief, too, because Vapex is as refreshing as mountain air.

Yet the vapor kills germs that swarm in the nasal passages during a cold. The germ-killing power of Vapex plus its penetrating power make Vapex a remarkably effective means of relieving every head-cold. Scientific tests by an unbiased medical research laboratory prove both these facts.

AGREE TO TRIM $4,529,061 OFF SCHOOL BUDGET

Department Heads Asked to Make Further Cuts.

Members of the school board in a secret meeting yesterday afternoon reached a tentative decision to trim $4,529,061 from the 1933 school budget estimates of 74 million dollars. The meeting was called for the purpose of reaching a working agreement with the citizens' committee on public expenditures.

John O. Rees, technical adviser for the committee, was present and made several proposals that were adopted by the school trustees. The session was held in the private office of Lewis E. Myers, president of the school board, in the Civic Opera building.

At the close of the conference the budget was sent back to department heads for further cutting. The results of these department heads' work will be submitted to the school board on Friday afternoon. Subtracting the proposed reduction of $4,529,061, the budget will be rebuilt on estimated revenues of $69,442,424.

Revised Revenue Estimate.

The revised revenue estimates against which the appropriations for 1933 would be made are as follows: Surplus in various funds, representing principally uncollected taxes above expenditures, $8,234,508; miscellaneous revenue, including rents and money from the state distributive fund, $6,222,472, and 1933 tax levies, $55,284,444.

The school board voted recently to adopt the recommendation of the citizens' committee, which had suggested a total of $48,000,000 in tax levies for all school purposes, exclusive of the bond levy of $7,984,441. The tax levies agreed upon at the conference of school board members yesterday conform to the total of these two figures.

In their tentative estimates the department heads had added the teachers' pension levy of $1,315,631 to the levy for bonds. The pension levy was included in the 48 million dollar total under the provisions of yesterday's agreement and will mean a reduction of that much in the resources available for appropriation.

Reduce Paper Surplus.

The remainder of the reduction proposed at the conference was arrived at by pruning $3,213,430 from the paper surplus of $11,447,938. To do this the 10 per cent estimate for loss and cost in the collection of 1928, 1929, 1930, 1931, and 1932 taxes was increased to 11 per cent.

Using the new percentage, the board decreased the surpluses in the various school funds as follows: Educational fund, $2,413,635; building fund, $772,384, and playground fund, $27,209.

In order to effect a saving of $4,529,061, fads and frills in the educational program must be eliminated, in the opinion of several trustees. The other alternative is a 10 per cent cut in the salaries of teachers and other school employés.

Officials at Meeting.

The star chamber session yesterday lasted more than four hours. Besides Mr. Rees and Mr. Myers those who took part in the discussion included Trustees Orville J. Taylor, Joseph P. Savage and John A. English; Howard P. Savage, business manager of the school system; and Supt. William J. Bogan.

It was disclosed that the trustees had also discussed the elimination of $850,000 that had been set up in the budget for payments to teachers under the Miller retirement law. The proposed economy was discarded, however, on the belief that the budget will be adopted before an amendment in the law can be brought before the legislature.

Records at the school board offices showed that 584 former Chicago school teachers are not only receiving pensions but also payments under the retirement law, which was adopted in 1929. Teachers 65 years old may become eligible for the payments after teaching 25 years, if 15 of these years are spent in the Chicago schools.

TWO CHICAGOANS WIN DOUBLES IN FLORIDA BRIDGE TOURNAMENT

R. W. HALPIN.

Miami, Fla., Jan. 17.—[Special.]—Two Chicagoans, Robert W. Halpin, former president of the American Bridge league and his partner, Louis J. Haddad, won the Henry L. Doherty challenge trophy in the first annual winter championship bridge finals at the Miami Biltmore Country club in Coral Gables today.

Twenty-two winners of ten metropolitan cities including the Cuban champions, gathered at 8 o'clock Monday night and played without recess until 5 o'clock this morning. The Chicagoans' score was one hundred twenty-one match points out of a possible two hundred ten.

Milton C. Work, bridge authority and Mrs. Olive Peterson, twice women's national champion from Philadelphia, apparently tied for second and third places with Ernest Seibert and Sidney Katz from New York, but upon comparison of scores late today Seibert and Katz were given second place with Work and Mrs. Peterson relegated to third.

Shephard Barclay, chairman of the national tournament committee, pronounced the Doherty finals the closest international play ever held. A difference of only 16½ points separated the winners and the eleventh place.

The Chicagoans were playing in the individual winter championship tourney tonight.

At Lucy Flower High It's Called Hygiene.

BY VIRGINIA GARDNER.

"Now use a soothing, sliding motion from the forehead to the cheekbone—smooth away those trouble lines—get your subject to relax," chants an instructor's voice. In time with the chant four young girls industriously smooth away the "trouble lines" from the brows of four other young girls seated before them.

The voice is that of a teacher in the public schools, addressing a class in beauty culture, called "personal hygiene." The class is gathered in a sunny room of the Lucy Flower High school, Central Park avenue and Fulton boulevard, Chicago's technical school for girls.

The study of beauty culture is one of many recent departures in public school education which, as characterized by Miss Dora Wells, principal of Lucy Flower High school, "are the product of a sincere effort to fit pupils for daily life."

Defends "Hygiene" Course.

"Our personal hygiene course has been attacked," Miss Wells said, "but it is, above all, practical, as is our course in cafeteria management, our millinery course, our costume making, our child care study. We are primarily interested in preparing girls to be good housewives and mothers with the ability to use their incomes intelligently."

A girl who is to be graduated from the two-year vocational course in the Lucy Flower High school is required to take either beauty culture—a 40-week course consisting of two periods a day—or millinery and dressmaking.

In each of the two rooms equipped for the study of beauty culture are four large chairs of the type usually seen in barber shops, where a pupil may recline and master the art of relaxation while another pupil gives her a facial or a shampoo, a manicure or a marcelle wave.

All Kinds of Equipment.

In each of the large desks in the room is an electric outlet. The girls set their trays, irons, burners, and other equipment from cabinets and drawers. For the first 10 weeks of their 40 week course they work on artificial switches, also a part of their equipment.

One room has an elaborate double lavatory arrangement in the center, with all the facilities for shampooing. In the other classroom the teacher complains of poor equipment. Here there are only two or three wall lavatories or sinks, without the central arrangement.

Around the walls of the rooms are photographs of movie stars and their chosen coiffures, pictures of women in bathing suits sitting down correctly and again sitting down incorrectly, and on the blackboard are written various lessons and rules.

One was: "Insert iron in the middle of where the next wave must be. Turn iron over quickly and slide to position for next ridge."

As the lesson begins two girls in the front row of desks lean forward on their elbows, gazing languidly and with approval in the mirror. Their artificially waved hair, blonde and worn flowing in the fashion of one of the movie stars smiling from the wall, and their rouged lips and cheeks give evidence that they take their lessons seriously.

About one-fourth of the girls who complete the beauty culture course go to beauty culture schools later, it was explained. The state law requires girls to take a certain number of hours in a standard beauty operators' school before they can get licenses, regardless of the number of hours they have spent in beauty culture study in high school.

Miss Callahan Explains.

One teacher of beauty culture, Miss Mae Callahan, explained that the high school course helps a girl in assuming a part of a woman's home duties, "the care of her husband's hair and skin and that of her children."

Another value, Miss Callahan said, lies in teaching the girls "self expression in grooming." They learn not only to give but to receive manicures and facials, shampoos and scalp treatment, either a tar tonic, sulphur ointment or witch hazel rub, she said.

"As the school's art department is based on the idea of personal attractiveness," Miss Callahan said, "it dovetails nicely with our beauty culture department. In their art classes the girls learn what colors to wear with their types of complexion, what lines go with their figures, and so on. We teach them what lines and patterns of waves in hair are becoming."

In the Millinery Rooms.

In the rooms devoted to millinery, wooden blocks for shaping hat crowns are at each desk. Sewing machines are near the windows. A separate steam room has all the equipment for steaming hats and shaping them.

"Our motto is: 'Above all, the correct hat,'" said Miss Loretta Kenney, head of the millinery department.

"We strive to teach both manual dexterity and the intelligent use of income.

"We use the French drape method. When I was in the Agnes salon in Paris I found that their method of adapting line to the individual was precisely the same as ours.

"We also teach the girl to consider facial contour, height and coloring as well as style. We train her so that when she goes down to buy a hat she will get the most for her money. Then again, we teach that personality must be considered. If a girl's personality is in her eyes, she should wear a brimless hat, even though the contour of her face is round."

If a girl buys material new, her hat costs from 75 cents up, the girl herself paying for it, Miss Kenney said. Many now make hats from old clothes, however, she said. In ordinary times many of her pupils get jobs as milliners on leaving school, she said.

DR. STONE, NOTED ASTRONOMER, IS KILLED BY AUTO

Fairfax, Va., Jan. 17.—(AP)—Dr. Ormond Stone, noted astronomer, was killed near here today when struck by an automobile while he was walking along the road.

Dr. Stone was 86 years old. Before retiring from the Carnegie Foundation he was professor of astronomy at the University of Virginia and director of the Leander McCormick observatory at Charlottesville.

Earlier he had been assistant director of the Naval observatory in Washington and director of the Cincinnati observatory.

He was a brother of the late Melville E. Stone, who was for more than a quarter of a century general manager of the Associated Press.

FURNISHINGS OF BLACKSTONE TO BE SOLD TODAY

Paul G. Evans, receiver for the Blackstone hotel, now closed under a foreclosure action brought by the Metropolitan Life Insurance company, last night announced that the furnishings of the hotel would be sold today by Federal Judge James H. Wilkerson. A previous bid of $100,000 for the furnishings and good will, made by the Metropolitan company, was turned down by the Continental Illinois National Bank and Trust company, holder of a $273,000 chattel mortgage. Evans refused to give the amount of the bid or the name of the bidder, but said the bid was for more than that submitted by the insurance company.

SEVEN WOMEN OFFER TO ADOPT 'DOORSTEP BABY'

Seven women visited the Holy Cross hospital yesterday and offered to adopt the seven pound girl with blonde hair found on the doorstep of Richard Johnson, 7150 South Mozart street, early Sunday. The baby was a few hours old, according to the sisters at the hospital, who said she was suffering from exposure. At present the baby is being kept in an incubator until any possibility of permanent injury from exposure is past. After that it will be taken to St. Vincent's orphanage and efforts made to locate the parents.

NOW! PILES MEET THEIR WATERLOO!

No more pain! No more itching or scratching! No more torture when you sit or walk! No more torture at the stool! The relief of Piles has now been solved. No matter what the form of Piles you suffer from—genuine relief for you lies in Pazo Ointment.

Pazo not only stops the pain and itching and makes defecation easy but it tends to correct the condition of Piles as a whole. This is because Pazo is threefold in effect. It is (1) soothing, (2) healing, (3) absorbing. Thus, it not only allays the inflammation and repairs torn tissue, but actually reduces the swollen blood vessels which are Piles. The method of application makes Pazo doubly effective (see picture below). Thousands say it saved them the need of a painful operation. Try Pazo yourself and realize from one trial that your days of pile suffering are over. All drug stores sell Pazo in Collapsible Tube with special Pile Pipe, complete for 75c.

Perforated Pile Pipe attached to Collapsible Tube Makes Application Correct and Easy

The PAZO Collapsible Tube and Perforated Pile Pipe make it very easy to apply the Ointment high up in the rectum where it can reach and thoroughly cover all the affected parts. Complete internal treatment in all cases of Piles is most important.

HOUDINI'S MILK CAN ESCAPE

ILLUSION:
One of Houdini's most spectacular escape feats was performed with a huge milk can filled with water. He invited persons of the audience to bring padlocks and lock him into the can. He got into the can, the lid was put on and fastened with several padlocks. A screen was placed in front of the can. Assistants stood by with stop watches and fire axes to save him from drowning after a certain time. About a minute later, the screen was removed, Houdini was seen panting and dripping . . . the padlocks remaining intact!

EXPLANATION:
The usual method of escaping from a milk can is as follows: The lid of the can is apparently securely padlocked to the lower portion, but actually the metal band to which the staples are attached is the top of a short inner lining. The performer, after being locked into the can, pushes the lid upward with his head and the short inner lining is forced out of place, permitting his escape. The screen is then removed.

IT'S FUN TO BE FOOLED ...IT'S MORE FUN TO KNOW

What exciting magic there is in cigarette advertising!

Let's look at one of its greatest illusions...that cigarettes can be mysteriously given superior "FLAVOR."

THE EXPLANATION: Just three factors control the flavor of a cigarette. The addition of artificial flavoring...the blending of various tobaccos...and the quality of the tobaccos themselves. Quality is the most important. Artificial flavoring can never wholly disguise the poor flavor of cheap tobaccos. The blending of several cheap, raw tobaccos cannot improve the flavor of any of them. A fine cigarette is a cigarette blended from costly, ripe tobaccos.

It is a fact, well known by leaf tobacco experts, that Camels are made from finer, MORE EXPENSIVE tobaccos than any other popular brand.

This is why the Camel flavor has never been rivaled...why Camels have given more pleasure to more people than any other cigarette ever made.

It's the tobacco that counts.

All the natural goodness of Camel's tobacco is kept fresh and rich for you by the air-tight, welded Humidor Pack. Don't remove it. Its moisture-proof cellophane also protects your Camels from dust and germs. Put a pack in your pocket today.

TAX TABLES SHOW WAY TO RELIEF.

Wisconsin, which has gained a reputation as a laboratory for legislative adventures, has tried almost every conceivable experiment in tax relief except the obvious one of reduction of government costs and activities.

In the last score of years there have been added income taxes, gasoline taxes, oleomargarine taxes and inheritance taxes. There have been added surtaxes, chain store taxes, bonus taxes, pension taxes, relief taxes, and ton mile taxes. Most of these have been adopted with a promise that they would reduce property taxes.

The futility of these promises is shown in a series of county tax tables prepared for THE TRIBUNE by R. O. Wipperman, Wisconsin tax analyst. Mr. Wipperman has reduced the problem of cutting taxes to how, when, and where. He has shown that while these supplemental taxes have grown from eight million to nearly 67 million dollars in 20 years the property taxes they were to relieve have increased from 33 to 106 million. He has shown that whatever was promised each new law meant only higher and higher bills for the taxpayer.

Almost the only thing that has grown as fast as tax levies has been tax delinquencies, which have increased from a nominal three million dollars in 1920 to 33 million in 1932, with the end nowhere in sight.

The charts in THE TRIBUNE have shown that 15 industrial counties in Wisconsin are paying to the state millions of dollars each year for distribution among the unsettled cutover counties to maintain these less populous communities in a style which their stage of development does not justify. These state aids, properly conceived to insure the poorer counties a sufficient system of elementary education, have increased until they are bleeding the richer counties to death and exhausting the poorer communities to support their shares of the enterprises on which the receipt of state funds is based.

Into all these special taxes the state dips its own hand, while tax delinquency increases and the industrial counties are hard put to raise funds to support their own burden of idle men. If the state and the cities were to take title to all the land to which tax delinquencies entitle them the Socialist ideal of public ownership would now be a long way toward actual accomplishment.

No governor in Wisconsin has been called upon to face the financing problems that Gov. Schmedeman must solve and no legislature has had such need for a clear understanding of the dangers that threaten the state unless ruthless saving is practiced.

The studies on taxation in THE TRIBUNE show there is no relief in legislative gymnastics that seek only to find some new name for a tax or a new source from which to collect it. They could well serve the legislature as the basis for corrective laws that will mark a new era in taxation, one of helpful economy rather than unlimited and unwanted expansion.

The situation in Wisconsin exists in many other states and in its basic elements in the federal government. Drastic retrenchment of public expenditure is the paramount issue of the nation today, the main key to recovery. All other devices aimed at revival are of secondary importance.

WOLVES AND WATCHDOGS.

A responsibility of the Chicago bar with which it should no longer procrastinate is the raising of the level of character and competency of the Municipal court.

That court is, in a sense more intimate than the Circuit and Superior courts, the court of the people. It reaches more of them directly and in matters of great concern to their happiness and welfare. It is the court in which the troubles of the citizen of narrow means and small influence as an individual appear, where errors and injustices bearing most destructively upon the suitor are presented for relief or removal. It is also a testing ground for candidates for the higher courts.

That the judiciary of this court is in many instances unsatisfactory no responsible member of the Chicago bar will deny. It includes incompetents and worse than incompetents. Its most deserving members are under the pressure of politics and perform their duties often at the risk of political punishment. Character as well as legal competency are therefore essential to this court, as indeed in others, but perhaps even more.

As for the bar, the community has long turned to it as a body especially concerned with the operations of the courts and especially fitted to pass upon their administration and their personnel. The recommendations of the Bar association upon judicial candidates are almost uniformly followed by enough voters to be effectual. Both self-interest as practitioners and duty as citizens require the censorship of the administration of the law by lawyers and the Bar association should feel assured by the press and public's attitude towards its advice to broaden its function.

We think, irksome and delicate as fearless performance must be, that the bar should survey the Municipal court judiciary searchingly, and rigidly apply adequate tests of character and professional efficiency to all members and all candidates for these offices. They should divide incumbents and candidates into the wolves and the watchdogs, and should report with faithful candor upon them all.

The result, we are confident, would be the prompt raising of the level of our magistracy, a service of greatest importance and benefit to the community, and one the community is justified in demanding of the legal fraternity. Indeed, its performance would redound to the credit and advantage of the profession of the law and its practitioners, now often disparaged as self-seeking and of dubious ethics, and it would increase its proper influence over legislation for the betterment of law and its administration.

A CONGRESS OF BUSINESS.

A cartoon by Mr. Orr the other day contained a suggestion of great value. He proposed a national convention of the leaders of business and industry to formulate a policy which, when adopted, would establish a foundation for economic recovery.

To be sure, there is a United States Chamber of Commerce which has attempted with some success to hammer out such a program, but the deliberations of the chamber lack the dramatic quality which is needed if the decisions are to make a proper impression upon the nation and its legislative bodies, particularly the congress.

It becomes more obvious every day that nothing constructive can be expected from congress. A house which will vote in favor of the idiotic and destructive farm allotment bill and a senate which will allow a Hooey Long to tie its hands for a week while he drools out his inanities convict themselves of incompetence. The most that can be expected of this congress is a fumbling ability to follow a strong leadership.

The emergency is such that business men who would much rather confine their attention to their own immediate affairs can no longer afford to do so. They must assume the rôle of statesmen. Unlike the great majority of elected representatives, they do not have to yield to the prejudices of organized minorities. They can speak out frankly and what they have to say will be listened to by the country.

Today in this country every special interest is vocal except the interest of the men whose enterprises provide most of the jobs and all the economic leadership. It is high time that this type of citizen is called into council. As individuals, the business and industrial leaders of the country are powerless to accomplish much. Collectively they may be able to formulate a program which will hasten the recovery.

FRAUD IN VETERANS' PAYMENTS.

United States District Judge Barnes deserves the taxpayers' gratitude for not only defeating what was evidently a fraudulent claim for war disability but directing a grand jury investigation. As a racket veterans' relief has been growing rapidly and the law in some respects has the appearance of being framed to make the racket profitable and frauds comparatively easy. Assistant District Attorney Healy, who had charge of war risk claims for the government for two years, estimates that approximately 30% were fraudulent.

This evil is inevitable, human nature being what it is, but it can be greatly restricted by alert and energetic administration of the law. The inquiry initiated by Judge Barnes should provide information which congress can use, if it will, to correct the weaknesses of existing laws. The refusal of fraudulent claims implies nothing unfriendly to the honest ex-service man, and the demand which is growing for restraint of excessive expenditures will certainly include such legislation and administration as will prevent frauds and punish conspiracies to rob the funds voted for legitimate relief.

The enormous sum annually devoted to veteran payments in various forms has created the richest field for the grafter, the unscrupulous lawyer and medical man that has been opened to them in our time. They will thrive for a generation upon it and the diversion of public money to their profit ought to be kept as thin a stream as possible.

Editorial of the Day

[New York World-Telegram.]

You should know about Bill Plummer, southern Maryland's absentee master bootlegger. For his is a story with a moral.

It seems that Bill got his start in a big way by tipping the "federals" whenever a newcomer invaded his bailiwick. So helpful did he become to Uncle Sam that he was granted a sort of unofficial certificate of public necessity and convenience. The peculiar relations between Bill and our government at Washington were described by Deputy Prohibition Administrator William L. Blanford of the District of Columbia to Judge Chestnut in Baltimore. The conversation, as reported, follows:

JUDGE CHESTNUT—What do you know about this man Plummer?

MR. BLANFORD—I know he's a notorious bootlegger. He's the best informer I've got.

JUDGE—How many times has he assisted you?

MR. BLANFORD—About twenty times. He always asks for liquor, but he never gets any.

JUDGE—Why should he keep on asking for liquor if he never gets any?

MR. BLANFORD—Well, the truth is Bill Plummer is the king of the bootleggers in Calvert county. He doesn't want any outside competition. When somebody else enters his territory he lets us know and we go down and make a seizure.

This cordial arrangement might have persisted but for the base ingratitude of man. Some weeks ago a government truck full of seized liquor was hijacked in the heart of the Plummer kingdom. Mr. Plummer himself could not be found, but three defendants testified that he had ordered the hijacking raid.

IN A STEW ABOUT IT.

Restaurant Patron—Waiter, do you call this an oyster stew? The oyster in this stew isn't big enough to flavor it.

Waiter—Well, suh, dat oystah was not put in to flavor it, suh. He's jes' supposed to christen it.—Pathfinder.

A LINE O' TYPE OR TWO

How to the Line, let the quips fall where they may.

THE GERMANS CLAIM to have a new "foolproof" airplane. Like perpetual motion—thar hain't no sech animule. Not even the simplest things can be made foolproof. Take a lead pencil. Is there anything simpler than a lead pencil? If there's one thing on earth that ought to be foolproof it's a lead pencil. But we heard of a man who wrote a letter to his girl friend with a lead pencil and his wife got a divorce and now he's in jail for nonpayment of alimony.

AND TAKE snow for another example. Fleecy, white, beautiful snow, falling so sweetly to and fro. Could there be anything more foolproof than snow? We ask you. But did you ever get a snowball right in the eye? Foolproof! There is nothing foolproof.

OLD SONGS AND NEW.

My lips have hummed to every tune
That men and women know;
To restless urge of sudden springs,
And quietude of snow!

My ears have listened to the sound
Of raindrops down gray eaves;
My eyes have blinked to silhouettes
Of moon-lit barren trees!

My hands have felt the sorrow-grooves
Across a loved one's brow—
My heart has flashed against the rope,
And sang of spade and plow!

No tune is alien to my lips—
Yet—when I sing of You—
Each old and ragged-edged refrain—
Seems—new—new—new!

ROSA ZAGNONI MARINONI.

THE SENATE joined the house yesterday and overrode the President's veto and granted the Philippines freedom in twelve years. But did they vote to grant freedom to these United States of America and give us beer by the Fourth of July or next Christmas or in twelve or twenty or fifty years? They did not.

IT SEEMS TO BE the general newspaper opinion that a letter written by G. Bernard Shaw sold at auction in New York a few days ago for $2,700 because G. Bernard in beginning an address to an American radio audience said, "Look, you boobs." There may be something in it. Look how we Americans loved to have Texas Guinan greet us with her "Hello, Sucker!" Maybe if G. Bernard had cheerily said to his American audience, "Listen, nitwits and sapheads," his manuscript letter might have sold for $10,000. Anyhow, Mr. Shaw may take the hint. So we're not going to listen in the next time he makes a radio address to an American audience. Whatever he says we are we don't want to be it.

THE LONG, ELABORATE reviewing stand for the Roosevelt inaugural, the center a replica of Federal hall in New York from which the late G. Washington took the oath as first President, does not look much like Jeffersonian simplicity. Tom just jogged in on his hoss, tied the nag to a fence and went over to the capitol and was sworn in. If they had built a big fussy reviewing stand for old Thomas J. they would have had to blindfold him and back him in.

SLUMBER SONG.

Softly, softly, Night, into your keeping
I yield this drowsy child against my breast.
Kindle fairy dreams to star her sleeping

She is so very little and so tender,
And yet she is my earth, my skies, my light.
Only to gentle arms would I surrender
One so small and dear, O mother Night.

ADELAIDE LOVE.

ASST. GREETER DOOLEY of Chicago has returned from a tour around the country and declares that 75,000,000 visitors will come to our World's Fair next summer. Which is just half of the total number of inhabitants of the U. S. and Canada. Either the Democrats or the Republicans ought to hire Greeter Dooley and appoint him national chairman and let him name his salary. What a wonderful forecast he could give of the number of votes his party would receive in the next election.

Go Ahead—It's the Open Season.

TOMATO JUICE.

THIS is the season in which the general run of foods are deficient in vitamin C and, in consequence, between now and May an increasing number of people will show symptoms of mild scurvy.

Among these mild symptoms are: A slight sponginess of the gums with some tendency to bleeding and, at times, a little soreness. Some of the mild joint pains and stiffness that is dismissed with the name rheumatic are due to scurvy.

Most persons will have no symptoms of scurvy, unless it be that yearning for spring garden stuff, or even for a spring tonic or sassafras tea. In some way or other almost all of us feel the need of antiscorbutic foods at some time in the winter. Improved transportation and cold storage have done much to lessen scurvy. Those who can afford them can have oranges, pineapples, grapefruit, lemons, and other vitamin C foods out of season.

We credit a sea captain with having made the discovery that eating fresh stuff would prevent scurvy, and we credit the British shipping control for compelling the adoption into practice of the discovery. Alongside these entries on the scroll of fame should be written railroads, steamships, cold storage warehouses, refrigerator cars, pre-cooling stations, rapid low temperature refrigeration and, last, but far from least, cans.

This winter the necessity of watching the budget closely is abroad in the land. No source of vitamin C is superior to the tomato. The juice of this vegetable is rich in vitamin C and fairly so in A and, perhaps, B complex. It is a fine source of minerals and is one of those alkali ash foods so necessary in the winter season when the staple foods, meats, eggs, breads, and cereals, are acid ash producers and need balancing.

All other vitamin C foods are somewhat instable—that is, so far as concerns their main vitamin. They do not withstand ageing, exposure to air or to sunlight, rough handling, or heating. We know that the best fruit is that plucked from the tree when just ready to fall, and eaten then and there, preferably with the dew on it and unwashed, when that is feasible. This is due in part to the greater vitamin C content of such fruit.

But tomato juice is an old truck horse. It can withstand all kinds of knocking around without being harmed. It is better canned than fresh. It is valuable and inexpensive. It is not necessary to throw away the juice that is left unused after a meal. But there is one caution and it is important. It should not be served smothered with sauces and spices. Tomato juice is a wholesome food. When smothered with condiments it is not. Let canners beware that they do not kill the goose that lays the golden eggs.

COLD SORE EXPERT.

Bill writes: Regarding your recent article on how to treat cold sores, I've had them all my life, but have learned several things about them in the last few years.

1. By far the best medicine I've found is resorcin applied with a damp cloth held over the sore for a half minute or so. This takes most of the puff out of the blister in its sorest stages, lessens its bloody appearance, and starts a protective scab to forming.

2. Two oranges a day keep the cold sores away in most seasons.

3. A breaking-out of cold sores, accompanied by blisters on hands, feet, face, etc., may result from a scarcity of protein in diet, particularly in summer, when the subject is getting a greatly increased amount of exercise without proportionately increased intake of protein.

HE SNORES.

J. H. writes: I am 23 years old and snore very loudly. Is there a cure?

REPLY.

Removal of tonsils and adenoids cures some cases. Wearing a face stall, or holding the lower jaw up with a cap and bandages, or holding the lips together with adhesive is of some service. Some train themselves to sleep on the side and thus to keep the mouth closed during sleep.

FRIEND AND FRIEND.

Mrs. W. writes: I have a friend who has great faith in you and she doesn't in me. She is 55 years old and is afraid her face will wrinkle, so she rubs it with ice cubes. I say it is dangerous.

REPLY.

Your friend is right and you are wrong. I suppose I keep a friend but fail to make another.

FRIEND OF THE PEOPLE

ADMINISTRATOR OR EXECUTOR?

Cicero, Ill., Jan. 13.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—My parents left a piece of property which was to be equally divided among twelve children. 1. The oldest was named administrator. The parents died five years ago. During all these years I, as one of the heirs, have not seen a cent of this income from the property. 2. Is not the administrator supposed to give an account of same now and then? He claims the bank closed in which the money was kept. W. Y.

1. The term "administrator" is properly used only in case there is no will so that the court appoints a personal representative. An administrator so appointed does not necessarily have anything to do with the management of the real estate.

2. Depends on the facts as to his appointment.

TRIBUNE LAW DEPARTMENT.

HUSBAND NOT LIABLE.

Chicago, Jan. 13.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—Before I married I bought a fur coat in Indiana. The owner changed hands with a man in Chicago after I had already paid for it. Now, after six years, the second owner is trying to collect the balance that I paid after I moved to Chicago. I have not kept the receipts. He has threatened to have my husband's wages stopped. 1. Can he do this? I have a money order stub of the last payment I made on this coat. 2. Is it of any value? E. P.

1. No. Even if you had not paid, your husband would not be liable.

2. Yes. Even without this proof we see no reason why your oral testimony should not be as good as that of the seller's if the question comes up in court.

TRIBUNE LAW DEPARTMENT.

FROM THE TRIBUNE'S COLUMNS

16 YEARS AGO TODAY

JANUARY 18, 1917.

RIO JANEIRO.—Reports here are that the German raider which for a month past has been sinking vessels of the allied powers in the South Atlantic encountered a tartar when it took a Japanese ship. The officers of the captured craft refused to surrender and were shot. Latest reports fix the number of vessels destroyed at fifteen. Survivors of the destroyed vessels to the number of 237 have been landed at Pernambuco. One supposition is that the raider is the German auxiliary cruiser Vineta, and another is that it is either the Moewe itself or a sister ship. Every detail in regard to the ship's construction seems to fit this latter theory.

WASHINGTON.—The entente allies, in a note addressed by Arthur Balfour, British foreign minister, to Ambassador Spring-Rice and delivered to the state department, amplify their reply to President Wilson's peace note by explaining in detail why they believe it impossible at present to attain a peace which will assure such guarantees as they consider essential. The note also explains why the allies demand the expulsion of Turkey from Europe; restoration of Alsace-Lorraine to France, of Italia Irredenta to Italy, and other territorial changes. Those who think the future peace of the world may be insured by international treaties and international laws, the note says, have ill learned the lessons taught by recent history.

WAR SUMMARY. — Petrograd reports the recapture by the Russians of the town of Vadeni, southwest of Galitz, in Rumania. Petrograd also states that the Germans were beaten off by the Rumanians southwest of Pralta. Berlin says heavy enemy attacks between Kasino and Suchitza valleys failed except at one point, and reports the defeat of enemy attacks near Smorgon, on the Russian front. The German general, Von Falkenhayn has arrived in Larissa and Elasona after a submarine or airship trip from the captured port of Kavola, Greece. His presence near the center of the massing point of large Greek forces has mystified Great Britain just at the moment of King Constantine's avowed submission to all the demands of the entente. The Greek troops have given the allies further alarm by reported movements north beyond the "deadline" extending west from Ekaterina, despite an agreement to withdraw south of Peloponnesus. The allied troops at Saloniki are keeping their eyes doubly open, fearful of an attack from the south by the Grecian troops. A commission, including British and Italian military authorities, is forming in Athens "to oversee the agreed transfer of Greek troops into Peloponnesus."

BERLIN. — Charles J. Vopicka of Chicago, American minister to Rumania, who remained in Bucharest after the removal of the Rumanian government to Jassy, and whose withdrawal was requested by the German government, arrived in Berlin to await instructions from Washington. Mr. Vopicka indignantly denied a story circulated in Europe and printed here that Mr. Sadler, American vice consul at Ploechti, assisted in the destruction of Rumanian oil properties on the approach of the Germans.

CHICAGO.—A middle road between the "blind reactionaries" on the one hand and "foolish radicalism" on the other was advocated by Medill McCormick, congressman at large elect, as the ideal road for the American government to follow after the European war. He spoke at a dinner given for him at the Midday club in celebration of his election to congress. He said that between the two extremes there is an "intelligent liberalism" that should be adopted by the government in working out the complex problems the nation will face shortly and already is facing.

CHICAGO.—Several members of the Chicago Board of Trade will be called before the federal grand jury today to tell what they know of the cause of the high cost of food and the manipulation of prices by dealers.

AN ALIMONY STORY.

Homewood, Ill., Jan. 12.—I have followed the series of articles on the alimony racket very closely, because I am an interested party in just such a suit as described in today's article.

My wife left me three years ago, after we had been married three and one-half years, taking with her all our furniture, which was about all we had to show as a result of our marriage. She filed suit for divorce almost at once, charging cruelty, and in February, 1930, Judge Sabath awarded her temporary alimony of $50 per month. This I paid for twenty-three months, until December, 1931, when her suit was dismissed on the motion of her attorney, whom I had paid $75. Within nine days she went into the Circuit court, and on the same charges, word for word, filed suit for separate maintenance.

It was several months before the papers were served on me, and when the case finally was set for hearing before Judge Daniel Trude I took a change of venue, since he had not acquired any too enviable a record in his handling of divorce cases. The case went to Judge Hood, who called my wife and her attorney a couple of racketeers in open court, and they took a change of venue from him. Judge Finnegan finally heard the matter and granted her $8 a week, but allowed no further solicitor's fees. This money I have been paying since last July and it now amounts to about $250.

I expect the case will be up within the the next six weeks, and it may be settled finally, as I have filed a cross bill for divorce. However, the workings of the law have been so intricate so far it's hard to see just what may happen in the future.

In the meantime I have been deprived of the privilege of marrying and having a family. Nearly seven years of my life have been spent taking care of a woman who lived with me only half that time, and who left me broke, and has kept me that way ever since, and who would bear me no children while she lived with me. It is self-evident that any measures which may be introduced in the state legislature to curb such racketeers will receive my heartiest indorsement. A.

SEPARATE MAINTENANCE.

Chicago, Jan. 12.—The separate maintenance law is nothing more than a weapon of spite in the hands of vicious and unscrupulous women—a bludgeon to hold over the head of a man, sometimes throughout his entire life, to drain money from him and to prevent him from remarriage and the right to a real home and a decent, useful life. This law, as it is written, should be, and, God grant, soon will be, abolished.

READER.

AFTER THE H. O. STONE CASE.

Chicago, Jan. 7.—Now that the officers of the fraudulent H. O. Stone & Co. have received sentences for their crimes, should not the prosecutor act against the governors of the Chicago Stock exchange for dereliction in allowing this and many other fraudulent concerns to deceive and defraud middle west investors out of millions by listing and manipulating their stocks on that exchange?

How could the governors fail to know the public was being defrauded through the machinery of the exchange? Let's have a stock exchange in Chicago that does not act as a trap for investors.

INVESTOR.

A TAX COMPLAINT.

Evanston, Ill., Jan. 9.—May I have access to your valued column for the purpose of calling attention to the utter lack of system as regards the functioning of the Cook county personal assessment list for 1931?

For 32 years I have resided in Evanston and for 24 years of that period have been a member of the faculty of Northwestern university. Naturally my taxes, both real and personal, have always been paid at the Evanston township office. On Monday and Thursday afternoons of each week I sublet studio space in the Fine Arts building, 410 South Michigan avenue. Notwithstanding the fact that I own none of the furnishings thereto appertaining, year after year I receive notices of a property assessment at that address, necessitating my taking the trouble to write to the proper authority requesting that my name and any amount assessed thereto be taken from the south town tax roll.

This year, to make the matter more ridiculous, I am assessed $278 on property which I do not own, whereas in the same list the real owner of the property and the party from whom I sublet the above mentioned space is assessed $130. So much for the vaunted efficiency of the widely heralded new régime under Assessor J. L. Jacobs. Small wonder that the harassed taxpayers now and then begin to see red. W. A. STULTS.

A HOODLUM'S FUNERAL.

Tinley Park, Ill., Jan. 12.—Reading of the elaborate funeral accorded Ted Newberry, the notorious gangster and racketeer, I was surprised to note that Yarmo Devere post of the American Legion took an active part in the ceremonies. How can these legionnaires reconcile themselves with the preamble of their constitution in which they pledge themselves to uphold and defend the constitution of the United States of America, to maintain law and order, and to foster and perpetuate a 100 per cent Americanism?

In bestowing the ceremonial rites of the Legion upon a known violator of law and order they bring upon themselves and their organization justifiable criticism and unpleasant notoriety. They make a mockery of rites which should only be accorded to a veteran who has lived as a man and a law abiding citizen.

FRANK HOAR,

INSURED SUICIDES.

Chicago, Jan. 8.—In this day there are many suicides which are causing an unnecessary drain on the cash accounts of life insurance companies. This should be remedied. My thought on the subject is that in the case of a suicide the insurance company should be allowed to remit to the beneficiary the premiums paid in, plus a nominal rate of interest. Not only do the suicides help remove cash from the insurance companies but also they increase the premium, decrease the dividends. These suicides cause an extra expense to all who are striving to keep their insurance.

CHARLES M. DREES.

HOW DEBTS ARE PAID.

Chicago, Jan. 6.—The slogan, "Buy American," sounds very patriotic and no doubt has a very lofty purpose. But would some one of THE TRIBUNE'S many readers kindly explain to me just how we can expect any of our foreign debtors to settle their debts owed us, war or otherwise, if we refuse to buy their products? LEWIS SPRIETSMA.

WOTTA LIFE! WOTTA LIFE!

AMERICA LOSES AS FIRST TO TOP MOUNT EVEREST

Britons Beat McKinley Out of His Plans.

New York, Jan. 17.—[Special.]—America has been deprived of the chance of being the first to conquer the world's loftiest peak, Mount Everest. Not only has this country been eliminated from participation in what promises to be the outstanding aerial conquest of the year, but the very plans of the American expedition for the exploration of the Himalaya heights have been adopted by the expedition of another country.

Capt. Ashley C. McKinley, who as photographer flew over the south pole with Admiral Richard E. Byrd, and who headed the American expedition to fly over Mount Everest, made the disclosure here today.

Deceived by Britons.

Capt. McKinley accuses a British expedition of appropriating his ideas and plans for the exploration, and declares in no uncertain terms that he did not receive fair treatment from the British member of his projected expedition. This member, he says, took an active part in the formation of the all-British exploration party.

"I never expected the treament I received in this case," Capt. McKinley said today as he recounted the details of his preparations and those of the British.

"They obtained from me the details of my flight over the summit of Mount Everest under the guise of assisting me with my preparations, and then when I came back to the States they organized an all-British expedition to beat the Americans to it. It may be ethical, but I cannot see it.

Used His Contacts.

"Why, members of the expedition even used my contacts to obtain permission for the flight," he said.

The flyer has a sheaf of telegrams and cable messages, letters on official paper and notes from persons high in the social and official life of London, and other material to support his story.

The idea of flying over Mount Everest was conceived by Capt. McKinley more than eighteen months ago during a chat with a group of flying friends.

PRIVATE RITES TO BE HELD FOR SLAIN SHERIFF

Private funeral services will be held tomorrow in Crown Point for Sheriff Roy F. Holley of Lake county, Indiana, who was slain Monday night by Michael Lantare, 67 years old, crazed farmer, who fought a four hour gun battle with 100 policemen and deputy sheriffs before he killed himself.

Plans for a public funeral were rejected by the widow, Mrs. Lillian Holley. It is expected, however, that a public memorial service will be held. Burial will be at Sheriff Holley's birthplace, Morocco, Ind. The Rev. W. B. Taylor of the United Brethren church, Gary, will officiate.

A Democratic caucus held at Crown Point yesterday decided to offer the remaining two years of the sheriff's term to the widow. It was considered unlikely, however, that she would accept.

That Lantare killed himself just before a group of policemen broke into his barricaded farm home and fired a burst of machine gun bullets at him was established yesterday by Coroner's Physician J. R. Doty. A medical examination showed that Lantare's death was caused by a revolver bullet fired by Lantare into the roof of his mouth. There were seven other wounds on the body, apparently from machine gun bullets.

Seven men were wounded in the battle. One of them, Policeman Edward Haack of Gary, was reported in a critical condition last night. He was struck in the face by five shotgun pellets.

DISMISS CHARGES OF GIRLS AGAINST STICKNEY POLICE

Justice of the Peace Martin McGrath of Oak Park, yesterday dismissed charges brought by two Negro girls against Chief of Police Charles Novotny, Lieut. Alfred Young and Policeman August Wernecke of the Stickney force, and Paul Fayette, a salesman of Berwyn.

The chief and the lieutenant were charged with malfeasance, and the patrolman was accused of attempted rape. Fayette was charged with rape. Justice McGrath held the charges against Chief Novotny and Lieut. Young to be baseless, and said that the evidence against Wernecke was insufficient. Fayette established an alibi.

The girls are Juanita Darty, 16 years old, and her sister, Lena, 14, both of 4330 Vincennes avenue. They testified four men kidnaped them and took them to Stickney, where the men raped them.

Morton Gets New Stay from U. S. Prison Sentence

Paul Morton, brother of "Nails" Morton, early prohibition gangster who was killed by a fall from a horse, was granted a further stay of his sentence to 18 months in prison for liquor law violation when the United States Circuit Court of Appeals recalled its mandate ordering his immediate imprisonment. The mandate, which was issued earlier in the day when Morton failed to perfect his appeal to the United States Supreme court, was recalled on the plea of defense attorneys that the appeal would be perfected shortly.

Aug. Binswanger, Yale '67, Will Be 89 Tomorrow

Augustus Binswanger, believed to be the oldest living graduate of Yale in Chicago, will celebrate his 89th birthday tomorrow in his home at the Sherry hotel, 1725 East 53d street. He was graduated from Yale in 1867 and has practiced law in Chicago since 1888. Mr. Binswanger lived in Washington from 1862 to 1865 and attended a number of "levees" at the White House where he met President Lincoln.

LOOP'S STORES READY FOR RUSH OF DOLLAR DAY

Tomorrow's Big Event for Shoppers.

BY KATHLEEN McLAUGHLIN.

Amazing bargains will confront the shopper in Chicago's downtown stores tomorrow. For, by edict of the downtown business men, the dollar is going to swell up like a pouter pigeon, so far as its purchasing power is concerned. Dollar day tomorrow will not change the dimensions of the dollar bills, but, the merchants say, it will multiply its buying potentiality three, four, and even more times.

Loop in Carnival Array.

All of the downtown area is included in the vast commercial event, which represents a unified effort of all kinds of business to demonstrate to the Chicago public the power of the dollar. Its sponsors, among the oldest and most experienced minds on State street, predict that the day will bring the greatest buying throng in the history of the city to participate in the bargains offered.

Months have been spent in preparing for the event. The loop will be in festive array, such as it wears only for great municipal or national celebrations, to welcome the shopping multitudes. The purple and gold banners and pennants, streamers and placards will be everywhere, stretched across the thoroughfares, dangling from street lamps, beckoning from display windows, to indicate which stores and shops are coöperating in the event.

"Bargains!" exclaimed one store executive yesterday afternoon, surveying advertising proofs spread out on the desk before him. "Look! Silk dresses for $1. Four pairs of good quality silk hose for $1. Men's dress gloves for $1. Two pairs of house slippers for $1. Blankets, lace tablecloths, silk blouses, electric attachments, women's shoes of a nationally advertised brand, all with the $1 price tag.

"These are all extra special items, of course. Some stores will sell a limited number of men's suits, for instance, at $1. Others will have women's coats at $1, and so forth. But these are broken lines and must be discovered by the lucky purchasers first, for they won't last long.

Many Shops Coöperating.

"This isn't a profit making enterprise for the merchants. It's purely an effort to prove to the shopping public that the dollar has not lost its power. When you consider that not only the department stores but the small shops in various buildings are pledged to participate, you begin to realize the extent of this Dollar day.

"Beauty shops will be in on the Dollar day price cutting. Hardware stores, millinery shops, confectioneries, haberdashers, leather goods places, stationers and book stores, drug stores, shoe stores—every kind of store. All either prepared to sell a definite line of quality articles at $1 when they previously cost more, or to sell three or four good $1 articles for the price of one."

Shoppers from a seventy-five mile radius of Chicago are expected to come to the downtown district for this Dollar day. Railroads are preparing to run special trains, and hordes of additional salespeople have been hired for the occasion.

Although tremendous crowds are anticipated, the largest of the stores indicated that they did not expect to follow the experience of institutions in the suburbs, which at various times have closed their doors for a certain period against further comers while the customers inside completed their purchasing, and then admitted another capacity group.

HELD FOR SHOOTING WIFE.

Otto Stromer, 39 years old, 1419 West Addison street, who shot and seriously wounded his estranged wife in her apartment at 3511 North Damen avenue, was held in $10,000 bonds yesterday by Judge McKinley in the Felony court.

OPPONENTS TURN BARRAGE OF SONG ON REDS' MEETING

Blocked at Church Door by Policemen.

More than a hundred disapproving and patriotic residents of the north shore town listened last night to a lecture in the Unitarian church of Evanston, 1405 Chicago avenue, on the supposed excellence of soviet rule in Russia. Then they marched outside, assembled on the sidewalk, listened to their own speakers and sang "America."

Leading the protesting delegation were Mrs. Albert W. Dilling, 545 Essex road, Kenilworth, and Albert E. McKeighan of Wilmette, head of the Paul Reveres. They were backed by a detail of American Legion members.

Police Bar the Way.

After the singing some of the more hot headed opponents of sovietism wished to go back into the church and break up the meeting. At the door, however, they were met by Police Captain Charles Paasch and several of his men, who reminded them that Evanston isn't Russia and that those who had opposite government views would be protected from disorder.

The anti-communist forces accepted the mild rebuke and went home peaceably.

The principal pro-soviet address was made by Mrs. Romania Ferguson, colored, who recently returned from a course of study in the Lenin institute at Moscow. Her subject was "How the Soviet Solved the National Minorities Problem." After painting a rosy picture of conditions among the Russians and especially praising their "culture," Mrs. Ferguson said:

"Fourteen million Negroes in the United States ought to follow the revolutionary methods of those white workers."

Opponents Leave Meeting.

At the end of her speceh the burden of arguing in favor of communism was taken up by Albert Goldman, Chicago attorney. By the time he was well launched Mrs. Dilling and her group, about a third of the audience, had marched out.

On the sidewalk Mrs. Dilling made a brief speech, protesting against the preaching of sedition in Evanston churches, and was cheered. Municipal Judge Francis Borrelli of Chicago, who was present, but remained in the background, declared later that there was no question but that the church meeting, which was under the auspices of the International Labor Defense, was seditious.

The patriotic forces had complained last Friday when handbills advertising Mrs. Ferguson's speech were passed out at a meeting of the American Civil Liberties union in the First Methodist church of Evanston. Members of the union the next day protested that their organization was strictly American and that they were personally anti-communist.

TRIAL OF REDS BEGUN

Taking of testimony was started yesterday before Municipal Judge Frank M. Padden in the case of five women and two men, alleged communists, who are charged with inciting a riot on Nov. 23 in front of a relief station at North and Fairfield avenues. Police Capt. Gregory Moran said the riot started when the communists refused to present their grievances through a small committee and insisted on sending the whole delegation through police lines. Those on trial are Miss Gene Cohen, Mrs. Eva Arkin, Mrs. Minnie Freeman, Mrs. Minnie Gibbs, Mrs. Elizabeth Kubin, David Gold, and William Janssen. The trial will be resumed today.

JOHN R. ROWLAND, PIONEER ILLINOIS TEACHER, IS DEAD

John R. Rowland, teacher and school principal in Fulton and Knox counties for fifty years, died yesterday at his home in Galesburg. He was 72 years old and had been ill for two years.

Mr. Rowland was graduated from the National Normal university at Lebanon, O., in 1881 and came to Illinois to begin his teaching career the same year. He retired in 1931 after teaching a half century.

Four daughters, Mrs. Carol Trohan of Chicago; Mrs. Doris Young and Mrs. Aldis Rogers of Galesburg, and Mrs. Clyde Garhan of Brookfield, Mo., and two sons, Roland of Detroit, and Leland of San Francisco, survive. Funeral services will be held tomorrow in Galesburg. Burial will be at Avon, Ill.

Vincent Rydzewski, Student Priest, Dies at Age of 22

Vincent Rydzewski, 22 years old, who was studying for the Catholic priesthood at St. Mary's of the Lake seminary at Mundelein, Ill., died in Mercy hospital yesterday following an operation for appendicitis. He was a son of the late Frank X. Rydzewski, member of the board of local improvements under Mayor Dever, and former election commissioner. Young Rydzewski would have been ordained in two years.

George R. Stege, Retired Brewer, Dies Suddenly

George Richard Stege, 64 years old, 332 South Cuyler avenue, Oak Park, a retired brewery owner, died suddenly last night in his home following a heart attack. Mr. Stege, born in Chicago, was president of the E. R. Stege brewery, 1501 South Ashland avenue. When prohibition came he retired and moved to Oak Park, where he had resided for thirteen years.

RITES HELD FOR DR. C. M. STEFFENS, NOTED EDUCATOR

Funeral services for Dr. Cornelius M. Steffens, president emeritus of the University of Dubuque and formerly associate pastor of the Fourth Presbyterian church in Chicago, were held yesterday in the John Timothy Stone chapel of the church. The Revs. John Timothy Stone, pastor emeritus, and Harrison Anderson, pastor, officiated.

The Rev. Dr. Steffens died Sunday in his home at 2000 Lincoln Park west. He had been ill for three years. He was brought to the United States from Germany at the age of 4 and was educated in New York state and in Michigan. He was graduated from the Western Theological seminary at Holland, Mich., in 1895. He served as president of the University of Dubuque from 1902 until 1924. At the time of his death he was 66 years old. One son, Ralph S. Steffens, survives. Burial will be at Rochester, N. Y.

SETH E. THOMAS ESTATE VALUED AT $955,570

EX-CONGRESSMAN FINERTY'S WIDOW DIES IN BATH TUB

New York, Jan. 17.—[Special.]—Mrs. Sadie I. Finerty, 65 year old widow of former Congressman at Large from Illinois John Frederick Finerty, was found dead in the bathtub of her apartment in the Hotel Embassy this afternoon. Police tentatively listed it as submersion.

Mrs. Finerty has been in ill health since last October, when she was operated upon at St. Luke's hospital. A second operation was performed in December.

Detectives believe she either suffered a heart attack or in her weakened condition struck her head against the side of the tub, becoming unconscious and drowning before she could call for help.

Edwin W. Moore, Former Chicago Attorney, Is Dead

Edwin White Moore, for thirty years an attorney in Chicago, and at one time an assistant corporation counsel, died at his home in Los Angeles on Monday, it was learned yesterday. He was 83 years old. He retired some years ago. Mr. Moore was born at Williamsburg, Pa., and educated at Princeton. He practiced law at Racine, Wis., and Wichita, Kan., before coming to Chicago. His wife, now dead, was Helen Lyman Miller, granddaughter of Col. Roswell B. Mason, a former mayor of Chicago. Surviving are two children, Alice and Robert.

Fred R. Perry, General Agent for C. P. R., Is Dead

Friends here learned last night of the death on Monday of Fred R. Perry, general agent of the Canadian Pacific railway, in New York City. Mr. Perry was well known in transportation circles. He was a former president of the American Association of Traveling Passenger Agents, and a member of many railway organizations. He will be buried in New York today. A widow and a son survive.

Chester B. Masslich, Attorney, Dies in N. Y.

Chicago friends were informed last night that Chester B. Masslich, formerly a Chicago attorney, died yesterday at his home, 32 Washington square, New York, of heart disease. Mr. Masslich was a graduate of Northwestern university. He was for a time general attorney for A. B. Leach & Co., investment firm, in Chicago.

A COLD PASSES THRU 3 STAGES!

It is Twice as Easily Stopped in the First as in the Second or Third Stages!

A cold passes through three stages—the Dry Stage, the first 24 hours; the Watery Secretion Stage, from 1 to 3 days; and the Mucous Secretion Stage. Once it gets beyond the Dry Stage it is far more difficult to relieve. Therefore, treat a cold promptly.

The best thing you can take is Grove's Laxative Bromo Quinine, because it does the four things necessary. It opens the bowels. Kills the germs and fever in the system. Relieves the headache and grippy feeling. Tones the entire system and fortifies against further attack.

This is the relief you want—complete, thorough and decisive! Trust to nothing else.

Grove's Laxative Bromo Quinine contains nothing harmful. May be safely taken by young and old and whether you stay indoors or go out. There is absolutely no penalty attached to its use. For more than 40 years it has been the standard cold and grippe tablet of the world, the formula keeping pace with Modern Medicine. Grove's Laxative Bromo Quinine now comes in two sizes—30c and 50c. As a measure of preparedness, get yourself a package today. Accept no substitute on any pretext.

NOTE: During Epidemics a tablet or two of Grove's Laxative Bromo Quinine every morning and night will do much to keep your system immune.

DR. T. P. PALMER DIES; OLDEST N. U. MEDIC ALUMNUS

Dr. Thomas D. Palmer, who had been a practicing physician in Chicago from 1888 until 1931, died yesterday at his home, 1431 Greenleaf avenue, of the infirmities of age.

Dr. Palmer was 84 years old, and was said to be the oldest surviving graduate of the Northwestern university medical college. He was granted a degree there in 1835. Later he studied at Jefferson Medical college, Philadelphia, and in Edinburgh, London and Paris. For many years he had offices in the Columbus Memorial building. He was a general practitioner and was widely known as a diagnostician.

Surviving Dr. Palmer is his wife, Mrs. Mary E. Palmer, to whom he was married sixty-four years ago. Funeral services will be held at the Rogers Park Presbyterian church at 10:30 a. m. today. Burial at Paw Paw, Ill., tomorrow afternoon, will be in charge of members of the Masonic order, to which Dr. Palmer had belonged for more than sixty years.

OLIVE B. PHELPS, PASTOR'S WIDOW, IS DEAD, AGED 67

Mrs. Olive B. Phelps, widow of the Rev. James M. Phelps, who was pastor of the St. Paul and Wesley Methodist churches in Chicago, died yesterday at her home, 631 North County street, Waukegan. She had been ill for several months.

Mrs. Phelps was 67 years old. She was a graduate of the Northwestern university school of music and was a member of the Waukegan Woman's club, the P. E. O. Sisterhood, and the Eastern Star. She was a charter member of the Pi Kappa Lambda musical fraternity. Surviving her are a son, J. Manley Phelps, and two daughters.

Othon Guepp Guerlac, 62, Cornell Professor, Dies

Ithaca, N. Y., Jan. 17.—[Special.]—Othon Guepp Guerlac, professor of romance languages and literature at Cornell, died of spinal meningitis after an illness of three days. A serum sent from the Rockefeller institute was unavailing. He was 62 years old.

HOW MODERN WOMEN LOSE FAT SAFELY

Gain Physical Vigor—Youthfulness With Clear Skin and Vivacious Eyes That Sparkle With Glorious Health

Here's the recipe that banishes fat and brings into blossom all the natural attractiveness that every woman possesses.

Every morning take one half teaspoonful of Kruschen Salts in a glass of hot water before breakfast—cut down on pastry and fatty meats—in 4 weeks get on the scales and note how many pounds of fat have vanished.

Notice also that you have gained in energy—your skin is clearer—you feel younger in body—Kruschen will give any fat person a joyous surprise.

Get a bottle of Kruschen Salts—the cost is trifling and it lasts 4 weeks. If even this first bottle doesn't convince you this is the easiest, safest and surest way to lose fat—if you don't feel a superb improvement in health—so gloriously energetic—vigorously alive—your money gladly returned.

But be sure for your health's sake that you ask for and get Kruschen Salts. Get them at any drugstore in the world. E. Griffiths Hughes, Inc., Rochester, N.Y.

THE high character and deep solemnity of Haggard Funeral Services is maintained always. Complete funerals as low as $100. Free use of chapels. Men or women directors.

Who Did It? Minute Mysteries Test Your Skill as a Detective

Dearborn Seminary Alumnae Association Meets

Mrs. Charles Spencer Williamson, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Richard F. Peyton, outgoing president, and Miss Edith Helen Moss, secretary (left to right) of the Dearborn Seminary Alumnae association, which met yesterday at the Drake hotel.

Early Chicago Lives Again as Alumnae Meet

Dearborn Graduates Hold Annual Session.

BY JUDITH CASS.

"My mother remembered the days when the residents of Chicago had to go to the fort for protection against the Indians," whispered my neighbor yesterday during the showing of stereopticon slides of the buildings of A Century of Progress. The remark was made when a picture of the reproduction of Fort Dearborn was thrown on the screen, and in another minute, when a picture of that very modern "roundhouse" of the Travel and Transportation building was shown, she whispered "Isn't that a wonderful building and aren't you thrilled about the fair?"

Yes, I assured her, I was thrilled about the fair, but so was I thrilled at meeting any one old enough to have a mother who remembered Fort Dearborn and who also found wonderful the "roundhouse" which has occasioned so much and varying kinds of comment.

This young-old person was Mrs. Clifford Williams, who is 84 years old and who is the oldest member of the Dearborn Seminary Alumnae association, which was holding its 52d annual meeting yesterday at the Drake hotel. She was graduated from the seminary, which was located on Wabash avenue and Washington street, in 1866. It was the only school she ever attended, having started there as a little tot of 6 or 7 when the school was opened.

Tells How School Started

An interesting bit of information she told me yesterday that is known to few was that the seminary was started first by a group of Chicago pioneers, among them her father, Thomas Hoyne, an attorney and later mayor of the city, as a sort of community venture, each father who had a daughter to be educated buying a certain amount of stock which was to provide for schooling for his daughter, but that the venture failed after one year and that it then became a private school with Zuinglius Grover as the principal. His granddaughter, Mrs. Margaret Grover Tagmose, gave a program of songs at the meeting yesterday.

Mrs. Williams, who was "Lizzie" Hoyne when she went to the seminary, has two brothers, Thomas M. Hoyne, who by the way is 89 years old and is as active as his "young" sister, and Frank G. Hoyne, and a sister, Mrs. Gertrude Wells, who also went to the seminary and was at yesterday's reunion. A niece, Mrs. Leonora Hoyne Anderson, is a graduate of the old Dearborn seminary, too, and she also was present yesterday.

Mrs. Williams is the mother of two sons, Temple Williams, who lives in Mishawaka, Ind., and Clifford Hoyne Williams, who is a bachelor and resides with his mother at the Hyde Park hotel in winter and in Glencoe in summer. In Glencoe Mrs. Williams plays golf frequently and on Friday, ladies' day at the club, she always plays 18 holes. And she confided that she still loves to dance, especially with her bachelor son.

Unlike most of the younger members of the association, Mrs. Williams didn't have to open her bag and get out any glasses to see the slides which were shown by Miss Carrie Blair Neely as an accompaniment to the talk on A Century of Progress given by Mrs. Martin Kent Northam.

A Schoolgirl Romance of 1888

The talk followed a luncheon and business meeting, and after Mrs. Northam's interesting contribution to the program came the "piece de resistance" of the afternoon, the reading by Mrs. Howard Van Doren Shaw of a story written when she was a "sweet girl graduate" in 1888. It was a very romantic story, the style showing the influence of the Duchess novels which Mrs. Shaw confessed were her favorite books when she was young, and told the story of a young man falling in love with a photograph [passed around for inspection yesterday] made as an experiment by a photographer in that year, a composite picture of eight of the young girls who were in the graduating class of 11 of which "Fannie" Wells [Mrs. Shaw] was a member.

Besides Mrs. Shaw, others whose features contributed to the photograph include Grace Otis [Mrs. William G. Sage] and Edith Moss, who were there yesterday, and Hortense Mitchell, now Mrs. Arthur M. Acton of Florence Italy.

Mrs. Alexander Hodgart [Marion Sturtevant], just back from her third trip around the world, was elected president of the association; Mrs. Henry H. Reuss [Jessie Grey], first vice president; Mrs. Louis Herrick, second vice president, and Mrs. Nicholas de Teresa [Anna Herrick], third vice president. Miss Edith Moss was reelected recording secretary and Mrs. Charles S. Williamson [Josephine Gillette] corresponding secretary. Mrs. Williamson has held this position for 32 years. Mrs. George Richards takes Mrs. John G. McDonald's place on the executive committee, and Mrs. Willis Jackson's and Mrs. Rathael Fassett's terms on this committee are unexpired.

Some of the others at the meeting yesterday were Miss Helen Drake, Mrs. Henry A. Blair, Mrs. Charles Counselman, Mrs. Asa J. Caldwell, and Mrs. Edwin L. Lobdell.

Invitations for Macy Wedding

Invitations have been issued for the marriage on Monday, Feb. 13, of Miss Aline Macy, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Josiah Macy of Morristown, N. J., to Hovey C. Clark, son of the late Judge Thomas C. Clark of Evanston. The wedding will take place in St. Peter's church, Morristown. The Rev. Dr. Donald Brookman will officiate. A reception will follow at the Whippany River club.

Olive Atwater Is Bride

MR. AND MRS. GEORGE F. GETZ JR.
[TRIBUNE Photo.]

Miss Olive Cox Atwater, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bert L. Atwater of Chicago and Lake Geneva, became the bride of George F. Getz Jr., son of George F. Getz of Chicago and Holland, Mich., yesterday at noon in the drawing room of the residence of her brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Philip K. Wrigley, at 2466 Lake View avenue.

Only about 35 relatives witnessed the ceremony which was performed by the Rev. Oscar F. R. Treder, dean of St. Stephen's cathedral at Harrisburg, Pa., an old friend of the bride's family.

The bride was given in marriage by her father and she was attended only by her little nieces, Ada Blanche and Dorothy Wrigley. James Getz, who is a senior at Yale, acted as best man for his brother and ushering were Mr. Wrigley and a cousin of the bridegroom, Harry Getz Jr. of Moline.

The bridal ensemble was most unusual, consisting of an ivory satin sleeveless gown with a cowl neckline over which was worn a long coat of the same satin fashioned with a long train, long sleeves which were edged with orange blossoms, and buttons fastening it in front. A long tiered tulle veil was fastened around the bride's neck with a necklace of orange blossoms and from a tiny tulle hat edged with the same flowers hung a shoulder veil of tulle. Her flowers were white sweet peas, gardenias and valley lilies.

The two little attendants wore peach chiffon frocks with berthas edged with white lace, white sashes and white hair ribbons. They carried spring flowers.

Mr. Getz and his bride left after the breakfast which followed the ceremony for a three weeks' southern motor trip after which they will be at home at the Drake hotel until summer.

Greek Music Heard in City; Given Praise

Byzantine Ensemble of Nine Presents Concert.

BY EDWARD MOORE.

Greek music, a subject comparatively little known to the western world, was presented at Orchestra hall last night by the Byzantine ensemble, an organization of nine singers who have studied it extensively and who now are appearing under the direction of Marion Schroeder Booras.

It probably is the middle period, that of the Byzantine liturgical compositions, which is the great gift of Greece to the world of music. Of ancient Greece only a few specimens have been deciphered and they sound a bit primitive to modern ears. Of modern music there is chiefly some folk music and some examples of what Maurice Ravel thinks of Greek music. But of the medieval Byzantine there is a rich store.

The present organization, of two women and seven men, is not the customary singing group, but it is capable of unusual and interesting effects. One is left with little more than a hint as to the meaning of the music, yet there is a constant tone of sincere, devotional ardor. The accompanist and later the soloist, Spiro Stamos, plays upon the sandurl, an instrument of some 140 strings, resembling the cembalom and, like it, set into sound by padded hammers. Some of the music, even that of the middle ages, has a marked oriental tang, particularly in its habit of ending on what sounds as though it ought to be the dominant and yet is not.

It is an interesting program and well worth the hearing, the more so as one can hear its equivalent only with difficulty elsewhere.

Two brothers, Alfred Lustgarten, violinist, and Edgar Lustgarten, cellist, gave a joint recital at the Goodman theater last evening. Acting against what would seem to be the most obvious impulse in the world, they played no duets, but each appeared in groups of solos of various periods and schools.

It is not an easy matter to determine which is the better player. They have both made good use of the formative period. Each has a firm, accurate bow arm, each knows what constitutes a good tone, each has developed a good technic and a good style of interpretation. They have therefore the common bond of well wrought musical art, with the further bond in this case that Robert Wallenborn played their accompaniments at the piano.

Miss Strobel Scores Hit in Her New Book

"Silvia's in Town" Displays Greater Skill.

BY FANNY BUTCHER.

"Silvia's in Town," by Marion Strobel. [Farrar & Rinehart.] Published today.

THE town that the Silvia of the title of this novel is in is our own, the Chicago that we all know, with its streets, its shops, its gossip and its weather, all recognizable. And the author, as well as the plot, is native. Marion Strobel [Mrs. Herbert Mitchell] is one of the group of distinguished poets who have been associated with Poetry magazine as associate editors, and she already has two novels to her credit, "Saturday Afternoon" and "A Woman of Fashion."

MARION STROBEL.

One of the most amusing things about being a reviewer of books is watching writers grow. Each book, of course, is a unit in itself and must be judged as such, but there is less excitement even in the discovery of a masterpiece than there is in the discovery that the sprig of green which has pierced the loam of creative gardening has, by skilled care, through the years grown into a sturdy plant. There is likewise a delicious excitement even, as in too many cases, when the sprig which looked so delicately esoteric has turned into a lusty weed, as, shall we say, the work of the young Michael Arlen, which was thought by the critics to be almost too lovely to attain any possible popularity and which became the flamboyant "The Green Hat." It is the rhythm of each writer's creative power that the critic learns, after a few years of reviewing, to look to for his private delight or amusement. Often it is fairer or kinder [how CAN a critic with the name of Butcher want to be kind, somebody once asked me] to keep one's observations of the gardening to oneself, as it would have been not to mention Mr. Arlen. But in the case of "Marion, Marion, quite contrarion, how does your garden grow?" the gardening is so conspicuously successful that "Silvia's in Town" cries to be judged as a part of a whole rather than as a unit in itself.

"Saturday Afternoon," Miss Strobel's first novel, was all manner—the sort of first novel that a poet is most liable to write, with beautiful phrases and images adorning unreality. "A Woman of Fashion," her second novel, showed its author with more understanding of human beings, more capable in telling a story, and with the sharp edges of her imagistic prose polished with reality. "Silvia's in Town" retains all of the unexpected and delightful pictures which a trained poet makes with words, but the author has made her word-pictures so integrally a part of her plot that the reader has no sense of unreality about them. (For however much one wishes that ordinary human beings thought and spoke in beautiful word-pictures, one must admit that most of us don't and couldn't possibly.)

Indeed, the reader has the most intimate sense of the reality of Silvia and of her child, of the struggle in her heart between her love for the child and her love for the man whom her child loathes. And the men and women who admire Silvia and love her and detest her are all living, not lay, beings.

In spite of the melodramatic last eighth of the book, "Silvia's in Town" is gayish rather than tense or sinister, a delightful tale, done with so much surer and so much more skilled a hand than its predecessor (which itself was a vast improvement over "Saturday Afternoon"), that there is no question about Marion's garden growing "with critics' bells and starry shells for pretty books all in a row."

"Silvia's in Town" is the kind of novel that manages to be light without being frothy, without making its readers feel that the tale is an air plant. Whatever argument the world may have had previous to the publication of "Silvia's in Town" about the future of Miss Strobel in her two literary phases as poet or novelist, her latest book proves that if she chooses novels she has every equipment to be as thoroughly successful a fiction gardener as she proved herself a distinguished cultivator of poetic flowers.

Spelman Wins Main Honors in Group Exhibit

BY ELEANOR JEWETT.

John A. Spelman covers himself with glory and carries off most of the honors in the current Oak Park group exhibit at the Chicago galleries, 220 North Michigan avenue. There are nine painters in the group—Charles W. Dahlgreen, Edward T. Grigware, Holger W. Jensen, Carl R. Krafft, John T. Nolf, Oscar D. Soellner, John Spelman, James Topping, and Ellsworth Young—and one sculptor, Emory P. Seidel.

It is an exhibition which is rich with landscapes. Carl Krafft shows the best example of his new manner of painting that has been yet seen in "Valley in Winter," a country of snow and ice and trees blending into pleasing patterns of line and color.

Edward Grigware offers his superb "Lower Town, Quebec," a street market in the rain. John Nolf handles homely subjects, figures of farm men and women and boys. Here two of his most sympathetic studies are "Tired Boy" and gossip over a fence —"And Others."

Ellsworth Young brings a touch of summer near with his "On the Oxbow," a familiar bit of country to those who know Saugatuck, Mich., either as student, teacher, or visitor in July and August. Oscar Soellner gives us several wistful landscapes of barns or houses going into gentle disrepair on the tops or slopes of melancholy hills. These are backed by gray skies and are hauntingly charming. His group of little pictures is an innovation and offers several very engaging pieces.

Charles W. Dahlgreen has one of the substantial canvases in his large painting of the southwest, "Homeward Bound," desert and hills, cacti and aspens, and a covered wagon making a nice splotch of color in the foreground.

Several attractive children's portraits in bronze by Mr. Seidel are of importance. James Topping and Holger Jensen add much of beauty and good painting to the show. Still, we end as we began, John Spelman carries off the honors. His "Fisherman's Harbor" and "Fishing Shacks" are magnificent. He has struck a new note and a new pace and the least we can do is to stand by with enthusiasm and clap his water and rocks to the sky.

MINUTE MYSTERY CAN YOU SOLVE IT?

BY H. A. RIPLEY

[Copyright: 1933: By The Chicago Tribune.]

Dr. Fordney is professor of criminology at a famous university. His advice is often sought by the police of many cities when confronted with particularly baffling cases. This problem has been taken from his casebook covering hundreds of criminal investigations.

Try your wits on it! It takes but ONE MINUTE to read. Every fact and every clew necessary to its solution are in the story itself—and there is only one answer. How good a detective are you?

SHERIFF WATERS' DEDUCTION.

"My connection with the case," said Prof. Fordney to some friends, "really started when I dropped into the general store in Hillsville for some tobacco. I was spending a quiet weekend in the village. Finding some of the local fellows playing poker I asked them to give me a few dollars for a poor family I had just discovered living in wretched circumstances.

"They all contributed something and when Andrews, who introduced himself as a traveling salesman, peeled off a five dollar bill from a big roll, I caught a sign pass between two of the bystanders. During our brief conversation Andrews told me of his intention of spending the night in Hillsville. The next morning he was found murdered on the outskirts of the village—shot three times.

Frank Waters, deputy sheriff officially in charge of the case, sought my assistance. All we found in going through Andrews' pockets were three orders for merchandise dated the day before, one from Simpson; some small change, package of cigarets, two poker chips, and a torn piece of paper bearing the message, "TEND TO YOUR OWN BUSINESS IN HILLSVILLE IF YOU KNOW WHAT'S GOOD FOR YOU."

Upon completion of the examination I was surprised by the keen detective sense displayed by Sheriff Waters when he told me he was going to arrest Simpson—that he knew he was involved in the murder. He asked my opinion and I told him of course; that Simpson WAS undoubtedly involved.

WHAT CLEW LED WATERS TO THE DEFINITE CONVICTION THAT SIMPSON WAS INVOLVED IN THE MURDER?

FOLLY ISLAND

By Wallace Irwin

SYNOPSIS.

Bart Burgess is marooned in a catboat on Peconic bay, fifty miles from his Long Island home in Wyattville. His companion, Israelis Frederick Warren, spoiled child of a new made fortune, known as "Nosey Ingy," rows over to a town for a carpenter. A girl in a red canoe comes along and invites Bart over to her family's island, but her small brother says their mother would have a fit. Bart senses a family secret.

INSTALLMENT III.

MYSTERIOUS FOLKS.

"What shall we talk about?" asked the girl, as though she were a committee of one sent by tide-born Proteus to make his sea entertaining during a tedious wait.

"Let's talk about fish," Bart suggested, pointing down to the little brown devils playing among the water reeds.

She was serious as a child in this nonsense he had proposed. With one hand against the catboat she steadied her canoe, then leaned over the brow, her head as close to the water as she could get it; her dark hair, falling forward over her face, was very soft and inclined to curl.

With a curious intensity she cried: "Baby mackerel! You darlings! You're in a great bamboo jungle, playing that you're afraid. You love to be afraid. Look!"

Then amazingly her free hand plunged into the water and came up with a tiny, silvery fish, turning and flopping in her palm. The brown hand was beautiful, the fish like a captive butterfly. A moment and she cast it back.

"Some day, when I feel really strong, drawled Bart, "I think I'll have to bust you in the jaw."

"How do you do it?" he asked.

"O, I always could—sort of." Again she leaned to the water. "See all those wiggly hairs down there. They're young eels."

"They've come a long distance to Port England."

"All the way from the Sargasso sea. Tell that to a Port England eel fisherman and he'll snub you half to death."

"You know a great many?"

"Eel fishermen? I was raised by one." Then she paid attention to the boy, who had crawled from the canoe to the catboat and back again. "Aw, come on!" he was worrying her. "He's there half an hour ago with the bait an' everything."

"I think we'd better go." Alice was smiling up at Bart.

"And leave me alone with the fishes?"

"O, I see your friend coming back in the rowboat. He'll get here after a while." A true waterman, she was criticizing Ingy's style. She pushed her paddle against the catboat.

"Good-by, Ben," Bart sang out.

The girl turned the ghost of a smile over her shoulder. I like you, I think, her look seemed to say.

Bart clung to the angled mast, watching the red canoe skim away, half wild water creature, half girl. What a charming adventure, destined to disappear into the nowhere whence it came. Her name was Alice. Alice what? She hadn't taken the trouble to ask who he was. She had come to him like a laughing strain of some water song, to be remembered but never heard again.

Distantly he saw the rowboat and canoe slow up and pause a couple of yards apart. Two voices over the water, alto and bass. They didn't talk long; a young vanity tickled Bart with the assurance that this surprising Alice hadn't found Ingy Warren worth her while. Then Ingy labored on.

"That hick town's deader than Carthage," he panted. "But I shouldn't wonder if Port England would be a pretty good stopping off place, if you know what I mean. Who's your friend in red?"

Bart hesitated, knowing about Ingy and trouble.

"No name or address?"

"Shouldn't wonder. I didn't ask."

"No? Well, that's good technique, old thing. Play the lone wolf. But me, I ask questions and learn things." With a wise look toward the spot where the red canoe had vanished.

"I suppose you've been so busy with your bright ideas that you didn't have time to look up a carpenter."

"O, yes I did. He's a worthy person named Davis, and he had a boy named Abner, or Abel, or Abelone—what names have you? They're coming out in a launch. And if you're willing to rot here till the rudder's mended, let Abner or Abel help you home with this blasted little tub. I'm through. I've hired a jitney to take me back to Wyattville."

"Well, well," droned Bart.

"I've got a broken back and blisters on my hands that may scar me for life. Anyway, there's a dance on at Wyattville tonight. And the next time I come here, if ever, it will be in my own yacht with a captain to do the thinking for me."

"I'll miss you," said Bart.

"I hope you won't be lonesome. With Red Bathing Suit——"

"Some day when I feel really strong," drawled Bart lazily, "I think I'll have to bust you in the jaw."

Mr. Davis had the catboat on the beach and was going over the rudder. He mentioned waiting till Cal Hawkins, the blacksmith, could make a couple of iron braces, but Cal wasn't back from his aunt's funeral. "Anyhow, by noon the tide'll be coming in good, and we get a south wind 'bout that time. Yes, yes." The sharp Long Island "yes, yes."

Bart smoked reflectively, regarding the little lost village up the hill. The waterside was picturesquely jumbled with fragments of Noah's Ark dropped on Ararat. His eyes traveled across the flat water toward a mount of amethyst. "Do many people live on Folly island?" he asked dreamily. Mr. Davis looked up from his pocketrule.

"Nobody but the Baileys," he said. "They spell it queer. B-a-y-l-e-y. Queer folks, them Bayleys."

"How queer?" persisted Bart.

"Well, that's hard to say." A sharp look. "They're pleasant spoken folks, what you see of 'em. But that ain't often. Mrs. Bayley don't come to Port England more'n twice a year, and what she tells won't hurt nobody. Alice, now, she's a nice girl. Used to go to high school here. The two boys still do. But they don't make friends with the children in the Port. Family's been here fifteen years, yet they won't mix. Every day jest as soon's school's let out there's Cap'n Hen Love waitin' to take 'em home in his boat."

"Captain Hen what?" asked Bart.

"Love. He's the eel man. Kind of queer duck himself."

Monogram Wins Scramble for New Rights.

BY GEORGE SHAFFER.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Hollywood, Cal., Jan. 17.—After lying, forgotten, in the film archives in silent version, for eight or nine years, "Oliver Twist" all of a sudden became the subject of a four cornered scramble for film rights. The Monogram (Trem Carr) independent company won the scramble yesterday, when it started its version into production.

Herbert Brenon, veteran film director, who Monogram admits, went to that corporation with the idea that started it all; the Universal and the Columbia companies, represent the losers in the race to re-screen Dickens' classic.

"After Mr. Brenon had submitted the idea, and we had Elizabeth Meehan working five weeks on the film story, Brenon withdrew," a spokesman at Monogram said. "We decided to go on with the idea. Universal and Columbia both wanted to buy our rights, but as we had already advertised the story as one of our products, and had expended money and preparation on it, we decided to keep it ourselves."

Brenon arranged with Universal for space on that lot to produce "Oliver Twist" there himself, if he could obtain a waiver of claims from Monogram, but Brenon was unable to do this, so Universal dropped its plan.

The independent studio had wanted to use Jackie Cooper for the part which Jackie Coogan played so memorably nine years ago, but hastening in starting the film, so as to acquire a priority right, induced the Monogram people to use Dickie Moore instead of Cooper, so as to begin to work yesterday. Similarly Irving Pichel was used, instead of Ernest Torrence, with whom they had been dickering, for Fagan. Alec Francis plays Mr. Brownlow, William (Stage) Boyd is Bill Sikes, and Doris Lloyd is to be Nancy Sikes. Barbara Kent plays Alec Francis' daughter.

Nelson MacDowell, character actor who played the undertaker in the original silent "Oliver Twist" is again cast for the same rôle in the talkie. "Mr. MacDowell is the only actor in Hollywood with a face long enough to look like a real English undertaker," William Cowan, director of the film said.

Merian Cooper, producer, and director, took Jackie Searle to see a privae showing of the thriller, "King Kong," featuring a giant ape, at RKO studio. Cooper was feeling quite pleased with himself and his effort at making this film, which consumed two years, as he tells the story, "100 per cent in all respects. I didn't see how we had missed anything that anybody could think of. But we had only got part way through the first reel when Jackie shattered our composure: 'But Mr. Cooper, he asked me, How big are fleas on a gorilla, fifty feet high?' And that was our flaw: We had totally forgotten to give the giant ape any fleas."

Harry Lachman, Chicago born and Paris trained movie director gave a birthday party last night in honor of the 26th birthday of Diana Wynyard, newly imported English actress. Anita Loos was one of the guests who helped Mrs. Lachman, a Chinese girl and Miss Wynyard make the occasion a merry success.

Howard Lally, who made a hit with his Lido orchestra on Long Island, has been signed to a Fox contract and comes west in a couple weeks.

Early Chicago Lives Again as Alumnae Meet

Dearborn Graduates Hold Annual Session.

frey R. Bennett, sister of Mr. Clark, will be matron of honor. The bridesmaids will be the Misses Priscilla Bliss, Dorothy Dillon, Mary R. Pierrepont, Barbara Childs, Lily Lambert, and Beatrice Behr. Ann Macy, a younger sister of the bride to b , will be flower girl. Thomas C. Clark will serve as his brother's best man.

Mrs. Robert H. Hunter of 1500 Lake Shore drive announces the engagement of her daughter, Ruth, to Harding Wilbur, son of Mr. and Mrs. Louis J. Wilbur of 7120 Coles avenue. Miss Hunter is a member of the Junior league. She attended Briarcliff and the University of Chicago. Mr. Wilbur was graduated from Harvard in 1922 and was a member of the Pi Eta club. The wedding will take place in the early summer.

Breasteds Plan Another Trip

Dr. and Mrs. James H. Breasted of the Oriental institute are to depart on Feb. 2 for another of their adventurous trips into oriental countries. On Feb. 4 they will sail on the Conte di Savoia for Italy. From there they will go to Cairo and Port Said and then drive to Palestine and Syria to see some excavations being made by the Oriental institute.

The institute also is excavating at Luxor and has built new headquarters there which the Breasteds will inspect before setting off in a plane for the city of Persepolis in Persia, another spot where the institute is digging for the ruins of an ancient civilization. The Breasteds' younger son, James H. Breasted Jr., is now with the Sakkara expedition at Memphis, so they plan to stop there, too, to visit him.

Reed Haythorne, who, with Charles Breasted, took motion pictures of these excavations last year, will accompany the Breasteds and will make more film records of progress of the expeditions since the last pictures were taken.

Charles Breasted supervised the construction of headquarters for the Oriental institute in the east. He is now assembling the motion pictures taken last year and will release them next fall after the newer pictures have been added.

E. A. Cudahys Go West Today.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward A. Cudahy are to depart today to spend the remainder of the winter in Pasadena, Cal. The Cudahys went east last week to make the acquaintance of their new grandson, Peter Stearns, the month old son of Mr. and Mrs. John Noble Stearns [the former Alice Cudahy McCormick] of Long Island.

Mr. and Mrs. William Shippen Jenks of 10 East Schiller street are to depart tomorrow for New York to sail on Saturday on the Santa Rosa for California via the Panama canal for a visit with Mrs. Jenks' brother, Edwin Fraser Gillette, and his daughters, Miss Helen and Miss Marietta Gillette, in Pasadena.

Miss Harriet Monroe is planning a month's vacation from her work at the office of Poetry. She will leave next week for a few days' stay in New York before sailing for Mexico. Miss Joanna Fortune will meet her in Havana and accompany her on the rest of the trip. Miss Fortune is to leave Chicago on Saturday.

Miss Monroe's brother and sister-in-law, the William S. Monroes, have closed their town residence on Elm street and moved back to their farm in Wayne. They are extremely fond of country life and spend as little time as possible in the city.

An eligible bachelor in our midst is Otho Morgan, who has returned to Chicago after having lived for several years in Alto, Ga. His parents, Mr. and Mrs. Anson Morgan, were Highland Parkers before they moved to the south with their family. Young Mr. Morgan is a nephew of Mrs. Francis S. North of Lake Forest.

Mrs. Wilder Gone to California.

Mrs. T. E. Wilder of Lake Forest has left to spend the winter at her residence at Santa Monica, Cal. Her son, Paul Wilder, who resides in California most of the year, is now occupying his mother's house in Lake Forest. He will go west in a few weeks.

Mr. and Mrs. Curtis N. Kimball, who usually go away for a vacation after the Christmas holidays, are to remain this winter at their lovely Highland Park estate. Their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Van Steenderen, are now residing close to the Kimballs in the house that Mr. Kimball built several years ago for his son, Wallace Kimball, when he married Miss Dorothy Purdy. The Wallace Kimballs have moved to Hinsdale.

Mr. and Mrs. George W. Blossom and Mr. and Mrs. Scott Brown have joined the colony of vacationing Chicagoans at the Hotel Vista del Arroyo in Pasadena, Cal.

Mrs. Anthony French Merrill, who has resided at the Pearson hotel for several years, has moved to the Fortnightly club, where there are a few rooms reserved for resident members.

Mrs. Guy Meaker of Evanston and her two subdeb daughters have returned from a year of travel in Europe and are residing at the Homestead.

The first of a series of six weekly musicals at the Cradle in Evanston will be given at 11 o'clock this morning by Amy Neil, violinist, and Agnes Bethoidt Conover, pianist. Advance reservations have been numerous, so the Cradle board is looking forward to a large attendance at the program and at the buffet luncheon to follow it. Mrs. Carol W. Alton, Mrs. Gilbert M. Smith, Mrs. Horace W. Armstrong, Mrs. Charles H. Bosworth, Mrs. Howard Fenton, and Mrs. Augustus W. Eddy are among those planning to be present.

The Drama league has sent out invitations to a "surprise party"—a buffet dinner and dance—to be held next Monday evening in the Gold Coast room of the Drake hotel. Dinner will begin at 7 o'clock and at 8 o'clock there will be a cabaret show.

Peach Crepe Is Chic Suggestion for Fitted Slip

WOMEN'S AND MISSES' SLIP.

Here is a beautifully fitted slip that molds the figure through the bust and hips. It's practical and very feminine, and, made of a pale peach satin crêpe with Alençon lace, is about as perfect as can be.

The pattern, No. 3306, comes in sizes 16 and 18 years, and 36, 38, 40, and 42 inches bust measure. Size 36 requires 2⅝ yards of 39 inch material with ¼ yard of 12 inch wide lace and 1⅛ yards of ½ inch wide ribbon.

Play Equipment for Youngsters Is Suggested

BY GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS

Having started the week by passing on to mothers or nursery school teachers of 2 year olds some suggestions for equipment, it seems only fair to go on, up through the fives. There is so much desire on the part of mothers to know what playthings do give the right use of growing powers during these early years that I am glad to be able to recommend something excellent and economical in the way of a printed list of equipment.

If you have a 3 year old, or a 4 year old or a 5 year old, you can obtain for each of these ages a full list of material as used in the well known nursery school of the bureau of educational experiments at 69 Bank street, New York City. These lists are as follows:

Equipment for class of fifteen four year old children.

Each of these leaflets costs twenty-seven cents postpaid.

As you would imagine, the outfit of playthings and apparatus for the threes is not entirely different from that for the twos given yesterday. In the list for the threes for instance, only a few items are added to the equipment for the twos. We find here scissors, paints, balls, a ladder, wagons, duckboards, and nails. And more books, of course.

In the pamphlet for the four year olds all those things listed for twos and threes, but more elaborate painting and modelling equipment and a number of additional tools—bench with vise, wire cutter, wire, saw, and so forth. The list of books again increases.

In the list for the five year olds the same backbone of playthings appears: Blocks in great number and variety, doll play and tools, modelling and painting supplies. To the apparatus are added parallel bars.

The book list for these five year olds is longer, as a matter of course, and slightly more mature. It is interesting in reading over the list to see how different it is from my own list and some others I have seen. The preferences of the individual educator, as well as her ability to choose what is right, figure largely in all book lists. So don't distrust your own selection just because you don't find it on this or that approved list.

Prize Danish Pastry May Be Made at Home

Use a Fruit Mixture or Nuts for Filling.

BY MARY MEADE.

Economical tips for week-end food shoppers—a new Saturday morning radio feature—will be presented weekly by Miss Meade over station W-G-N. Tune in at 9:45 next Saturday for Miss Meade's market chat.

When nibbling luscious morsels of Danish pastry at our favorite tea shop we just wouldn't be human if we didn't long for the skill and know-how for ourselves and wonder if, even were we to ferret the secret from some magnanimous chef, we could succeed with its complications in our own two-by-four kitchenettes.

The answer to that question brings especial good cheer since I've coaxed it first hand from Fred Moser, pastry chef at the Presbyterian hospital in Chicago, who recently won first prize with his Danish pastry in the baked goods section at the Palmer house food show sponsored by the Chefs de Cuisine Association of Chicago.

And, according to Chef Moser, the answer is—yes. And just to prove it he offers us his winning recipe.

Danish pastry, by the way, is really simply a rich coffee cake dough. You may have known it a number of years ago when it was masquerading under the terms raised puff paste, French or Vienna coffee cake dough, or yeast coffee cake. Nowadays, however, the Danish name, taken from its home country, is in favor.

The main concern of the Danish pastry maker, experts explain to us, is the temperature. The ingredients should be cold to prevent the butter from melting and the temperature should be between 50 and 55 degrees F.

Now for the prize recipe which will turn out eighteen crusty rolls.

DANISH PASTRY.

1 cup milk, lukewarm
½ cup sugar
Juice of one lemon and the peel, grated
4 egg yolks
2 egg whites
1 cup pastry flour
2 cups bread flour
¾ cup butter
½ tsp. salt
¼ tsp. mace
1 cake compressed yeast

Cream the sugar with one-fourth cup of the butter and beat in all the eggs, themselves well beaten together. Dissolve the yeast in the lukewarm milk and add the egg mixture and the milk to the flour, mixing it to a dough. Add the lemon juice and rind and the seasonings. Cover the dough with a towel and let it stand in the refrigerator for half an hour.

Knead two minutes and then roll out to one-third inch thickness in an oblong sheet about twice as long as it is wide. Have the remaining butter washed in the following manner: Squeeze it with the hands in very cold water until waxy and soft, then divide in four pieces and press each piece with the palm of the hands between folds of cloths until they are quite thin. Now place in the refrigerator until cold and ready for use.

When the dough is rolled out, distribute one of the pieces of butter, cut up in small half inch squares, over two-thirds of the dough. Fold that portion of the dough having no butter on it toward you over the buttered part and then fold the other third over the first two, giving three thicknesses. Press the edges together and let stand in the icebox for an hour. Then roll out again and repeat the process with a second piece of the butter. Do the same with the other two pieces of butter, making four rollings in all with one hour of chilling between each rolling.

The dough is now ready to be worked into the various shapes desired, and here let your imagination be your guide. Thin squares and circles may be cut and filled with raisins, crushed nuts, or rich fruit mixtures. They may be made into twists, spirals, or tea rings and after baking may be iced and sprinkled with more chopped nuts. Or the dough may be rolled out in a rectangle, rubbed with melted shortening and sprinkled with some fine filling like coconut, ground nuts, or cinnamon and sugar.

It is then folded in thirds and pieces cut off to be shaped into rolls. A light egg wash may be used to give high color and glaze. Or an apricot glaze made by cooking a cup of apricot pulp to a thick sirup with three-fourths cup of sugar may be used. Have it warm and apply before baking. After baking, hollows may be filled with jam or jelly or with frosting.

Danish pastry rolls should be baked in a moderately hot oven [350 to 375 degrees F.] from fifteen to thirty minutes, depending on the filling.

Children's Aid Group Avoids Deficit in '32

More Dependents Receive Care of Society.

BY KATHLEEN M'LAUGHLIN.

Not only did the Illinois Children's Home and Aid society finish the year 1932 without a threatened deficit, but it extended its care during those twelve months to more than 100 children over the total aided in 1931. This achievement, reported yesterday by Chauncey McCormick, president, at the annual luncheon of the society, held in the basement of the Fourth Presbyterian church, brought applause from the 400 staff members and friends of the organization attending.

The number of children served, the report of Supt. C. V. Williams showed, was 4,466. Of these, 2,289 were aided without being removed from their own homes. Those cared for in private homes as boarders and in institutions numbered 2,138. The remaining 39 were wards of other agencies whose cases were supervised by the society. On Dec. 31 the total under care was 1,826.

Total expenditures were $312,498, while the total income amounted to only $263,666, the report of Treasurer Bowman C. Lingle revealed. Receipt of $43,000 from state funds and $8,000 from local sources for the care of wards of the state and county, however, not only balanced the budget but left a small amount to begin 1933.

"In this connection it is interesting to note one fact that proves the efficiency of this group," commented Mr. McCormick. "To care for a child under the governor's commission, at the city detention home, costs $61.50 per child per month. There the children are compelled to associate with delinquents and are exposed to various undesirable conditions. Under the plan by which we handle these wards for them, they pay us $30 per child, which is quite a saving to the taxpayers and certainly better for the children."

Analysis of the present trends in child welfare indicates that there will be in the future a redistribution of responsibility for the dependent child, between the state and the private agencies, Dr. Arthur J. Todd, head of the department of sociology at Northwestern university, predicted. This does not mean, he added, that because state agencies appear willing to assume a larger responsibility than in the past, that the private agencies are "played out."

Each Dec. 2 for the next five years will be known as Donald Ryerson day, Mr. McCormick announced. This is in view of the decision of the finance committee to apply a gift of $5,000 in memory of this former president of the society, from his mother, to pay the entire cost of operation for that day out of the fund, at the rate of $1,000 for each anniversary.

Erect Posture Takes Years from Figure

The complete set of Antoinette Donnelly's stretching exercises will be published in booklet form soon, the date to be announced later in The Tribune.

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

How is the beter posture coming along? Anybody been telling you lately you're looking younger?

Folk do pour that "sweet something" into your ear if you stand up to life as if you were proud of yourself. There's nothing like standing straight, sitting straight, for giving you snap, dash, and go.

Mothers, get after your girls in their early years! Here's an asset you can endow them with, though you may have little else to give them. Make them carry themselves tall and straight with toes pointed straight to the front. Give a girl that start and you won't have to worry about her looks later.

Correct posture helps the organs of the body to do their work properly. Make the youngsters stand as tall as possible, head up, chin in, shoulders even, chest out, spine straight, abdomen in and arms hanging easily, heels two to four inches apart and toes pointing straight ahead. An easy way to get this correct position is to stand with the back to the wall with head, hips and shoulders touching it, heels two to four inches away.

There is something awfully destructive to looks and to personal esteem in the sloucher's way. She looks like a failure, beaten, cowed. The girl who stands up to life wins respect with notice.

We simply can't pound on the posture idea too much. For style, for youth, for health, it's everything.

The desk workers have in it a well known benefactor. It offsets, in a measure, the flabby muscled backs that droop with years of sitting. If the back muscles have become flabby, are not strong enough to hold the back erect, and trunk and abdomen muscles are gone soft, I suggest yesterday's exercise, which was lying on the back, hands overhead and coming up to a sitting position, along with the movement given here today:

Lie on your back, hands over head. Bring the hands forward to touch the toes. But I want you to stretch down on the toes so that there'll be a longer stretch on the arms as you proceed with this exercise.

Turn Thoughts to Humans, Not Machine, Plea of Nurses' Head

BY KATHERINE KELLEY.

A word of advice to the technocrats was offered yesterday in the annual message of Edna L. Foley, superintendent of the Visiting Nurse association. Speaking at the forty-third annual meeting in the Harriet Hammond McCormick Y. W. C. A., Miss Foley declared that technocrats have not been working to make the human race more efficient.

"If the technocrats could turn their attention from machines for a short time and see what is happening to our child welfare program while this period of deprivation and distress is upon us they would be more useful to the human race," Miss Foley said. "If they could tell us how to prevent a father and mother from dying of pneumonia they could be more useful in the Visiting Nurse program.

"Visiting nurses do know how to do many things scientifically. They also know that if they are too seriously technocratic in their treatment of patients, avoidable pain is the first result. They know that if they totally disregard the warnings of the technocrats, miraculous things occasionally happen.

"We find in some places a tremendous indifference to the worth of human life, and again we find incredible sacrifices being made by parents for their children just as they were made in the time of the cave dweller."

Miss Foley said that rickets is a word that was "going out of our language," but it has returned and will be used for many years to come; that it was felt that tuberculosis was being conquered, but now family after family is being exposed to undiagnosed patients.

"The year just closed will go down in the minds of thousands of public health nurses as a year in which reported health records from all over the country were excellent, although free nursing work increased enormously. In our own situation this was due to the thousands who had always paid for their own medical and nursing case, but could pay no longer."

The report of Mrs. George A. Ranney, president, stated that the Visiting Nurse association made 446,640 calls to 97,585 patients with a staff of 128 registered and 21 student nurses. This was done at a cost of $340,917. A deficit of $43,129 in the last two years was met, she explained, by a special reserve emergency fund.

The report of the auxiliary committee by Mrs. Chalkley J. Hambleton revealed that 865 baby outfits had been made by members, and 65,850 gauze dressings. Magazines, flowers, scrapbooks and toys were distributed. Other reports were given by Mrs. James C. Hutchins, chairman of the nurses' committee, and Mrs. Charles B. Goodspeed of the infantile paralysis committee.

All the officers and directors were reelected with the exception of the vice presidency, which was filled by Mrs. James C. Hutchins. Mrs. Melvin A. Traylor was added to the board.

Family Album Points Way to Spring Styles

Fashion Turns Back to Other Years.

BY RHEA SEEGER.

Drag out the old family album from the attic, if you would see what you are going to be coaxed into wearing by the best designers this coming spring and summertime. Flip the pages and watch closely the belles of yesteryear, their funny-to-you shoulder puffed sleeves, their slim waistlines, their starched appearance, due to crisply cut and designed dresses.

And also cast an appraising glance over the hats, for the shock of the newest 1933 creations will be lessened after you realize that other brave souls had the supreme courage to wear similar apparitions not so awfully long ago.

You wore balloon sized sleeves this winter, you probably still struggle with amplitudinous sleeve sections even yet, but the new models have sleeves that are skinned down to practical wearability . . . reasonable puffs that stay prettily close to your ears and then slimly hug your arm from the elbow to the wrist.

You are going to wear blouses this year as never before. What with suits, separate skirts, and tricky street costumes that need variety of blouse colors and fabrics for proper swank, the gal who likes blouses is going to have a grand time.

Watch the vacillating waistline settle down to a normal existence, lingering for the greater part of the time at the slim natural waistline . . . everything is used to accent this waistline, skirts are tucked, jackets are tucked, and dresses are tucked to fit smoothly around your middle, and the result is flattering and most distinctive.

Some of the best looking spring coats in the newest collections feature a very slender silhouette. The coats are fitted suavely from shoulder to hem . . . the double row of buttons, four in each row, achieve that well groomed, supersmooth silhouette . . . wide spreading shoulders, spread even wider into the perkily puffed sleeves, and then for extra shoulder width you will see the extremely wide notched lapels and moderately designed collar.

Suits are designed in the same well cut manner . . . and the new suits are destined to take the town by storm . . . never have they been so irresistible from the swagger three-quarter length, wide sleeved coats that top slim tailored skirts to the short jaunty models with hip-length jackets and pleated skirts. Practically every skirt is made to hang straight and slim and to snap into action with exceedingly well pressed, cleverly concealed pleats in front or back.

The smartest new street suits will be of Oxford gray. You can find them in dark Oxford grays and the knockout two or three shaded contrast . . . for instance, one three piece costume consists of a medium smoke-gray wool skirt, a silver gray silk crêpe blouse and a swanky three-quarter length coat of the darkest shade of Oxford gray.

Another two piece suit has a light gunmetal gray skirt and a very dark gray jacket, just the suit to wear with some of the smart new gray street Oxfords and newer, rather opalescent gunmetal gray kid pumps.

If you are not sold on any, or all of the new gray shades, you can be just as fashion wise and just as well groomed in all the newest tones of beige and caramel colors, fascinating new street colors that will keep you thrilled for days.

Lyolene Designs Simple Wool Frock with Full Sleeves and Lawn Dickey

BY BETTINA BEDWELL.

PARIS.—[Special.]—The simple woolen frocks that Paris dressmakers are turning out now have details that forecast spring fashions. Dickeys and vestees of fine lawn or crossbarred muslin look like dangerous rivals to the piqué vestee and dickey that has garnished spring frocks so long. If you have a wool dress which needs something new to carry on into spring treat it to a lawn dickey and you will be in the latest style à la Paris.

The Lyolene frock sketched today has such a lawn dickey, with a standing collar and stiff bow that look as if they had been stolen from a daguerreotype of a gentleman of 1860, which is what makes it so chic. The dress is made of smooth light red woolen and has leg o' mutton sleeves set in raglan-wise at the shoulders. The skirt, with its panel front and back, looks narrow, but has four knife plaits hidden under the edges of the panels.

At the sides, just below the belt line, are two flaps that cover pockets etc. The flaps are trimmed with copper disks. Four copper disks trim the top of the front panel.

The belt of this dress is made of self-material, and is fastened in back by a cluster of three copper disks that fold up into one.

Young Husband Deserts Wife for Lodge Pals

Spends Money Needed at Home.

BY DORIS BLAKE.

"Helen" is 23. Has been married four years. Has a little girl 2½, and a husband who goes out night after night leaving "Helen" home alone with the youngster.

"He belongs to a lodge where he plays cards and spends money that should be used at home. I can't go any place that costs money because he's not making much of a salary. I don't want to break up our home on account of the baby."

That's one way for a husband to make an alimony victim of himself, now, isn't it? Serve him right, too, if the law makes him come across later at a stipulated sum per week for the support of his wife and child.

The trouble here began away back with the boy's training as a future husband. There's need for mothers to take their boys in hand and let them in on the secret of how to make something of their future married lives. Let the boys in on expenses as they are met with in the upkeep of a home. Make the boys aware of the great need of fairness in the distribution of diversion.

If the boy wants to play cards, one or two evenings a week might be allotted to him—but he should be taught to consider ways and means of providing diversion for his young wife, too. It's a question whether a boy who has been brought up to consider himself and his own pleasures only can be converted into a husband worth sticking to. It's a question whether one of our modern young independents will stand the treatment long. The divorce total indicates plainly enough that the younger breed are not a long suffering sisterhood, willing to struggle along regardless of the husband's treatment.

In "Helen's" specific case, perhaps the introduction of some older man as adviser might set the boy husband to straighter thinking. He might take advice from one of his own sex. Somebody will have to get after him and try to correct his erroneous conception of a married man's rights and privileges. We can only hope "Helen" will find such a friend and adviser for her husband.

Committees Launch Chicago Campaign for Church Loyalty

Several committees chosen to conduct the church loyalty crusade in Chicago started work yesterday under the direction of the Rev. Dr. George Dowey of New York. The committees that met during the day are those for women, young people, financial arrangements and publicity.

Walter R. Mee, executive secretary of the Chicago Church federation, which is sponsoring the crusade, expressed enthusiasm regarding the work accomplished yesterday. The crusade was launched at a massmeeting attended by nearly 700 Protestant pastors at the Chicago temple on Monday. It will continue until Easter.

JACOBSON OPENS FIGHT ON INSULL TRUSTEE OUSTER

Creditors to Ask Judge to Reinstate Fentress.

A fight will be started immediately to reinstate Calvin Fentress as trustee of the bankrupt Insull Utility Investments, Inc., from which office he was disqualified Monday night by Garfield Charles, federal referee, following his election at a stormy meeting of Insull creditors before the referee.

This was announced yesterday by Attorney Lewis F. Jacobson, counsel for the creditors and sponsors of Mr Fentress, who said he would ask the federal district court to set aside the referee's ruling as soon as Mr. Charles has completed his report and sent it to the court for review. One of the referee's principal objections to Mr. Fentress, he announced, was the fact that Attorney Jacobson had sponsored him.

Ettelson Praises Referee.

Attorney Samuel A. Ettelson, former corporation counsel, who fought Mr. Fentress' trusteeship on the ground that he, Mr. Jacobson and other officers in the Insull receivership were hand picked for their jobs by the indicted Samuel Insull, issued a statement praising the action of the referee. Prior to the election Mr. Fentress had been receiver for Insull Utility Investments by appointment of Federal Judge Walter C. Lindley, which office the referee permitted him to retain pending election of a new trustee.

"I congratulate Chicago and the country on the decision of Referee in Bankruptcy Garfield Charles," Mr. Ettelson said. "It is a source of great satisfaction to me as a lawyer and a citizen that we have in Chicago referees and judges who have the courage and integrity to stand for truth and to enforce the law."

Jacobson Issues Statement.

Attorney Jacobson, in a six page statement, cited the fight conducted by his committee with the aid of Receiver Fentress to recover Insull collateral from the banks as evidence that neither he nor Mr. Fentress was an agent of Samuel Insull. Ettelson, he inferred, was concerned more for the banks than for Insull investors.

"At no time did Samuel Ettelson do one thing in the last nine months for the benefit of debenture holders," Jacobson stated. "His opposition arose because of suits brought against the banks."

Jacobson denied that he or his associate, Harold F. White, had solicited Insull depositors to deposit their proxies with his committee as charged by Ettleson, who said such action was in violation of the legal ethics code. The solicitation had been made, he said, by officers of the committee not associated with his law firm.

May Go to Lindley.

It seemed possible last night that a final decision on Mr. Fentress' qualifications might fall upon Judge Lindley, who, according to the Ettelson charges, was "imposed upon" when he named Fentress receiver. Ordinarily the review of Referee Charles' findings would be made by Judge George A. Carpenter, now hearing bankruptcy matters for the federal district bench. Judge Carpenter has made a ruling, however, that all matters involving the Insull companies be referred to Judge Lindley.

BY FRENCH LANE.

Welker Cochran of Manson, Ia., but who registers from Hollywood, Cal., beat Allen Hall of Chicago, in the world's three cushion billiard championship play at the Wabash Recreation rooms last night in the most spirited match of the tournament to date.

Cochran, after coming from far behind, triumphed 50 to 49 in 52 innings. In more than two hours of play, the score was tied seven times. Then Cochran waved his cue at the ivories and sent the balls spinning all around the table to click off the winning point.

Makes Cochran Favorite.

Cochran was the first favorite in the tournament to win. He's a former balkline wizard and in 1926 and 1927 was the world's champion at that game. This is his first invasion into the three cushion ranks. His spectacular play, which most of the time found him in complete control of the fickle ivories, established him as the 3 to 1 favorite to win the title, even though only eight of the contestants have competed so far.

Cochran played with the confidence of the most experienced three cushion artist. His deft balk line touch enabled him to make shots which most of the three cushion stars would shy at. Yet Hall, displaying great courage all the way, kept right on top of him from the beginning and every time Cochran clicked off three or four successful shots, Hall matched him point for point. Hall took the lead for the first time at the 20th inning.

Two Champs Lose.

He pulled out into a comfortable margin in 20 more innings. Cochran then took the situation in hand, pulled up with three in the 47th inning and five more in the 48th. Then came the dramatic finish.

Score by innings:

COCHRAN — 240 210 030 100 032 001 100 020 001 003 210 000 221 101 300 350 2—50. Innings, 52.

Two former champions who were expected to make a stubborn fight for the 1933 crown were beaten during the afternoon session.

They were Otto Reiselt of Philadelphia and Arthur Thurnblad, the methodical Swede from Chicago. Reiselt succumbed to the dazzling attack of Tiff Denton of Kansas City, 50 to 39, in forty innings. Jay Bozeman of Vallejo, Cal., the youngest fellow in the tournament, knocked Thurnblad over by 50 to 37 in seventy-two innings.

Down Go the Favorites.

Bozeman, the "devil may care" player, who killed off more than one championship aspirant a year ago in his first test against the best players in the world, played a "safety" game as he bewildered Thurnblad. He left the Swedish architect in difficult position every time he stepped away from the table, and at times was leading by an enormous margin. Score by innings:

BOZEMAN—110 000 120 100 202 012 004 000 000 002 230 010 104 002 002 100 200 520 000 100 000 002 000 022 —Total, 50.

THURNBLAD — 003 001 000 000 000 000 010 000 100 000 000 000 300 000 200 100 310 001 500 111 120 101 100 00—Total, 37.

Denton Trails—Early.

Denton trailed far behind for the first 20 innings and at times appeared to be hopelessly beaten. He began to pick up along about the 25th inning, then staged a spectacular rally in the 30th inning with a run of eight. It sent him into a 34 to 32 lead. From then until the finish he pulled away from the Philadelphia veteran.

Denton is a tall fellow from down in the Ozarks country and is one of the most colorful players in billiards. He fights for every point, forgets about the dignity of the game, and uses more "body english" as the balls go rolling around the table than a whole chorus of dancing girls.

He not only pulls and twists while scoring his own shots, but puts plenty of "body english" on when his opponent is shooting in an endeavor to make his rival miss. He quarrels with the referee, the scorekeeper, and everybody else around the table, but is so earnest about it he always has the crowd cheering for him.

Score by innings:

BIG 10 DILEMMA: WHO CAN HALT OHIO STATE FIVE?

Buckeyes Only Unbeaten Team in Race.

BY WILFRID SMITH.

Who can stop Ohio State? This is the question the Big Ten basketball teams are asking since Monday night, when the Buckeyes' victory over Illinois left them the only undefeated team in the championship race. Northwestern contributed to Ohio's cause by whipping Wisconsin, previously undefeated, and Michigan, last Saturday, handed Illinois its first setback of the year.

Ohio State has demonstrated its superiority over three of the six conference teams it will meet this season. Ohio whipped Indiana, 35 to 28; defeated Minnesota, 43 to 28, and Illinois, 33 to 22. All these games have been played at Columbus, but the margin in each case would seem to indicate victories in the return contests. Ohio State has two games each with Purdue, Iowa, and Wisconsin.

All Fear Purdue Now.

Purdue's 40 to 16 victory over Minnesota Monday at Lafayette probably indicates that the Boilermakers are most to be feared. Purdue, of course, still is thinking in title terms, notwithstanding two defeats. Purdue does have a fighting chance to tie for first place, depending mostly on its showing against Ohio State.

Ohio State's remaining Big Ten games, in the order they will be played, follow:

Feb. 4—Ohio State at Minnesota.
Feb. 6—Ohio State at Wisconsin.
Feb. 13—Ohio State at Illinois.
Feb. 18.—Purdue at Ohio State.
Feb. 20—Iowa at Ohio State.
Feb. 25—Ohio State at Iowa.
Feb. 27—Ohio State at Purdue.
Mar. 4—Wisconsin at Ohio State.
Mar. 6—Ohio State at Indiana.

While none of these games may be classed as set ups by any means, the week-end trip, which sends Ohio to Iowa on Feb. 25 and then brings it to Lafayette, Ind., on Monday, Feb. 27 to face Purdue, should be enough to worry any coach. Coach Lambert of Purdue demonstrated Monday night that Harry Keller may not be missed when he is graduated at the end of this semester. Lambert benched Keller and Stewart and his new men swamped the Gophers with a deluge of field goals.

Maroons Give Fans Hope.

Chicago started the conference by losing to Iowa by only four points, 36 to 32. Two nights before Northwestern had overwhelmed the Maroons, 52 to 24, leading at one time, 38 to 7. Iowa on that same night had beaten Purdue, but the Hawkeyes had difficulty staving off Chicago's second half rally Monday night after going to the front, 20 to 9, at the intermission.

Big Ten basketball seems to be having a better financial season than in 1932. This is true at Northwestern, where a comparison of six home games last year with six home games this year shows an increase in attendance of 5,100 or about 25 per cent. The attendance figures follow:

Southern California	3,400.
Washington U.	2,000.
Notre Dame	4,500.
Wisconsin	4,200.
Bradley	2,500.
Marquette	3,000.
Pittsburgh	2,700.
Notre Dame	5,500.
Purdue	5,700.

Cut Admission Price.

Admission a year ago to the Bradley, Southern California, and Washington university games was $1. At that time there was no federal tax of 10 per cent. Admission to the conference basketball games at Northwestern last season was $1.50. This year admission to all games has been $1, including the federal tax. As prices go, Northwestern is charging more than several other universities. Chicago's Big Ten admission price is 75 cents, including tax, but this is no argument for reduction, considering the attractions offered. Forty cents, which is not taxable by the government, was the admission charged at Notre Dame for the Northwestern game.

The attendance figures also reveal that the capacity of Patten gymnasium is 5,700. Rearrangement of the bleachers, with wider aisle spaces, has cut 300 from the seating capacity as reported last year.

Solem Raps Iowa Athletic Heads in Talk

Iowa City, Ia., Jan. 17.—[Special.]—Ossie Solem, University of Iowa football coach, tonight confirmed the statements he made at a luncheon today in Cedar Rapids regarding the Hawkeye athletic situation.

Solem charged the Iowa athletic board lacked courage and that it refused to fight for its own athletes. He asserted further that there is a discrimination against athletes in the employment of student help at the university.

"Of the hundreds of student employés at the University hospital, Memorial union and dormitories," Solem said, "I have not been able to get one football player a job."

"If our own people do not have courage to defend them, how could the Big Ten act otherwise?" he declared. "If the eligibility committee makes a ruling, how can the Big Ten avoid taking the same stand?"

CHICAGOAN 2D IN LEFT HAND GOLF QUALIFYING PLAY

Sasse Applies for Grid Job at Michigan State

Detroit, Mich., Jan. 17.—(AP)—The Detroit Free Press says that Maj. Ralph Sasse, retiring football coach at West Point, has applied for the position of coach at Michigan State college, left vacant by the resignation of James H. Crowley, who will coach at Fordham next year.

The Free Press says Ralph H. Young, athletic director at Michigan State, revealed Maj. Sasse had made the application at the Notre Dame football banquet in South Bend, Ind., last night.

It is explained that should Maj. Sasse's application be considered favorably, he could be transferred to the Reserve Officers' Training corps at Michigan State, thus averting any necessity for resigning from the army.

Notre Dame Wins, 30 to 22, Over Gophers

Notre Dame, Ind., Jan. 17.—[Special.]—Minnesota's rally failed to overcome Notre Dame's 21 to 6 lead at the half tonight and Notre Dame won, 30 to 22, before 6,000, the fourth sellout crowd of the season.

Capt. Brad Robinson of Minnesota led the scoring with 15 points, all but two of which came in the last half. Ed Krause, Notre Dame center, was close on his heels with 12 points.

Three field goals, two by Mitby and the other by Robinson, were the only Minnesota points in a first half in which Krause and Capt. Johnny Baldwin piled up points.

Robinson, however, conducted a rally by himself in the second half, making nine consecutive points before his teammates scored. He brought the count to 26 to 22 with a minute to play. Krause and Baldwin connected with long shots to clinch the game. Lineup:

RED WINGS HALT RANGERS, 2 TO 0; GAIN FIRST PLACE

Hawks Get Burch

BOSTON, Mass., Jan. 17.—(AP)—The Boston Bruins management tonight announced it had traded Billy Burch for Vic Ripley, the Chicago Blackhawks' veteran center. Burch was obtained from the New York Americans before the season started. He saw but little service with the Bruins. Most of his service with the Americans was in the center position.

Detroit, Mich., Jan. 17.—(AP)—The Detroit Red Wings smashed their way into first place in the American division of the National Hockey league tonight, shutting out the New York Rangers, 2 to 0, before a record paid attendance at Olympia arena of 14,402.

The shutout ended a 79 game streak in which the Rangers never have failed to score at least one goal and placed Detroit a point ahead of the New York team in the standings.

AMERICANS WIN, 3-1

New York, Jan. 17.—(AP)—The New York Americans continued their progress through the Canadian division of the National hockey league tonight by defeating the Toronto Maple Leafs, sectional leaders, 3 to 1. The victory, which ran the Americans' string to eight games without a loss, reduced Toronto's margin to five points.

Bill Brydge, veteran defense man, engineered two goals in the second period to decide the game. The first brought strenuous protests from the Leafs as Bill Phillips' poke of Brydge's rebound barely carried the puck into the net. The second came on a perfect pass to George Patterson.

BRUINS WHIP MAROONS, 6-2

Boston, Mass., Jan. 17.—(AP)—With Joe Lamb setting the pace, the Boston Bruins tonight crushed the Montreal Maroons, 6 to 2. It was Boston's second triumph over Eddie Gerard's charges in four days.

Lamb had one of the best nights of his career, scoring three goals in less than 10 minutes of play in the second period, besides assisting Frank Jerwa make his first period tally. Red Beattie and Dit Clapper were the other Boston scorers.

SENATORS, 3; CANADIENS, 2

OTTAWA, Ont., Jan. 17.—(AP)—The Ottawa Senators defeated the Canadiens of Montreal, 3 to 2, in their National league clash tonight and assumed full control of third place in the international section when the Montreal Maroons were beaten at Boston.

After each had counted once in the opening period, the Senators moved into the lead on Finnigan's goal in the next session and stayed there. Welland's goal in the first 12 seconds of play in the third period gave them a lead the Canadiens could not overcome.

HAWKS RECOVERING

BY EDWARD BURNS.

Several of the Blackhawks have been complaining of aches, pains and miseries since the team was sunk, 5 to 0, by the New York Rangers last Sunday night. But the boys are a brave lot and promise to be in there fighting like demons against the New York Americans at the Stadium tomorrow night.

The Hawks haven't been able to slap down the Americans this season, though they rank them in the league standings. The two outfits have hooked up in three clashes. It was a 1 to 1 tie in the season's opener at the Coliseum, a 0 to 0 tie the first time the Hawks went to New York, and a 3 to 1 setback for the Hawks

In the WAKE of the NEWS

COLLEGE LETTER BOX.

DEAR WAKE: After twenty-five years' rather close observation of college football I would like to make these suggestions:

1. That the Western conference arrange its football schedules in rotation. This scheme works out satisfactorily in basketball. It would bring about more frequent games between title contenders and should do away with championship ties. Certain old time rivalries would be temporarily eliminated, but would again be resumed from time to time.

2. That each football official be required to act in the same capacity throughout the season. This would make a specialist of each official and increase efficiency.

3. That something be done to bring back one of the most spectacular of plays, the catching and returning of punts. Several years ago Arthur Curtis suggested a five yard gratuity for a punt caught besides the ground gained. This sounds reasonable and worthy of trial.

4. That it be unlawful for a player to signal for a fair catch in his own territory.

Wisconsin '10.

Now that the Rockne Memorial trophy has been awarded to Michigan despite a few Bronx cheers from Southern California, it is even more apparent that the Trojans erred in inviting Pittsburgh rather than Michigan for the Rose Bowl game.

Had California seen fit to wait until the Big Ten meeting, Dec. 3, it is likely Michigan would have received permission to play. If—and it's a big IF—Southern California had beaten Michigan its national title claims would have much better basis. Victory over Pittsburgh, tied by Ohio State, which lost to Michigan, really meant nothing. Michigan Pete.

Gehrig, Gomez Balk at Yanks' Terms.

New York, Jan. 7.—[Special.]—Professing himself to be "plenty burned up," not only over the size of the salary cut the Yankees have proposed for him in 1933 but because the club was endeavoring to keep the entire matter "a secret" when he could see no reason against airing the controversy in public, Babe Ruth today openly announced the bid he received yesterday was a one year contract calling for $50,000.

"When I got the papers last night," he said, after coming back from a round of golf over the St. Albans course, "I called up Barrow and told him I was mailing the contract back at once. I also asked him whether he cared if I told the newspapers how much the club had offered me, but he asked me not to, saying he would give that out himself today.

Babe Tells All.

"Well, since they haven't said anything about it, I don't mind telling you and the world. The offer is $50,000, a cut of 25 grand—and that's some wallop.

"I don't believe Col. Ruppert ever saw the contract that was mailed to me. And I told Barrow that, too. The colonel has always treated me pretty fair, even if we've had our little arguments about salary in the past, but while I expected to receive some cut I can't believe he would go as far as a third off. I'll never sign for that."

Simultaneously with this second Ruthian outburst within twenty-four hours came ominous rumblings, which seemed to indicate the world's champions would encounter trouble rounding up their athletes for next season.

Both Lou Gehrig and Vernon Gomez, the left handed pitcher, let it be known today that they were not likely to sign with a little preliminary "conferring."

Gehrig Expected Cut.

At his home in New Rochelle, Gehrig admitted the club had taken a slice from his 1933 salary. He said he had looked for a cut, but apparently the slash had been more than he expected.

Gomez, too, was disinclined to go into any details beyond saying he was not ready to sign at once. He said he expected to call at the Yankee headquarters tomorrow to discuss the terms of the contract that had been sent him.

So far as the Yankee officials were concerned they continued of a mind today that their financial problems with their athletes was of nobody's concern but their own. The only response a query on Babe Ruth elicitated from Col. Ruppert was:

LOPEZ HOLDS OUT

Tampa, Fla., Jan. 17.—[Special.]—Al Lopez, Cuban catcher, is the first Brooklyn holdout of the 1933 season. Lopez announced today he had returned an unsigned contract to the Dodgers officials. While refusing to name the amount of the contract offered, Lopez said it contained a reduction of $3,000.

RED SOX SIGN FOUR

Boston, Mass., Jan. 17.—[Special.]—Pitcher Larry Boerner and Henry Patterson, catcher, were released by President Bob Quinn of the Boston-American league baseball club today, and four pitchers were signed. The new pitchers are Mark Maccomisky, Lawrence, Mass.; Arthur Mahoney, Taunton, Mass.; Mike Neola, New York, and Harley McNeal, Lakewood, O.

Boerner was released to the Nashville Southern Association club, while Patterson was sent to the Hollywood club of the Pacific Coast league.

GRIFFITH LOSES TO RAMAGE IN COAST BATTLE

Los Angeles, Cal., Jan. 17.—(AP)—Lee Ramage, San Diego, battered Tuffy Griffith, Chicago heavyweight, into submission before 6,000 tonight and won a 10 round decision. Ramage weighed 182, his opponent 186.

PACKERS REACH COAST; TO PLAY CHARITY GAME

San Francisco, Cal., Jan. 17.—(AP)—Eighteen members of the Green Bay Packers, professional football team, arrived here today aboard the Maui from Honolulu. The Packers will begin training for the Knights of Columbus charity game Sunday with the Pacific Coast All-Stars, led by Ernie Nevers. Red Grange will team up with the Packers for this game. He arrived Sunday from Chicago.

GIRLS, JAFFEE HAS SPECIAL RULES FOR YOU

Skate for Form; Speed Will Follow.

This is the eighth of a series of articles on ice skating by Irving Jaffee, holder of three Olympic championships and the world's professional title, designed to aid all entrants in The Tribune's Silver Skates Derbies, to be held at Garfield park Jan. 21 and 22. Jaffee won the New York Daily News' Senior Silver Skates in 1926, the Olympic 5,000 meter title in 1928, the Olympic 5,000 and 10,000 meter races in 1932, and the world's professional championship two weeks ago. He also holds the world's amateur record for the mile. Readers wishing to obtain any information on ice skating should send a stamped, self-addressed envelope to Irving Jaffee, Chicago Tribune Sports Department, Tribune Tower.

BY IRVING JAFFEE.

Girls who have aspirations of winning a prize in THE TRIBUNE'S Silver Skates Derbies at Garfield park Saturday and Sunday, or in any other skating event, should follow certain practical regulations in training. You will find that physical condition, which is of such importance to the boy athlete, will be of utmost importance for you also.

The difference between the winner and second best in many girls' races is lack of good condition in the loser. A few years ago I had the pleasure of coaching a group of girl skaters in New York. Their ages ranged from ten to far past the number of years some of them would admit. I should like to set down some of the training routines I prescribed for those girls, many of whom have since been successful in many important events.

Strive for Grace.

First of all, girl skaters should be careful not to train or overexert themselves in training. The important things for feminine skaters to strive for are grace and form. Naturally all girls strive to be graceful in any endeavor, and if you reach the proper style and form for skating you will be both a pretty and a graceful skater to watch and it will simplify the task of increasing your speed.

Another item to remember is that plenty of calisthenics and gymnasium exercises are necessary to keep your entire body fit. These exercises include bending, twisting, and ankle and deep breathing routines. Do plenty of walking. If you can ride a bicycle do so, since this is excellent for strengthening your legs. Take up any exercise that helps to keep you outdoors with your body in full motion. Swimming in an indoor pool normally is a great developer, but it conflicts with and binds your muscles when you approach the date of a race.

Skate Against Boys.

Learn how to skate with your hands clasped behind your back. This conserves your energy and relieves the strain on your heart. Bend your knees as low as possible with each stroke bringing them close together when changing from one foot to the other. Push hard, with the force at the center of your skate when stroking away from the ice, so that you may get the proper impetus into your strides.

Do not take short, choppy strokes. They tire you easily and they do not make for speed and grace. Train with boy skaters whenever possible. This will strengthen you and help you to develop form because of the pace boys set.

Give Up Parties.

Wear comfortable clothes. Don't eat fattening foods nor those difficult to digest, and keep away from sweets. Get plenty of sleep. Don't dance a few days before the race, as this will tighten up your legs. Otherwise dancing is a good method of strengthening them. Wear low heels for a couple of days prior to the race to aid in relaxing and relieving the strain on leg muscles. It also would be well to pass up any late parties near an event. From there on, girls, it's up to you.

Stecher Ends Secret Drill for Londos

Joe Stecher, who meets Jim Londos tomorrow night at the Coliseum in a wrestling match, has been secretly training on the north side. When he was discovered Stecher agreed to wind up his training in public this afternoon at Kid Howard's Arcade gymnasium.

The Nebraskan claims he has been doing five miles of road work early in the morning and crushing sacks of wheat between his legs to perfect his body scissors.

Brother Is Confident.

Tony Stetcher, Joe's brother, who serves as trainer and manager, says the big fellow is in the best condition in years. Stetcher, who is 38 years old, has wrestled three and four times a week since last summer.

Stetcher's parade through the top notchers has convinced his brother he is the most dangerous opponent Londos has met in years.

The bout will be limited to one fall with a one hour time limit. Both men are slow starters, although they may—and probably will—whip up the action to bring the battle to a conclusion before the time expires.

Savoldi on Card.

Two stars of college gridirons, Jim McMillen and Joe Savoldi, who wrestled to a draw here recently, will appear on tomorrow's card. McMillen tackles Tommy Marvin. Savoldi's opponent is Marshall Blackstock of Georgia.

Minnesota Legislature to Get Pari-Mutuel Race Bill

St. Paul, Minn., Jan. 17.—[Special.]—A bill to legalize pari-mutuel betting on horse races in Minnesota will be introduced in the legislature. The measure, which provides for a 28 day racing season, was supervised by a three man commission.

STADIUM CALLS OFF RING SHOW; PURSES TOO HIGH

The Chicago Stadium board of directors yesterday voted to cancel its boxing show scheduled for Jan. 27 due to the belief that a profit was improbable. The board contended that the card proposed by Nate Lewis, matchmaker, would cost too much. The Stadium has lost on four of its last five shows. The proposed card follows:

Barney Ross vs. Billy Townsend [10].
Varias Milling vs. Johnny Pena [10].
Ben Jeby vs. Young Terry [10].
Izzy Gastanaga vs. Art Laskey [10].

The Stadium's next date is Feb. 10. It was intimated that the card would be approved if the boxers would agree to reduction in terms.

Preliminaries in the Illinois Athletic club amateur boxing championship tournament will be held tonight at the club gymnasium, 112 South Michigan avenue. In the event the average number of 50 per cent of the 98 entrants appear for weighing and physical examination, 24 bouts will be presented in the eight weight divisions. Semi-finals and finals will be offered tomorrow.

The Catholic Youth organization, which had entered 16, made the team entry 22 by submitting six additional entries. They are Frank Hunyadi, heavyweight; San. La Monte, and Bud Dagger, featherweights; Tony Wade and Joe O'Connell, middleweights, and Joe Kalkowski, lightweight.

The lightweight class should furnish the most action tonight, having the maximum quota of 16 competing. George Holden, Joe Montello, Al Garcia, and Hank Bueker are the most prominent. The light heavyweight and featherweight divisions are next in line with 12 contestants. Harry Booker, national Catholic champion, is included in the featherweight entry, and Tom Petros, Tom Pacetti, and Eddie Wade are outstanding light heavyweights.

Besides the C. Y. O., Trafton's and Howard's gymnasium, Fort Sheridan, Kane County Sports club, Illinois Clearing house, and Ardmore and Gibbs Athletic clubs are seeking the team trophy. First match starts at 3 o'clock. The public is invited.

Kid Irish, St. Louis featherweight, and Charley Cerminaro of the west side will meet in a six round bout at the Cicero stadium Friday night. Both boys are hard punchers. Two other six rounders will bring together Johnny Phagan and Harry Schuman, and Ray Tramblie and Joe Mendoza. Little Pal, Indiana Harbor featherweight, will clash with Johnny Fitzpatrick in one of four contests at four rounds. Pal defeated Jackie Stewart in his most recent battle.

The Belle Plaine Athletic club will resume its weekly amateur boxing shows tomorrow night at 3943 Lincoln avenue. The shows will be conducted under the new rules of the Amateur Athletic union.

Frankie Harmon yesterday filed a bond and license to promote at the Washington Boulevard Masonic temple. His first date, Feb. 6, was approved. Barney Ross has agreed to box in the 10 round windup on the card. Tommy Grogan, Omaha junior welterweight, turned down an offer to box Ross. Harmon is attempting to match Eddie Anderson with Barney. Anderson has won his last four matches, defeating Tony Ligouri, Paul Wangley, Allen Whitlow, and Prince Saunders.

Frankie O'Brien, Hartford, Conn., middleweight, and Kid Leonard of East Moline, Ill., last night signed to meet in the 10 round windup at White City on Jan. 30. It will be Pep Kerwin's first card this season. O'Brien will be making his first start in Chicago. He knocked out Tait Littman and beat Gorilla Jones, former middleweight champion, in his latest bouts. Leonard has appeared here once, knocking out Freddy Eiller at White City on Feb. 29 of last year.

START PLAY FOR NATIONAL SOCCER TROPHY SUNDAY

First round play for the National Soccer cup will open next Sunday with all six Chicago qualifiers in action. Two games will be played in Chicago, involving four of the local representatives, while the Jugo-Slavs play the Deutscher F. C. in Milwaukee and the Maccabees meet the Sons of Malta at Detroit.

The Spartas, professional league champions, play the Norwegian-Americans, of the International division, at Sparta stadium, 21st street and Kostner avenue, and the Bricklayers, finalists last year in the western division of National cup play, meet the Swedish-Americans at Mills stadium.

New Orleans, La., Jan. 17.—[Special.]—J. J. Robinson's 3 year old filly, Eva B., won the Derby trial handicap here today and Jockey E. Arcaro completed a double. Black Squaw was second and Onrush third. Eva B. is one of five fillies eligible for the Jefferson Derby Saturday. She was coupled with Truett Jr. as the Robinson entry.

Breaking slowly, Eva B. gradually made up ground and overhauled Black Squaw in the stretch, winning by two lengths, running six furlongs in 1:13 1-5. A nose separated Black Squaw and Onrush. The winner paid $4.60. Black Squaw was at $14.40 for place.

Race Street Wins.

Mrs. H. Veach's Race Street, by San Diego-Rain Crow, set a new track record for two furlongs in winning the fourth race, for 2 year olds, the time being 0:22 1-5. The former mark was 0:22 3-5, made in January, 1932. W. Lilley had the mount on Race street, which paid $6.

Jacquelyn Coogle, J. J. Amend's mare, beat horses above her class in the third race and paid $37.60.

HAVANA OPENS SATURDAY

HAVANA, Cuba, Jan. 17.—[Special.]—In honor of Oriental park's nineteenth racing season, the Cuban-American Jockey club, on the first and second day, Saturday and Sunday, will present the inaugural handicap, at six furlongs, for 3 year olds, and the La Playa Beach handicap, at a mile and one-sixteenth, for 4 year olds.

Saturday's opening will feature seven events, the schedule to be followed continuously through 51 days.

Denemark Horses to Run.

Among the eligibles for the inaugural handicap will be Adolph Krassa, from the stable of Mrs. Emil Denemark of Chicago. Mrs. Denemark will also be represented in the La Playa handicap by Pigeon Hole.

Other Denemark racers here, in addition to Adolph Krassa and Pigeon Hole, include Josephine D., Rough Rider, Truxton, Vesta Clark, L. E. Komorouss, Lieut. Weber, Bill Walsh, and the yearlings, Our Color and Bob Perboner.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

SOUTHAMPTON, England, Jan. 17.—Sir Malcolm Campbell's Bluebird II., which he drove to a world's auto speed record of 253.96 miles an hour on the sands of Daytona Beach, Fla., was loaded aboard the liner Berengaria today. The ship will sail tomorrow for New York.

The giant machine, with 1,200 more horse power than when Sir Malcolm attained his record speed, will be taken by train from New York to Daytona Beach, where next month Sir Malcolm will attempt to better his mark. The car now has about 2,500 horsepower.

St. Adrian Athletic Club Will Hold Annual Banquet

The St. Adrian Athletic club, winner of the Catholic Youth Organization baseball championship last year, will hold its annual banquet at the St. Rita High school gymnasium, 63d street and Claremont avenue, Saturday. Guy Bush and Gabby Hartnett of the Chicago Cubs, Phil Collins of the Philadelphia Phillies, and Freddie Lindstrom of the Pittsburgh Pirates will attend.

Detroit Beats Rangers, 2-0, for 1st Place

Americans Better, Hawks Worse.

Every effort is being made, though, to teach the Chicago boys more about hockey and warn them of the wily devices the enemy teams have been using to deceive them. In this connection Emil Iverson, bounced last Friday as boss of the team, has been restored as a professor on the McLaughlin faculty and will assist Managing Director Tom Gorman in the arduous work of arousing and instructing the Hawks before they fall clear out of the American division of the league.

The Hawks will have to rise above the Rangers, the Detroit Red Wings, or the Boston Bruins in order to be in the Stanley playoffs. There still is ample time to achieve this, though recent indications have been that all three of the teams are playing much more skillful and intelligent hockey than the Hawks. The Chicagoans haven't been loafing, but just merry go round riding.

Have 24 Games Left.

Tomorrow night's contest will be the second in the second half of the Hawks' home schedule, but the first game in the second half of their league schedule, which is to say they have 24 games remaining in the league calendar and eleven on their own ice. On their record and on hockey showings generally, their salvation rests on what they do in those eleven engagements in friendly surroundings.

It is said that another shuffling of the Hawk line is in prospect for the American game, with Thompson-Cook-Couture, Gottselig-Romnes-March and McFadyen-Mackenzie-Jenkins forming the several casts.

Three defense men will rotate the chore, Abel, Graham and Coulter. In recent games Abel has had to carry most of the load, but it is believed Capt. Graham soon will snap into it and high hope is entertained for Coulter's improvement.

KENTUCKY LIFE INSURANCE PUT IN RECEIVERSHIP

State Officers Act in Two Suits.

Frankfort, Ky., Jan. 17.—(AP)—The receivership petition filed today against the Kentucky Home Life Insurance company was dismissed without prejudice tonight and a new petition seeking a receivership filed in Franklin Circuit court.

The original petition was dismissed at the request of Attorney General Bailey P. Wootton, who said he did not ascribe to some of its allegations and questioned the right of any other state official to file such action without his approval.

Circuit Judge H. Church Ford granted his request for a dismissal of the suit, which was filed by Gemmill B. Senff, state insurance commissioner. Attorney General Wootton then filed the new petition, which contained revised allegations.

Renames Receivers.

After the new petition was filed Judge Ford appointed the same co-receivers named after the filing of the first suit. They are Lieut. Gov. A. B. Chandler and the Fidelity and Columbia Trust company of Louisville. Judge Ford set Friday, Jan. 27, as the date for hearing the case on its merits.

The petition filed tonight was in more general terms than its predecessor and made no reference to accusations against Julius H. Barnes and Frank S. Cohen made in the first petition.

Tonight's petition said the Kentucky Home Life had exceeded its powers and failed to comply with the provisions of law regulating such companies, "and this condition is such as to render its further proceedings hazardous to the public and to its policyholders."

It said the terms of an agreement entered into by the Kentucky Home Life, which took over the business of the Inter-Southern Life Insurance company, and the Inter-Southern receivers "in letter and spirit have been violated."

Seek to Control Stock.

The petition, though not filed until after the stockholders' meeting of the Missouri State Life Insurance company at St. Louis today, asks that the receiver be empowered to attend the Missouri State meeting and vote the block of 148,050 shares of Missouri State stock owned by the Kentucky Home.

This is asked, the petitions said, because the defendant company "threatens to vote that block in violation of the spirit of the agreement," and if the company were permitted to vote it "it would be to the detriment of the defendant company and for the benefit of certain promoters in charge of the Missouri State Life Insurance company and thereby deplete the resources of the defendant company by depreciating the value of the stock owned by it in the Missouri State Life Insurance company."

Charge of First Petition.

In the first petition the insurance commissioner stated he was of the opinion that "the condition of the Kentucky Home Life Insurance company is such as to render its further proceedings hazardous to the public and its policyholders." He informed the court he had revoked all licenses issued to the company or its agents.

Charges that a re-insurance agreement between the receivers of the Inter-Southern Insurance company and the Kentucky Home Life, which took over its assets, was being violated were made by the commissioner.

The suit was brought after efforts were made by State Auditor J. Dan Talbott to compel compliance with an agreement which he said provided for placing the 148,050 shares of Missouri State Life Insurance company and stock owned by the Inter-Southern into a voting trust approved by the auditor.

Assail Barnes and Cohen.

The petition stated that Barnes and Cohen now have control of the board of the Kentucky Home Life and charged "Barnes, Cohen, and associates have shown by their actions as directors of the Kentucky Home Life Insurance company, that they do not have a proper regard or respect of the duties or obligations imposed upon the Kentucky Home Life Insurance company in administering the trust of the business and assets of the Inter-Southern Life Insurance company."

The commissioner asked that the receiver be authorized to institute actions to cause to be paid into the treasury of the Missouri State Life Insurance company the $800,000, plus accrued interest, paid out by the company to the three St. Louis banks in taking up the notes of the Insurance Equities corporation.

In appointing the temporary co-receivers, Judge Ford granted temporary restraining orders preventing the company from continuing business and ordering its assets be conserved.

BARE MISSOURI LIFE LOAN

St. Louis, Mo., Jan. 17.—[Special.]—William T. Nardin, president of Missouri State Life Insurance company, in his report to the annual meeting of stockholders today, disclosed that the company had borrowed $6,000,000 from the Reconstruction Finance corporation to meet demands of its policy holders for loans or cash surrender values.

These loans were received from the government between April and August of last year, the last one being $850,000 on Aug. 15. That was the only one heretofore made public, the earlier borrowings having taken place before the law requiring publicity for Reconstruction Finance corporation loans became effective.

MELVIN A. TRAYLOR.

M. A. Traylor Named Head of Clearing House

BY HOWARD WOOD.

Melvin A. Traylor, president of the First National bank, yesterday was elected chairman of the clearing house committee of the Chicago Clearing House association at the annual meeting of that body.

Mr. Traylor succeeds George M. Reynolds, who withdrew from the clearing house committee upon his resignation from the position of chairman of the board of the Continental Illinois National Bank and Trust company. Mr. Reynolds had been a member of the committee for 25 years and had headed it since 1922.

The following were elected members of the committee: James R. Leavell president, Continental Illinois Bank and Trust company; Soloman A. Smith, president, Northern Trust company; Philip R. Clarke, president, City National Bank and Trust company, and Howard W. Fenton, president, Harris Trust and Savings bank.

Elliott Made President.

Frank R. Elliott, vice president of the Harris Trust, was elected president of the association, and Fred A. Cuscaden, vice president of the Northern Trust, was elected vice president.

Howard W. Sims, who has been chief examiner and manager of the Chicago Clearing House association for four years, was reëlected to that position. Prior to assuming his present duties Mr. Sims served as chief national bank examiner for the Seventh federal reserve district, having come to Chicago from Minneapolis, where he had been chief national bank examiner for the Ninth reserve district.

Mr. Traylor has been president of the First National bank since 1925. He is a director of U. S. Gypsum, Standard Oil Company of Indiana, Pan-American Petroleum and Transport, and General Electric. Last year Mr. Traylor was a candidate for the Democratic nomination for president of the United States and since the election he has been frequently mentioned as a possible appointee as secretary of the treasury in the Roosevelt cabinet.

Born in Kentucky.

Born in Kentucky in 1878, he was educated in the public schools and later studied law nights. He was admitted to the Texas bar in 1901 and after serving as city clerk of Hillsboro, Tex., and assistant county attorney of Hill county he began his banking career as cashier of a bank in Malone, Tex., in 1905.

After some years in East St. Louis Mr. Traylor came to Chicago in 1914 as vice president of the Live Stock Exchange National bank and president of the Chicago Cattle Loan company. He became president of the First Trust and Savings bank (now the First Union Trust and Savings bank) and also a vice president of the First National bank in 1919.

Treasury Offers $80,000,000 in 91-Day Bills on Monday

Washington, D. C., Jan. 17.—(AP)—Secretary Mills today invited tenders for $80,000,000 in 91 day treasury bills which will be sold to the highest bidder next Monday afternoon. The bills will be dated Jan. 25 and mature on April 26.

CHARGE FARM BOARD FIXES GRIP ON SCHOOLS

BY PHILIP HAMPSON.

Charges that the federal government is building up a huge propaganda force on behalf of federal bureaus—particularly the farm board—through the granting of financial aid to land grant colleges and the agricultural extension service—were brought out in a meeting of the joint legislative committee of the National League of Commission Merchants of the United States, the Western Fruit Jobbers' Association of America, and the American Fruit and Vegetable Shippers' association.

The membership of these three organizations is drawn from every state in the country. Between 1,000 and 1,500 are attending the Chicago meeting of the three organizations, which is being held jointly in the interest of economy.

Resolutions Condemn Propaganda.

Resolutions condemning the federal government with respect to propaganda activities were adopted by the joint committee and are to be presented to the full membership. At the same time the legislative committee has expressed its disapproval of the farm allotment plan just passed by the house of representatives.

The action of the fruit and vegetable groups agrees with the statement of Peter Carey, president of the Chicago Board of Trade, in which he sharply criticized state county agents as being farm board propagandists. The charge was made by one official of the fruit and vegetable men that the government is using 6,000 county agents to spread propaganda on behalf of the farm board.

In its resolution the legislative committee states:

"Land grant colleges and the agricultural extension service are of such definite and widespread benefit that, with general approval among citizens, the federal government extends to these educational activities financial aid amounting to millions of dollars annually, paid out of revenues raised by taxation.

Colleges State Activities.

"These colleges and extension service are primarily state activities in the control of which neither directly nor indirectly can the federal government assert a voice without restricting the authority of the state over its educational institutions and agencies, thereby extending the propaganda powers of the federal government."

The committee then asks that each constituent organization join in declaring "their determined opposition to the use by any federal agency or official of the land grant colleges, the extension service, or any other educational agency to which federal aid is extended, for spreading propaganda against citizens engaged in legitimate business, or for the advance of either side of any political or business philosophy."

It is urged that federal aid should be authorized by state educational institutions only on such terms as will allow the federal government no voice in the framing of their policies and activities.

Criticize Federal Loans.

Some criticism was voiced of government procedure in collecting loans to farmers made through the secretary of agriculture under a section of the Reconstruction Finance corporation act. Marketing interests asserted that they are being put under a handicap in having to assume liability in transactions with growers who have borrowed from the government in the same manner that liability is imposed in connection with other mortgaged property. This places on the wholesaler the responsibility of protecting government loans, when outstanding, before paying growers or shippers.

"This lending of government money, even when considered on humanitarian grounds, is by no means an unmixed blessing," a report given the legislative committee states. "How farmers and growers can be helped in any substantial way by increasing their debt has never been convincingly shown."

POTATO GROWERS HOPEFUL

Although potatoes are not included in the domestic allotment plan, potato producers look for indirect benefits. Members of the potato division of the American Fruit and Vegetable Shippers' association in session at the Palmer house expressed the opinion that legislative manipulation of the prices of competitive foods might induce people to eat more potatoes.

"If the allotment plan will increase purchasing power and assist in starting the wheels of industry," said H. B. Tabb, Chicago, executive secretary of the National Potato institute, "it will be to our advantage. If it fails, as other farm relief schemes have, I do not see how the potato raisers will be particularly injured."

GASOLINE PRICE IN CENTRAL AREA REDUCED 1 CENT

Price reductions of one cent a gallon for gasoline at tank wagons and service stations in all parts of the north central states where prices are "not already subnormal" were announced last night by the Standard Oil Company of Indiana and Shell company. It is expected the other major companies will follow suit. The reductions are effective today.

The Chicago area is not affected by the latest cut in the price of gasoline, prices here having been reduced a cent a gallon some time ago. The reductions will apply in Michigan, Indiana, Illinois, Wisconsin, Minnesota, Iowa, Missouri, Kansas, South Dakota, and North Dakota. It was stated the reductions were made to meet competitive situations.

BANKRUPT COMPANY GIVEN BACK TO OWNERS WITH ALL DEBTS PAID

Greensboro, N. C., Jan. 17.—(AP)—Four years ago the Roaring River Furniture company was placed in bankruptcy owing more than $200,000 and creditors thought they would be fortunate to get 10 cents on the dollar.

Today creditors have been paid in full, stockholders are receiving back property worth $85,000 with open accounts totaling $25,000, and they have put up only $16,000 to square the deal.

Federal Judge Hayes said this was the first instance in his court of a bankrupt firm paying in full. The business come-back was accomplished while the plant continued operations, paying out $1,000,000 for labor and material.

The factory continues operation as a plant that made a profit, in effect, of around $200,000 in four years.

GENERAL TIRES' OPERATING NET FOUR TIMES 1931

Akron, O., Jan. 17.—(AP)—An operating profit of $1,075,546.89 after depreciation and interest was reported to stockholders of the General Tire and Rubber company today by President William O'Neil.

This figure, he said, was more than four times the comparable 1931 operating profit of $262,503.77.

The net profit for 1932, however, was cut to $202,353.79 by reduction of the company's inventory and commitments in raw materials to market prices at the end of the year. This was a little more than enough to cover the annual 6 per cent dividend requirement on outstanding preferred stock, which was reduced during 1932 from $3,228,200 to $3,161,500, O'Neil said.

All officers and directors were re-elected.

Katz Dropped from Board of Theater Firm

BY THOMAS FURLONG.

Sam Katz, president of Balaban and Katz corporation since its founding, is severing all connection with the management of the theater company, it was indicated yesterday when he was not reëlected to the board of directors.

Other directors were reëlected and Charles A. McCulloch and Walter Immerman were added to the board. It is expected that a successor to Mr. Katz as president of the company will be named when the directors meet Jan. 23 to elect officers for the coming year.

Follows Recent Resignation.

Katz's resignation from the company which he helped found follows closely his retirement as vice president of the Paramount Publix corporation, which now controls Balaban and Katz. His retirement was an outgrowth of the disagreement with other officials over management policies. Katz vigorously opposed the plan of decentralization management which Paramount recently inaugurated.

The retirement of Katz severs a business connection which was begun in 1917 between Katz and Barney and A. J. Balaban. The trio purchased the Central Park theater, Roosevelt road and Central Park avenue, which formed the first link in a chain which came to include 35 motion picture houses.

Taken Over by Paramount.

When Balaban and Katz stockholders exchanged their holdings for Paramount shares in 1926 Katz became vice president and general manager in charge of theater operations of the latter concern.

Barney Balaban, secretary and treasurer, told stockholders at the meeting that the company operated at a loss in 1932. Capital assets have been written down approximately $1,260,000, he said. The company's formal report will not be ready until April.

Reports in financial quarters indicate that dividend on the company's preferred stock may be omitted when directors meet Jan. 23. The capital write down and the operating deficit point to this action.

LAWYERS' QUIZ OF RECEIVERS' "RACKET" LAGS

Inquiry Began Nine Months Ago.

BY AL CHASE.

Nine months ago the Chicago Bar association, in an editorial in its monthly Record, made the following statement: "The license to practice law has never been a privilege to pillage. Many banks have failed; except in rare instances, the depositors have seldom received to date more than twenty-five cents on the dollar; yet, attorneys for the bank receiver have been paid by order of court fees, not in full but on account, ranging from $10,000 to $40,000 for part time work covering from three to twelve months.

CHAS. P. MEGAN.

"Many real estate owners have seen their properties pass from their control through receivership and foreclosure sales; yet the interested lawyers have received fees by order of court which so burden the property as virtually to nullify the intended right of redemption.

"There is a foreclosure ring composed of lawyers; there is a bankruptcy ring composed of lawyers. In receiverships, the estate is first carved up by the lawyers and the receiver.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Jan. 17.—The bond market reversed its field on a broad front today and prices receded substantially from last week's peak level. Prominent in the decline were United States government securities and high grade utility issues, the latter long the backbone of the market.

The outlook for a long term treasury bond issue was one depressing influence. Others were bank failures in St. Louis, last night's warning from Ogden L. Mills, secretary of the treasury, concerning the unbalanced federal budget, uncertainty concerning the reserve system's money policy and a new public utility bond offering made today.

Treasury Bond Losses.

Losses in treasury bonds extended to a half point in some issues. Domestic public utility bonds, which have long been the backbone of the market, yielded from fractions to more than a point.

The foreign government list was soft, with further declines in Germans unsettling the market.

Rather wide declines in treasury bonds were not disturbing to those in Wall street who expect a long term issue, due in ten to twenty years, to be announced later this week. It is pointed out that present selling is not in large volume and that the decline, rather than defeating the expected issue, will merely result in a more attractive rate.

Germans Open Lower.

German bonds opened sharply lower today, but managed to retrieve part of the losses. The selling, which dealers here trace almost entirely to New York holders, has been inspired by reports that the Reichsbank soon will be required to pay further installments on the $100,000,000 credit granted in 1931. The increasing difficulty many German municipalities are having in meeting service is also a factor.

New Issue.

A refunding operation for the Union Electric Light and Power company, Missouri, replacing 5 per cent bonds with 4½s, will be carried out today with the offering of a new issue of $11,250,000 of the company's general mortgage gold bonds, 4½ per cent, series due 1957.

Cuban-American Sugar.

Will you kindly give me such information you can regarding Cuban-American Sugar?—K. M. O.

During the world war scarcity of sugar fostered extensive investments in producing facilities. After the war many nations realized the importance of raising sugar to provide future protection against emergencies. Tariffs were raised and bounties to domestic producers were granted. This resulted in a large oversupply of world stocks. Price of sugar dropped and production increased. The leading sugar producers of the world entered into a voluntary agreement to limit production. As a result the 1932-'33 season will yield a crop of about 24,000,000 tons, against estimated consumption of 26,750,000 tons, the most favorable showing since the 1926-'27 year.

Cuban-American produced its full quota in the Sept. 30, 1932, year, 1,378,820 bags of 325 pounds each. Total income was $12,195,000 and net loss was $2,054,000. For the preceding year the company produced 1,398,273 bags (320 pounds each). Total income was $16,562,000 and net loss was $2,766,000. Net loss for the year ended Sept. 30, 1930, was $2,064,000, against net income of $1,204,000, or 65 cents per common share, for the preceding year. On Sept. 30, 1932, current assets were $7,171,000, and current liabilities were $1,167,000. Cash was $293,000. There were no bank loans. Accounts receivable were $500,000, against $2,506,000 the year before. Working capital was $3,005,000, against $9,986,000 on Sept. 30, 1931.

On March 15, 1931, $6,000,000 first 7 per cent bonds matured. They were not deemed by payment of $550 cash and $500 new 8s, due 1936, for each $1,000 bond. Funded debt now totals $5,491,000. There are outstanding 78,438 shares of 7 per cent cumulative $100 par preferred and 1,000,000 shares of $10 par common. Nothing has been paid on the preferred since Jan. 1, 1929.

Restrictions on production of sugar have fostered output to a minor degree in those countries not bound by the plan, although it appears that so far it has been successful in reducing total world production. A continuation of this should result in an improved price scale. International tariff barriers still remain an obstacle.

Both the preferred and the common are highly speculative.

New York Power and Light.

Will you please tell me what grade New York Power and Light corporation first 4½s, due 1967, are?—M. P. C.

They are considered reasonably sound.

STOCKS SEESAW IN SLOW TRADE; LEADERS STEADY

10 Stocks Make Up 30% of Total Sales.

BY FRED HARVEY.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Jan. 17.—Business was extremely dull on the stock exchange today. Turnover fell to around 660,000 shares, making it lightest full five hour trading session of the new year so far. Ten stocks accounted for about 30 per cent of the total.

Heaviness in the bond market and anxiety over a number of impending dividend meetings of importance were among the market's drawbacks. Some bearishness pervaded brokerage circles as a result of yesterday's sell off, but sales as a rule came in dribbling sequence with no pronounced liquidation in any department.

Pivotals as a rule seesawed across their previous closing levels and prices on the whole were generously mixed at the close. American Can, Atchison, Case, and Consolidated Gas were fractionally higher, General Electric, Westinghouse, United States Steel and Standard Oil of New Jersey slightly lower and Radio, Standard Gas and one or two others unchanged.

A. T. & T. Gains a Fraction.

Features were hard to pick out. The American Telephone and Telegraph company's report that the Bell system had lost more than 102,000 phones in December came in for some comment in view of the company's dividend meeting early next month, but caused no appreciable selling. The closing sale at 104⅝ even represented a fractional advance over yesterday.

Anxiety over the current $2 dividend of National Dairy brought rather steady selling into that issue and through it influenced most of the other food shares. Case and the other farm implements were strong, reflecting the day's upturn in wheat.

In the railroad group a favorable earnings report helped Chesapeake and Ohio which was up nearly a point at one time, but failed to stir up any appreciable enthusiasm elsewhere. However, most of the leaders including New York Central and Union Pacific along with Atchison, managed to finish on the plus side of the column.

Tobacco Shares Gain.

Tobacco shares were mildly stimulated by an apparently reliable report that the directors of Liggett & Myers at their meeting tomorrow will order the extra of $1 a share paid each year since 1928 in spite of the recent slash in cigarette prices. The street hears that the corporation's earnings report due shortly will show a balance of around $6.40 a share for the combined common and class B stock. American Tobacco and Reynolds issues closed slightly higher along with Liggett & Myers.

United Aircraft continued to show evidence of good sponsorship rising nearly a point.

A good looking spot in the amusement sector was Loews, Inc., which has been wabbly the last week. The issue rose more than a point on fairly good buying today. Fox moved ahead fractionally.

Bankruptcy Petition for Bond & Mortgage Co.

An involuntary bankruptcy bill was filed yesterday in federal court against the Bond and Mortgage company, 11 South La Salle street. The bill alleged that assets of the firm are less than $50,000, and liabilities are in excess of $200,000. Chester Willoughby was named receiver for the company last week by Federal Judge Wilkerson.

HIDE FUTURES.

An easy undertone prevailed on the New York Hide exchange with the close 5@20 points lower. Total sales were 720,000 lbs. Closing bids—old contracts—March, 4.80c; new contracts—March, 5.20c; June, 5.65c; September, 6.10c; December, 6.55c.

PRICES OF HOGS FIRM DESPITE SLOWER ACTION

Cattle Also Improve on Lighter Supplies.

Although Monday's brisk action in hogs was not in evidence yesterday, the trade made another good showing. Light weights retained the preceding day's full gains, while medium and weighty stock ruled strong to 10c higher. Fancy 170@210 lb averages topped at $3.40, which is 40c above the low point of the winter. The general average for the day moved up 5c more to $3.15.

Eastern packer representatives carried fewer buying orders, accounting for the lack of zest during the first rounds of the trade, but local interests soon discovered that the available supply was just a trifle below their requirements. With salesmen almost unanimously on the bullish side of the trade lately, buyers' early efforts to shave costs met plenty of opposition. Later rounds saw a good clearance for the bulk, on a steady to 10c higher basis.

Cattle Firm Up.

Cattle also firmed up on light supplies yesterday, in some instances selling to slightly better advantage considering quality of offerings. Not only were numbers smaller than a week ago, but light weight animals constituted the bulk of offerings, making the tonnage of beef even smaller than receipts figures indicated. The narrowing of the spread between light steers and prime weighty beeves attracted notice yesterday.

Cattle averaging 1,400 lbs sold up to $6.25, while the extreme top for 1,081 lb yearlings halted at $6.85, making a price spread of 60c between the two classes. On the preceding Tuesday these two weights topped $1.25 apart, while two weeks ago 1,400 lb steers were selling $1.50 under the top yearlings and were a drug on the market at $5.50 and under. However only the "upper crust" of the weighty cattle have come up much in price.

There still are many long fed 1,300 @1,500 lb steers going at $4.50@5.50 and some plain but fat heavy cattle as low as $4. Butcher stock exhibited some weakness yesterday.

Lambs Barely Steady.

Lambs sold on a slow barely steady market yesterday, the bulk of the crop clearing on local account during the afternoon session around the $6.00 line. A few medium grades sold at $5.75 and city butchers and shippers picked out occasional loads of prime fed westerns up to $6.25, the top price. Lamb prices have again been submerged below 1932 levels. On the corresponding day last year top lambs sold at $6.65.

SHORTS BUYING LARD; PACKERS ARE SELLERS

Shorts furnished the greater part of the buying power in the lar dtrade. Hedging sales by packers satisfying the wants of the buyers. Price movements were narrow and the close was 2½c net lower. Cash trade was moderate both in lard and meats, with regular cash lard, $4.00; loose, $3.40, and leaf, $3.37½. There was no interest taken in bellies either for cash or futures, the close of cash lots being $3.87½. Liverpool lard was 1s lower and May 3d higher.

Exports of lard were 241,553 lbs and of bacon 25,000 lbs. Stocks of lard in Chicago as indicated by the midmonth report of the Board of Trade aggregate of 7,009,621 lbs, a decrease of 837,445 lbs since Jan. 1, compared with a decrease of 8,913,882 lbs last year. Stocks of dry salted clear bellies increased slightly and shows a decrease of around 900,000 lbs from last year. Prices follow:

TUNE IN WHEAT PIT BECOMES MORE BULLISH

WHEAT PRICES IN GOLD

BY CHARLES MICHAELS.

Rumors that Russia was negotiating for large quantities of Canadian cash wheat served to create a little bullish enthusiasm in the market yesterday, but the buying in the main was regarded largely as in the way of short covering. According to the reports from the seaboard Russia was inquiring for 20,000,000 bu of wheat.

Owing to the Japanese-Chinese difficulties in Manchuria the normal movement of wheat from that area in the Russian sphere of influence in the more northern sections of the far east has been greatly interfered with. The trade assumed the inquiry was for grain for shipment to Vladivostok. Last season there were large quantities of Australian wheat taken for that port.

Winnipeg Not Affected.

Confirmation of the rumor Russia wanted to buy Canadian wheat was not obtainable. The Winnipeg market was little affected, closing ½@⅝c higher, or the same as Chicago. May in the latter finished at 47⅝@47¾c, with July 47⅝c and September 48¾c.

Pit gossip indicated a local professional absorbed the surplus offerings of wheat early in the day, and toward the last there was little for sale when shorts started to cover. Speculative interest continues light owing to uncertainties connected with proposed legislation at Washington, and the futures market is easily influenced at times.

Europe a Buyer.

Europe was a good buyer of Canadian cash wheat yesterday, taking around 800,000 bu in all positions. Scattered reports of rains in parts of Wheat traders paid considerable attention to an official report making farm reserves in Kansas on Jan. 1 only 81,965,000 bu, compared with 83,954,000 bu a year ago. Nat. C. Murray had placed them at 32,035,000 bu this year, and made the total for the country 217,000,000 bu, or 19,000,000 bu under the holding in 1932. According to the latter's figures there is only 130,000,000 bu in farmers' hands outside of the four northwestern spring wheat states, or 77,000,000 bu under the total of the previous year.

Scandinavia Buys Corn.

Sales of 50,000 to 80,000 bu American corn were reported at the gulf to go to Scandinavia, which had some effect on the market yesterday. There was less pressure, and toward the last buying induced by the strength in wheat carried futures up ⅛@¼c, with the finish on a reaction from the best figures. Net gains were ⅛@¼c, with May, 26⅛c; July, 27¾c, and September, 29c.

Oats were helped by strength in other grains and closed ⅛c higher. May was 17⅛c and July 17⅜c at the last. Rye was ½@⅝c higher with wheat, May closing at 35½c and July 35¼c, while barley lost ⅛c with May at 27c.

DRY GOODS.

NEW YORK, Jan. 17.—(AP)—Broader interest was shown today in finished cotton for spring and orders are increasing on fine lines of plain and fancy cottons. Buyers are plentiful in the carpet and furnishings markets and operations are more active. Burlaps are firmer on reports of continued curtailment in Calcutta mills. Wool goods markets are only moderately active. Silk crepes and prints are selling steadily. Rayon crepes are in steady demand.

U. S. MORTGAGES ON BABY CHICKS STARTS POULTRY MEN'S ROW

Representatives of the poultry packing industry and leaders in the baby chick business of the nation clashed verbally yesterday in a session of the sixth annual fact finding conference of the Institute of American Poultry Industries at the Medinah Athletic club when arguments were produced for and against government loans to poultrymen.

Harrison F. Jones, executive secretary of the National Poultry, Butter, and Egg association, ridiculed the idea of mortgages on baby chicks born with fluffy yellow coverings and growing up to be hens and roosters of various colored feathering, sizes, and shapes. Identification of such mortgaged property, he indicated, would be impossible.

On the other hand, Reese V. Hicks, Kansas City, Mo., executive secretary of the International Baby Chick association, argued that farmers deserve aid from the Reconstruction Finance corporation as much as do railroads and banks, which have obtained millions in loans.

The poultry industry, according to Mr. Hicks, is now the most profitable of agricultural activities. Some counties in Illinois, he said, have no banks where loans can be obtained, and it may cost a farmer a pound of pork or a peck of corn to mail a letter. The help of government loans is a farmer's right, Mr. Hicks argued, if loans are to be made by the government.

SHORT COVERING IN BUTTER

Butter futures rallied to close higher on the Chicago Mercantile exchange yesterday, reacted sharply after an early break. Yesterday's sales were 856,000c. Eggs closed unchanged to 1c lower, with the fresh first deliveries weak. Continued liquidation was on in butter early and the market declined. At midsession, new buying and short covering started and the market quickly reacted. The support continued firm to the close, aided by a better storage report, the four markets showing a net outward movement nearly up to last year. The spot egg market dropped 2@3c per doz, and as usual brought out selling in the January delivery. February dropped ¼c but held firmly at the lower level. Sales: Butter, 130 cars; eggs, 24 cars. Deliveries: Butter, 4 cars. Prices follow:

LAWYERS' QUIZ OF RECEIVERS' 'RACKET' DRAGS

Investigation Was Begun Nine Months Ago.

Favor Precinct Captains.

"Chancellors favor precinct captains as receivers because of their peculiar qualifications; lawyers have made equity prohibitive when a nation is in travail.

"There must be one fearless investigation. The alleged outrageous fees, the alleged political receiverships and the alleged foreclosure rings must be brought from the sunless caverns to the light of day. If some faithless members of the profession must be pilloried, the stocks shall be prepared."

Simultaneously with this editorial came the announcement by Charles P. Megan, president of the Bar association, that a committee to investigate receiverships and mortgage foreclosures, formed in the spring of 1931, but which apparently hadn't accomplished much, had been reorganized, with Carl R. Latham as chairman.

Only One Report Finished.

That was nine months ago. Yesterday Mr. Megan stated that the report of one sub-committee, which has been investigating attorneys' fees, had been completed and has been in the hands of the board of managers for some time.

The question of receiverships, perhaps one of the most important in the entire investigation, still is in the hands of sub-committees, and Mr. Megan refused to predict when it would be made public.

The other seven or eight sub-committees still are struggling with their investigations of masters in chancery, judicial conduct, federal court receiverships, tax receivership cases, the Swanson complaint, etc.

Originally it had been intended to publish a comprehensive report when all the sub-committees had completed their inquiries. With the constantly growing demand from investors suffering from the delay in remedying conditions it practically has been decided to make public each report as soon as it has been approved by the board of managers.

Managers Act Leisurely.

Here again leisureliness marks the attitude of the attorneys who have final word. The board of managers can't seem to agree on what reasonable fees are. One rumor had it that at a recent meeting half were for the report, which is understood to advocate rather drastic reductions in lawyers' charges, and the balance objected to cutting fees.

If the same lack of speed prevails when the report on receivers reaches the board of managers, it unquestionably will be several weeks before even a step toward remedying an admittedly serious situation can be taken.

President Megan hinted that there'd be some fireworks when certain crooked practices of receivers were made public. He admitted that the stories of good ice boxes thrown out to be replaced by expensive ones which involved a shakedown for the receiver were being investigated; that reports of good furniture wrecked in order that friends of the receiver might supply new, are being looked into, as well as countless other charges, ranging from over charged coal to free apartments for receivers' friends.

"The scope of the committee's work includes investigation of the appointment of receivers, the number of cases in which particular individuals or trust companies are appointed receivers, the qualifications of receivers through previous experience and training, the appointment of attorneys for receivers and their qualifications, the question of fees allowed to receivers and attorneys, and the basis of computing such fees," said President Megan.

N. W. U. Inquiry More Speedy.

A few weeks after the Chicago Bar association started its investigation another inquiry was launched by the Northwestern University law school at the suggestion of and financed by the renting and management division of the Chicago Real Estate board. This is covering practically the same field as the bar association's investigation, but with considerable more speed.

Already it has made public its first report on "studies in foreclosures in Cook county" [published in THE TRIBUNE of Dec. 30], which severely criticized the high fees paid masters in chancery.

Another report, which Dean Leon Green promises will be a startling one, will tell what the investigators found when they checked up alleged exorbitant attorneys' fees and high foreclosure costs. This will be published on Feb. 1. A third, on receiverships, will be made public on March 1.

EXPECT LIGGETT AND MYERS WILL PAY USUAL EXTRA

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Jan. 17.—The Liggett & Myers Tobacco company, judging by estimates of between $6.40 and $6.50 a share net income for 1933 on the 3,136,919 combined shares of common and common B stocks, will declare the usual annual extra of $1 a share on both classes of stock, according to reports in the financial district today.

However, the meeting of directors, scheduled for tomorrow, is being awaited with considerable interest, inasmuch as this is the first unit of the industry confronted with dividend action since the recent drastic cut in factory prices of popular cigaret brands.

Regular $1 Dividend.

The company distributes regular quarterly dividends of $1 a share on the common and common B stocks and in addition has been paying annual extras of $1 on March 1 since 1925. The regular annual rate was increased from $3 to $4 in the first quarter of 1928.

The 1932 estimate of earnings—the official results will be made known after the board meeting tomorrow—affords statistical evidence that the board will favor continuation of extras. Earnings for last year are understood to have exceeded dividend requirements, including extras, by more than 25 per cent.

Effect of Price Cut.

In some quarters, however, it is felt that the reduction of 85 cents a thousand in manufacturers' prices on cigarets by the "big four" companies on Jan. 3 last and the threat overhanging the industry from further taxation of its products might influence the policy of the board in respect to further extras.

On the other hand, the company continues to enjoy an exceptionally strong financial position. Estimated results this year compare with actual earnings of $6.87 a share on the same capitalization for 1931.

COFFEE.

NEW YORK, Jan. 17.—(AP)—Coffee was quiet today and prices were steady on a little buying for trade and commission house account, probably induced by steady cost and freight prices and a firmer tendency in spots. Commonwealth Customers—PAY LESS—for LOANS

THE COMMONWEALTH LOAN PLAN makes it easy for employed persons who keep house to obtain Ready Cash.

YOU MAY OBTAIN UP TO $300. The rate on amounts above $100 is LOWER than the usual rate. No lower rate in Chicago. Take 20 months to repay. If you pay in less time you are charged only for the time you keep the money. The faster you pay the less it costs.
